Seventy-five years ago thirty students entered the newly founded University of Washington, located where the Metropolitan Theatre now stands. After years of political and financial vicissitudes, the University was moved to its present site.

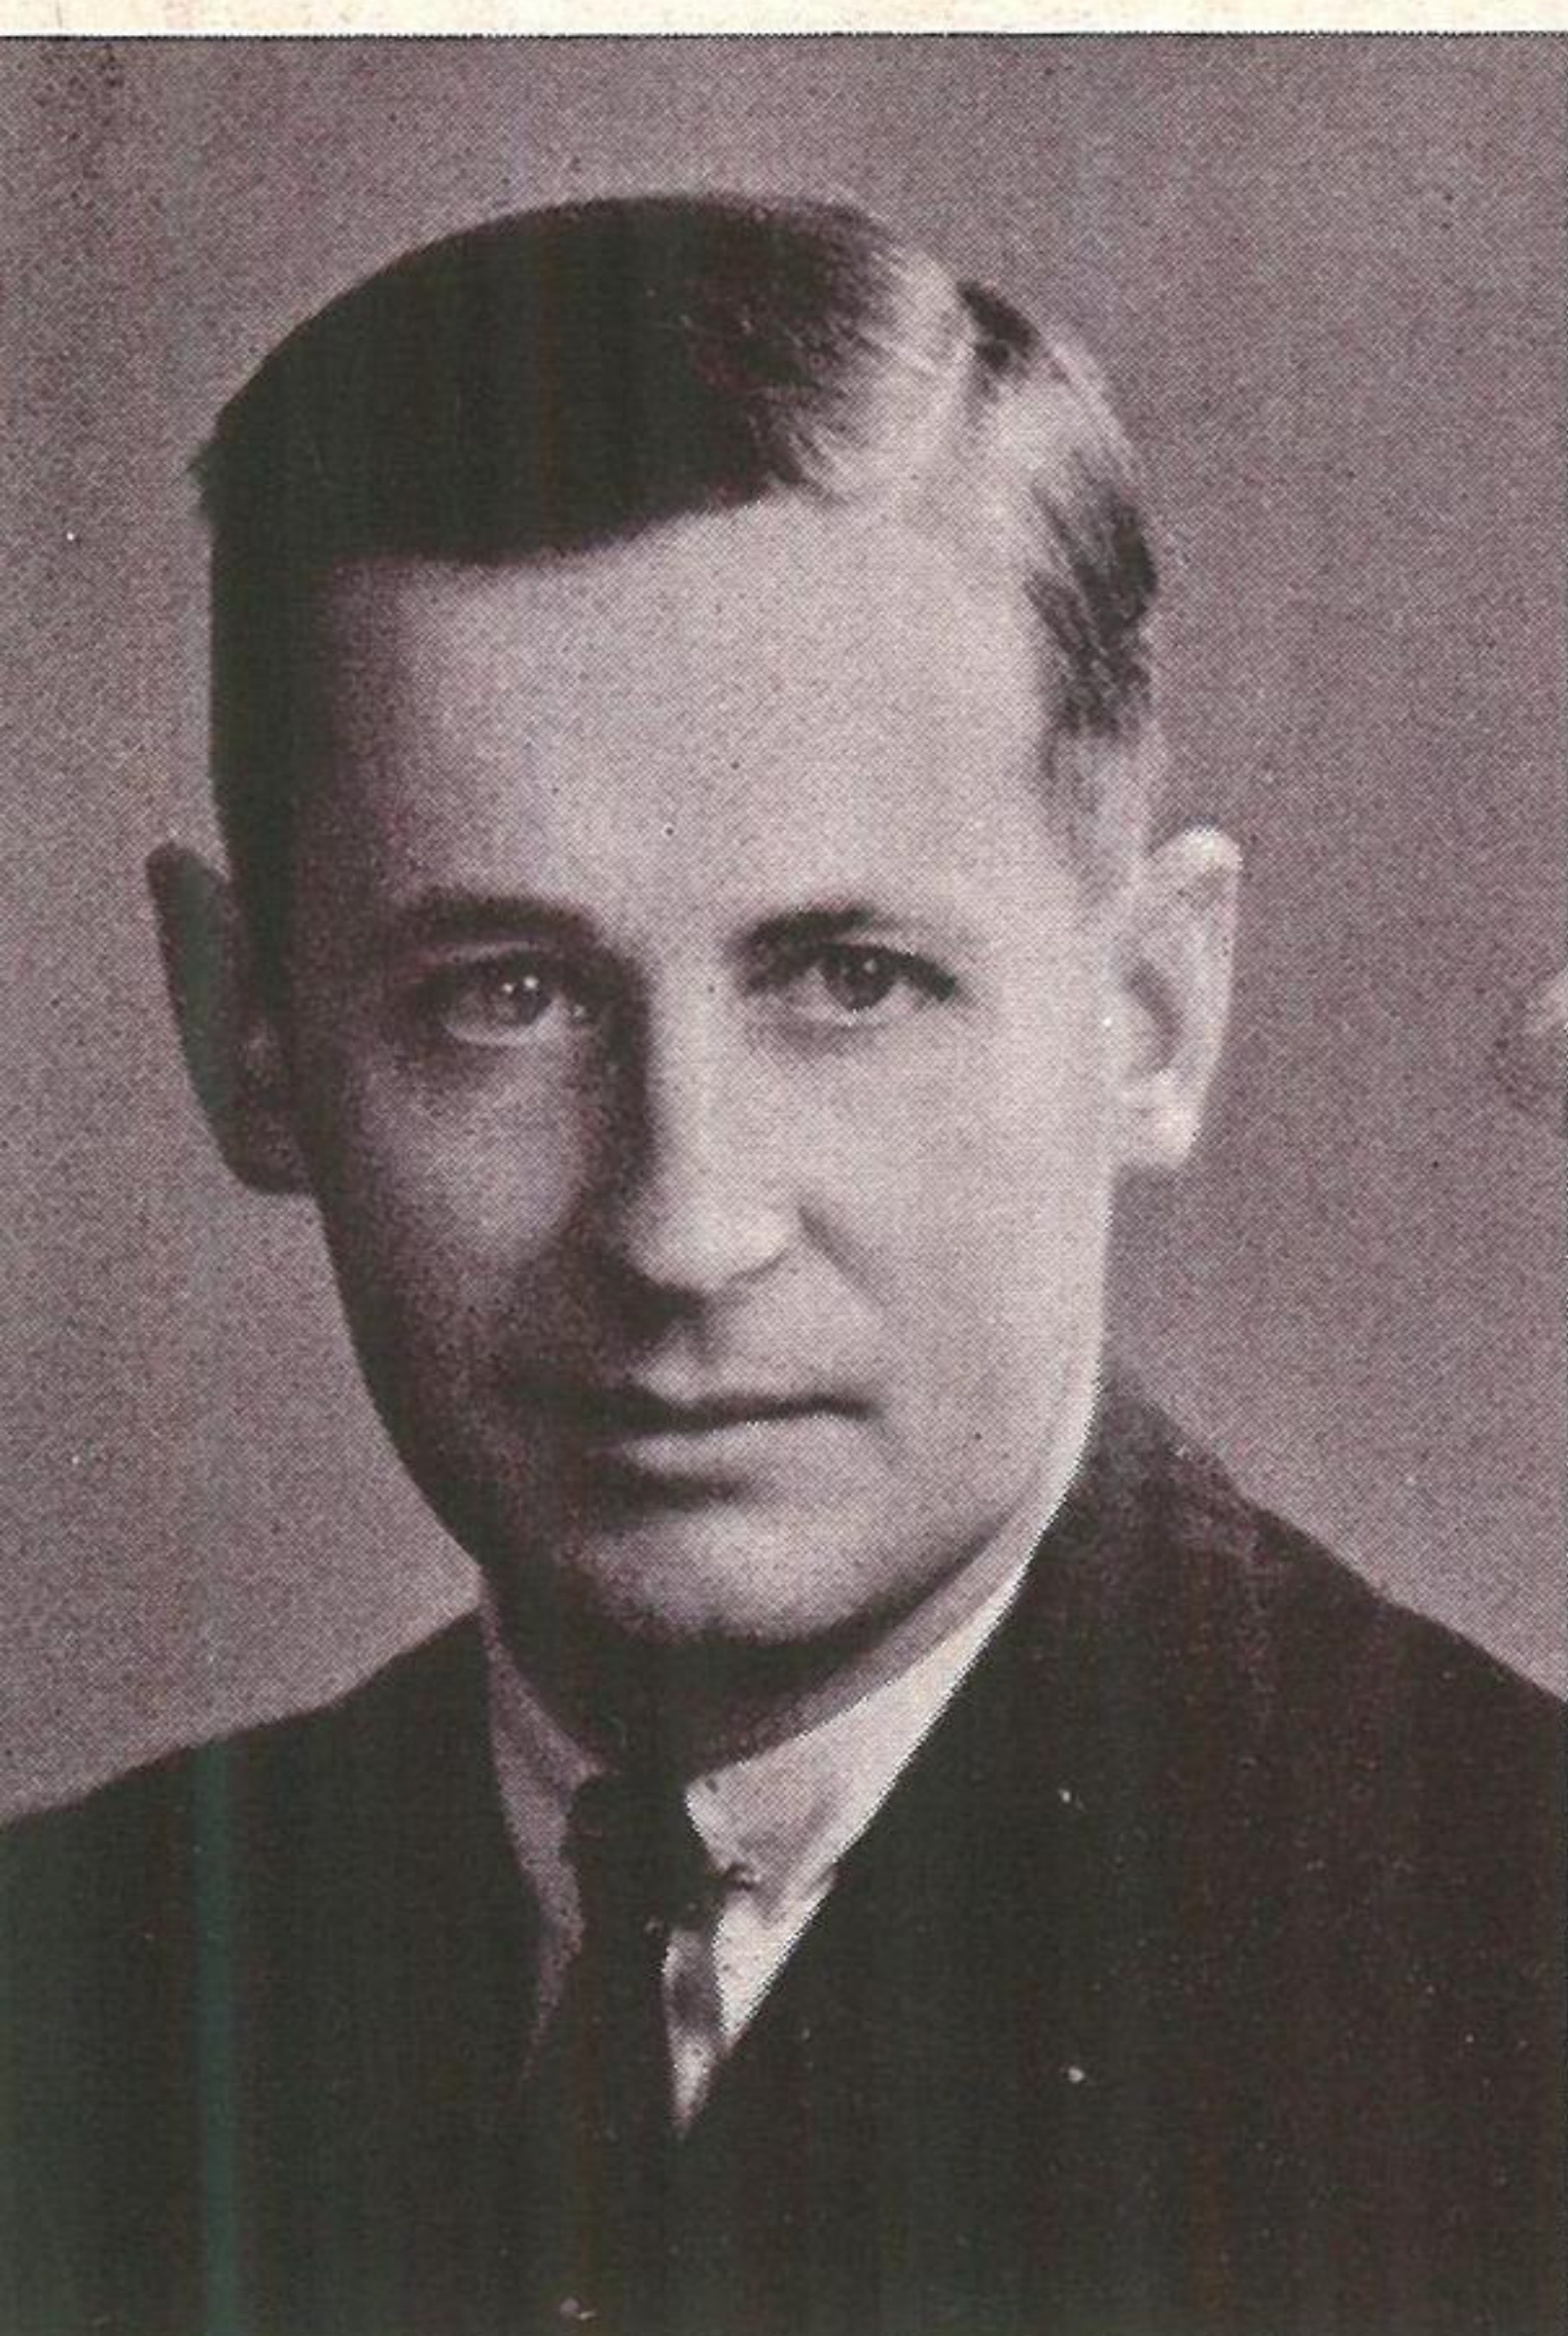

Today our registration nears 10,000, our campus is considered one of the most beautiful in the United States, and many outstanding men serve on our faculty.

This book is not large enough to present the complete history of the University, but the 1936 Tyee hopes to give a concise and interesting record of the events and people of one year, the seventy-fifth since the founding of Washington.

TYEE for 1936—the seventy-fifth year since the university was founded—is dedicated to the “younger generation” of professors who are rising in their fields today and who will be the leaders in the University of Washington’s future years.

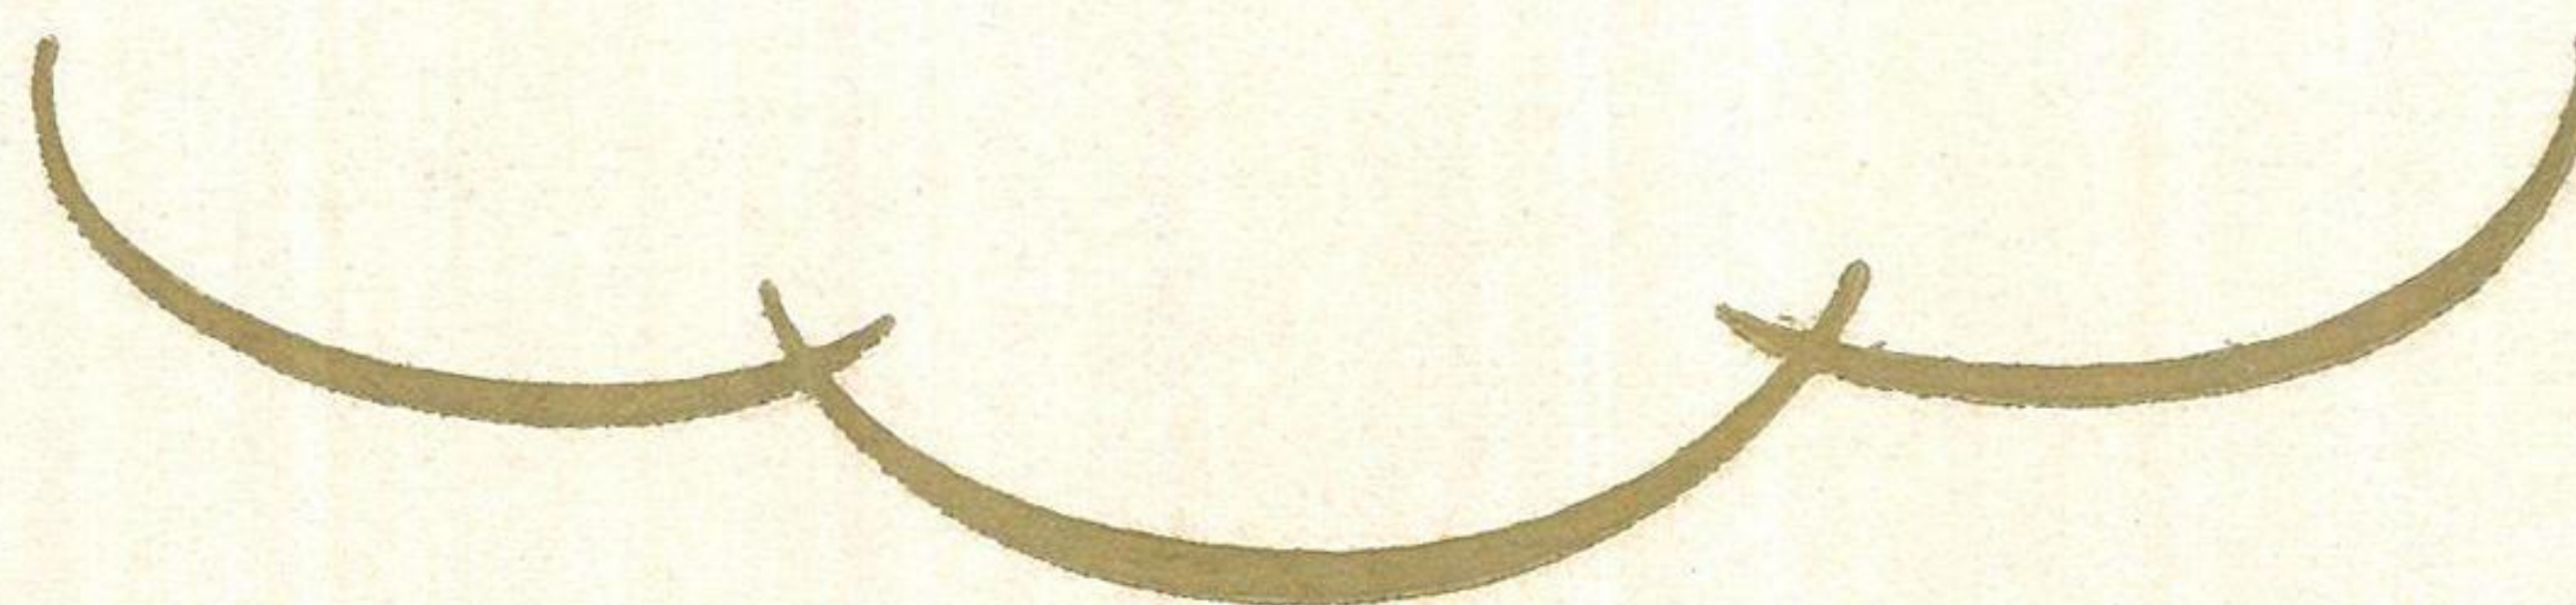

In particular, the 1936 TYEE is dedicated to four familiar men who, while still young, occupy a favored place among Washington faculty men.

To EDWARD WAGENKNECHT, assistant professor of literature, who has become the Northwest’s leading literary critic through his lectures, his magazine and feature articles, and his frequent radio book reviews. This year distinction came to him with publication of a book on Mark Twain, acclaimed as the best contribution to the subject in fifteen years.

To WILLIAM R. WILSON, professor of psychology, who constantly advises new Washington students how to fit themselves for the proper field, who is the sponsor of college aptitude tests, the student discipline committee, and classes marked by his blackboard drawings. He is Washington educated, and spends his evenings preparing a new textbook in psychology.

To C. EDEN QUAINTON, professor of history, born in England and degree-winner at Cambridge. He likes history—and, more important—has taught his students to like history, so that his courses have become campus favorites. A genial, popular man, he likes travel and sports and W. C. Fields, as well as his specialty, seventeenth century history.

To E. R. WILCOX, associate professor of general engineering, and another Washington graduate. It was he who introduced at Washington the first year general engineering school which enables new students to enter the university in engineering without specifying their particular major until they have had opportunity to decide.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

It is not an easy matter to state in a few words some of the thoughts that clamor to be expressed. The one object of my life with you here is so to direct my thinking and my actions that you may get from your years with us the finest and fullest growth in character and intelligence. The promotion of these things is our one solemn duty to the State. We wish we knew how to do a perfect job. But in our striving for perfection we do have this clear truth before us: In whatever manner the job is to be done, it will be in the end a dual operation of students and faculty. I know that you students will solve your part of the problem. Your faculty is earnestly striving to solve its part.

With best wishes to all, I am,

Faithfully yours,

Steps to the law—inside are the law library, the moot court room, the lawyers' lounge and Condon Hall's $400,000 finery.

Framed in College Gothic, this entrance leads to the dignified luxury of the President's office, headquarters of the men who are determining the course of the University.

Spare time on the steps, a Washington between-class tradition, always finds its most numerous devotees on the steps of old Denny Hall, sunning, or standing in the rain.

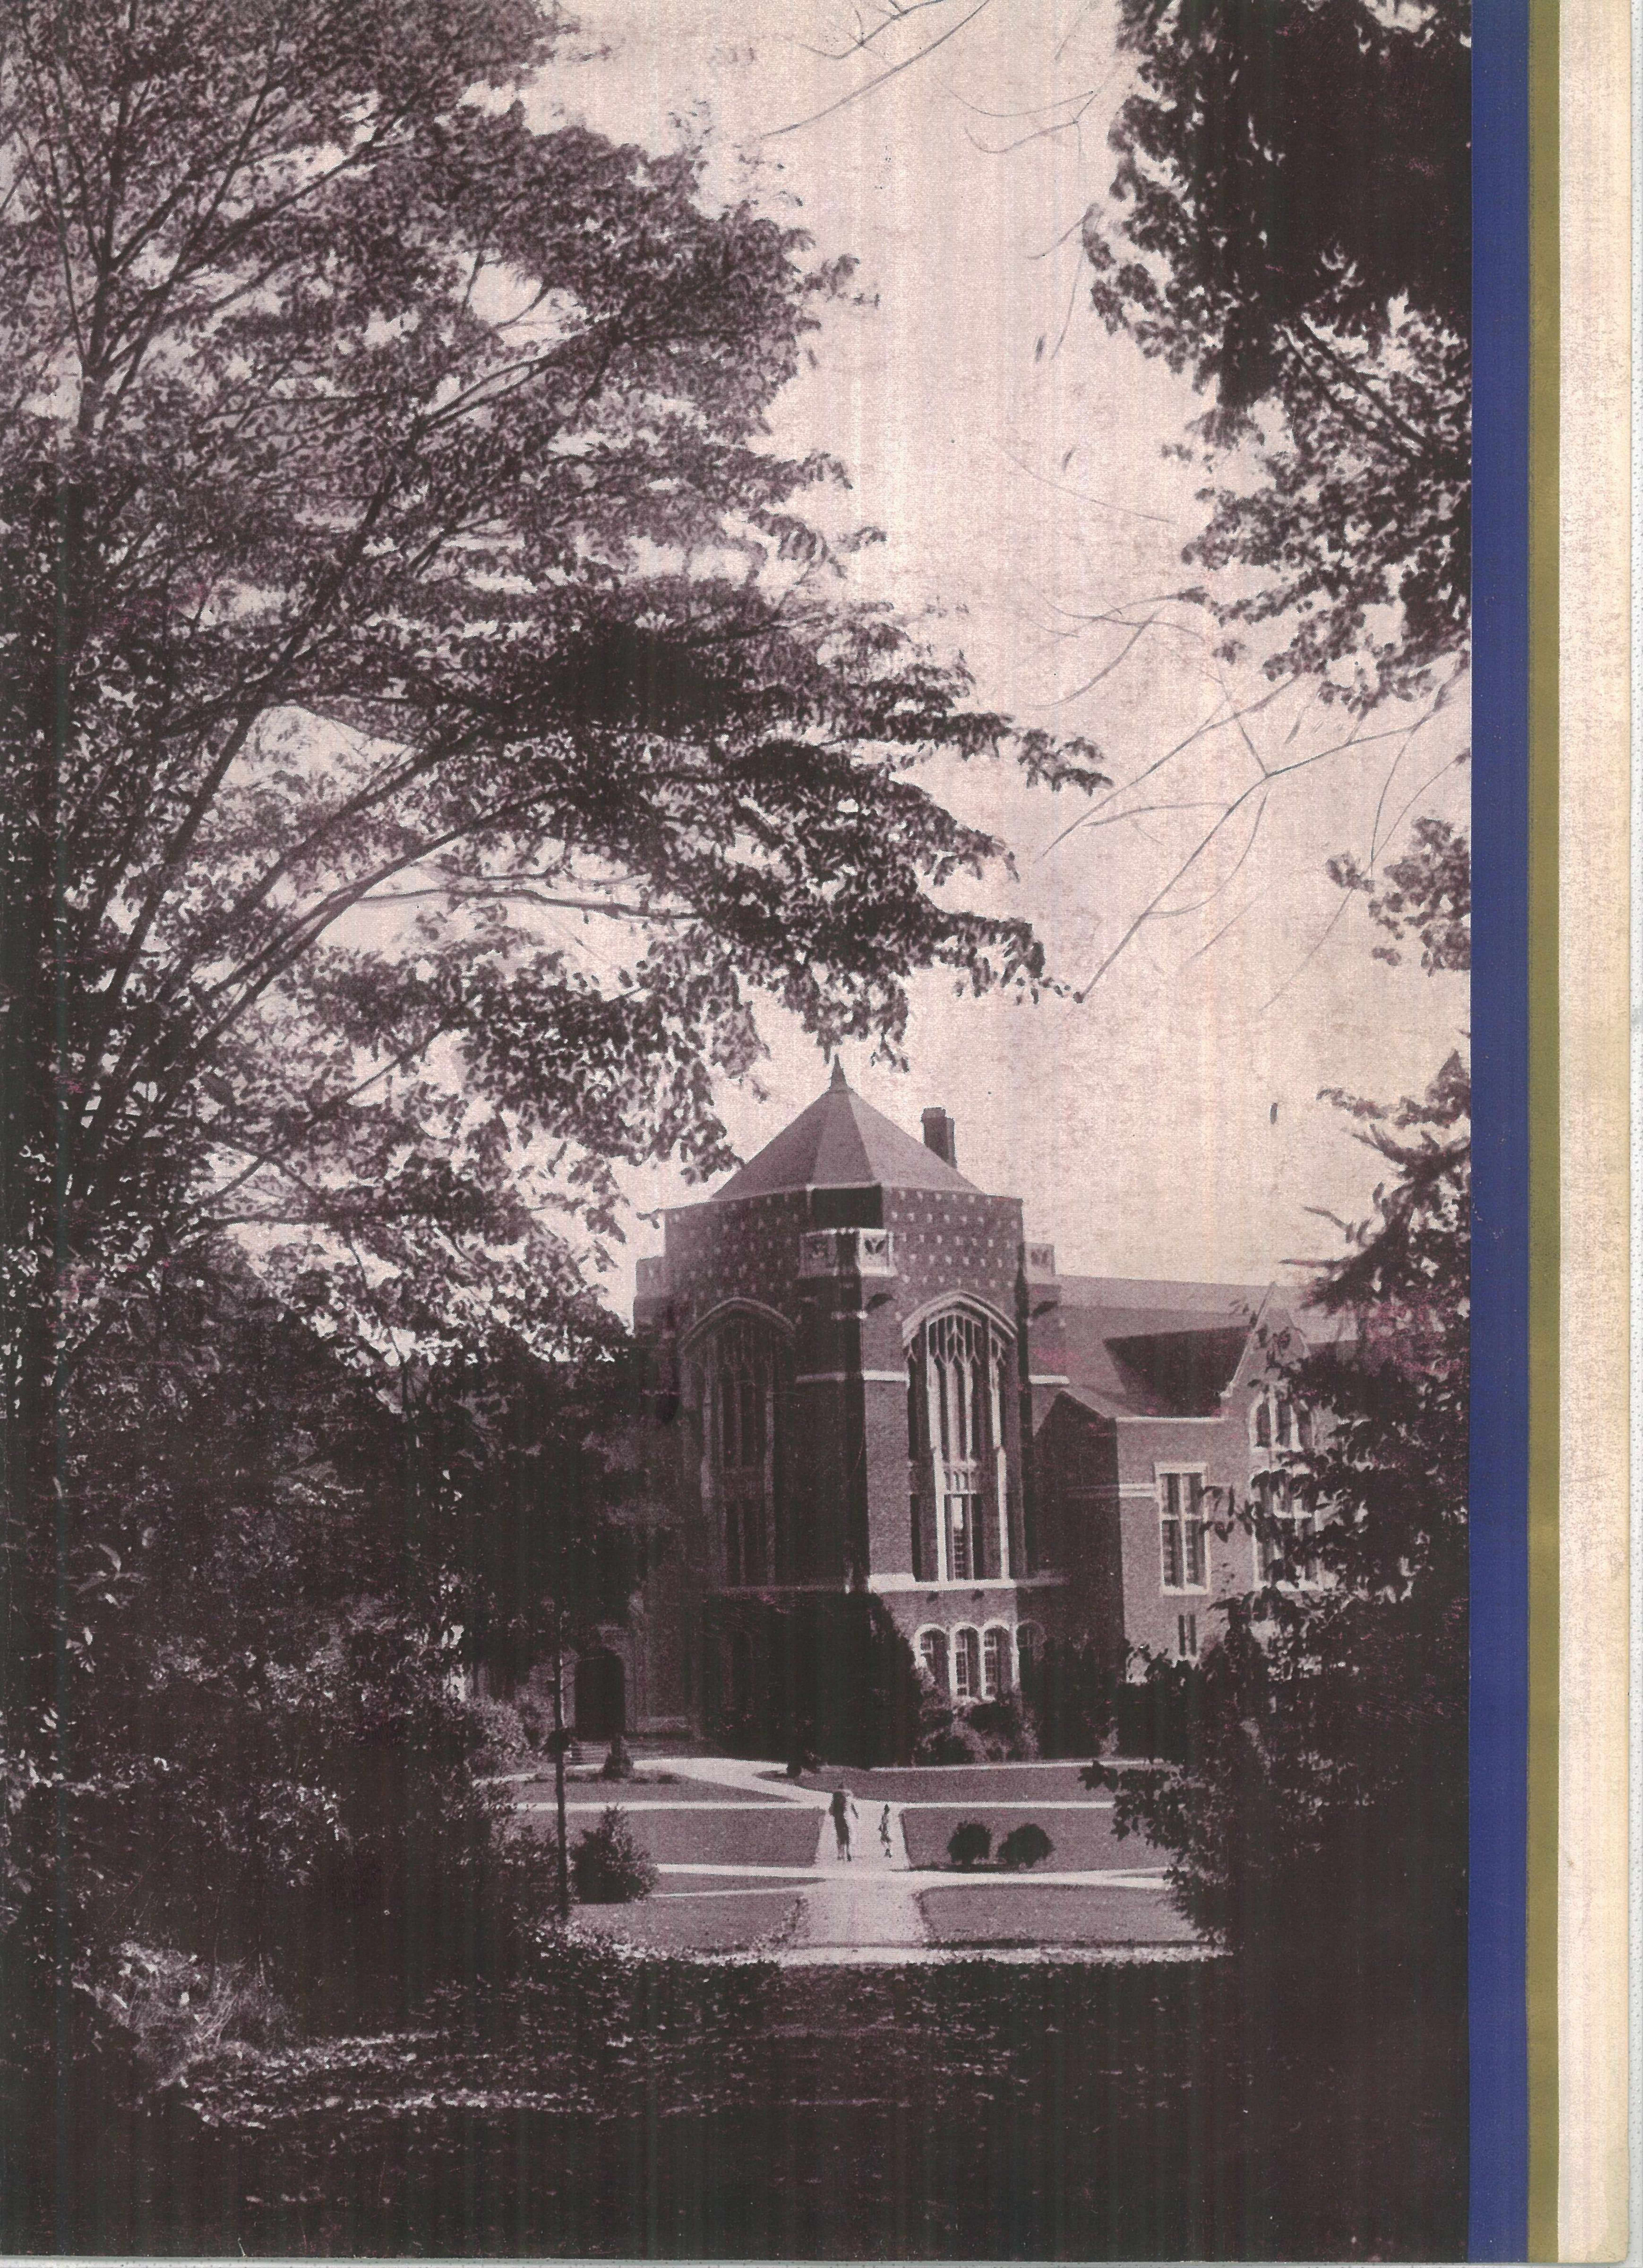

Spring morning—cool, misty, yet foreshadowing bright afternoons when classes are cut for swimming and canoeing—typifies the University as alumni wistfully remember it.

Inside the coeds play, and dance, and swim, while outside, the Women's Gym provides an imposing background for a tree-framed campus path.

Five new buildings, to cost approximately $3,500,000, will have been added to the University at the completion of the extensive building program being carried on by the Board of Regents.

The construction of the new women's dormitory, chemistry and pharmacy building, infirmary, wind tunnel for aeronautical engineering, and recently completed library wing will cost half as much as the buildings erected in the previous seventy years of the University's life.

The projects are financed by a federal loan and grant, a state fund, the University building fund, and a rental fund. In addition to the building project, $450,000 is being spent on building renovation and campus improvements.

The University has received an unusually large number of bequests this year, headed by the $400,000 E. W. Ames endowment for the betterment of teaching faculties.

PHILIP MACBRIDE, President of the Board of Regents, is a Seattle lawyer and an alumnus of the University of Iowa, of which his father was president.

THOMAS BALMER has served two years on the Board of Regents. A Seattle resident, he was western counsel for the Great Northern Railway and is now chairman of the Finance Committee.

WINLOCK MILLER possesses an honorary law degree from Whitman College and is at present a retired attorney. Besides being chairman of Buildings and Grounds Committee, he is also a Whitman regent.

ROBERT MONTGOMERY, publisher of the Puyallup Valley Tribune, is also well-known as a writer and editorialist. He is chairman of the University Welfare Committee.

WERNER A. RUPP lives in Grays Harbor where he publishes the Aberdeen World. He is chairman of the University Lands Committee.

EDWARD P. RYAN, recently married, is a graduate of New York University. A Spokane business man and mining property executive, he was formerly president of the board.

ALFRED SHEMANSKI, Vice-President of the Board, is head of a large Seattle retail clothing store. He serves on the Finance and Executive Committees, and participates in civic affairs.

DEANS

Partial replacement of the lecture system by individual study and conferences was advocated by President Sieg in his address to entering students last fall. The new plan allows the student, with his instructor's permission, to concentrate on the subject most interesting to him each quarter.

The University College "offers training for leadership or professions to those with majors. Those without majors return whence they came—be it farm or factory—well-rounded in education and versed in many fields of knowledge," according to DEAN EDWARD HENRY LAUER, who is also Dean of Faculties, handling the University's administrative matters.

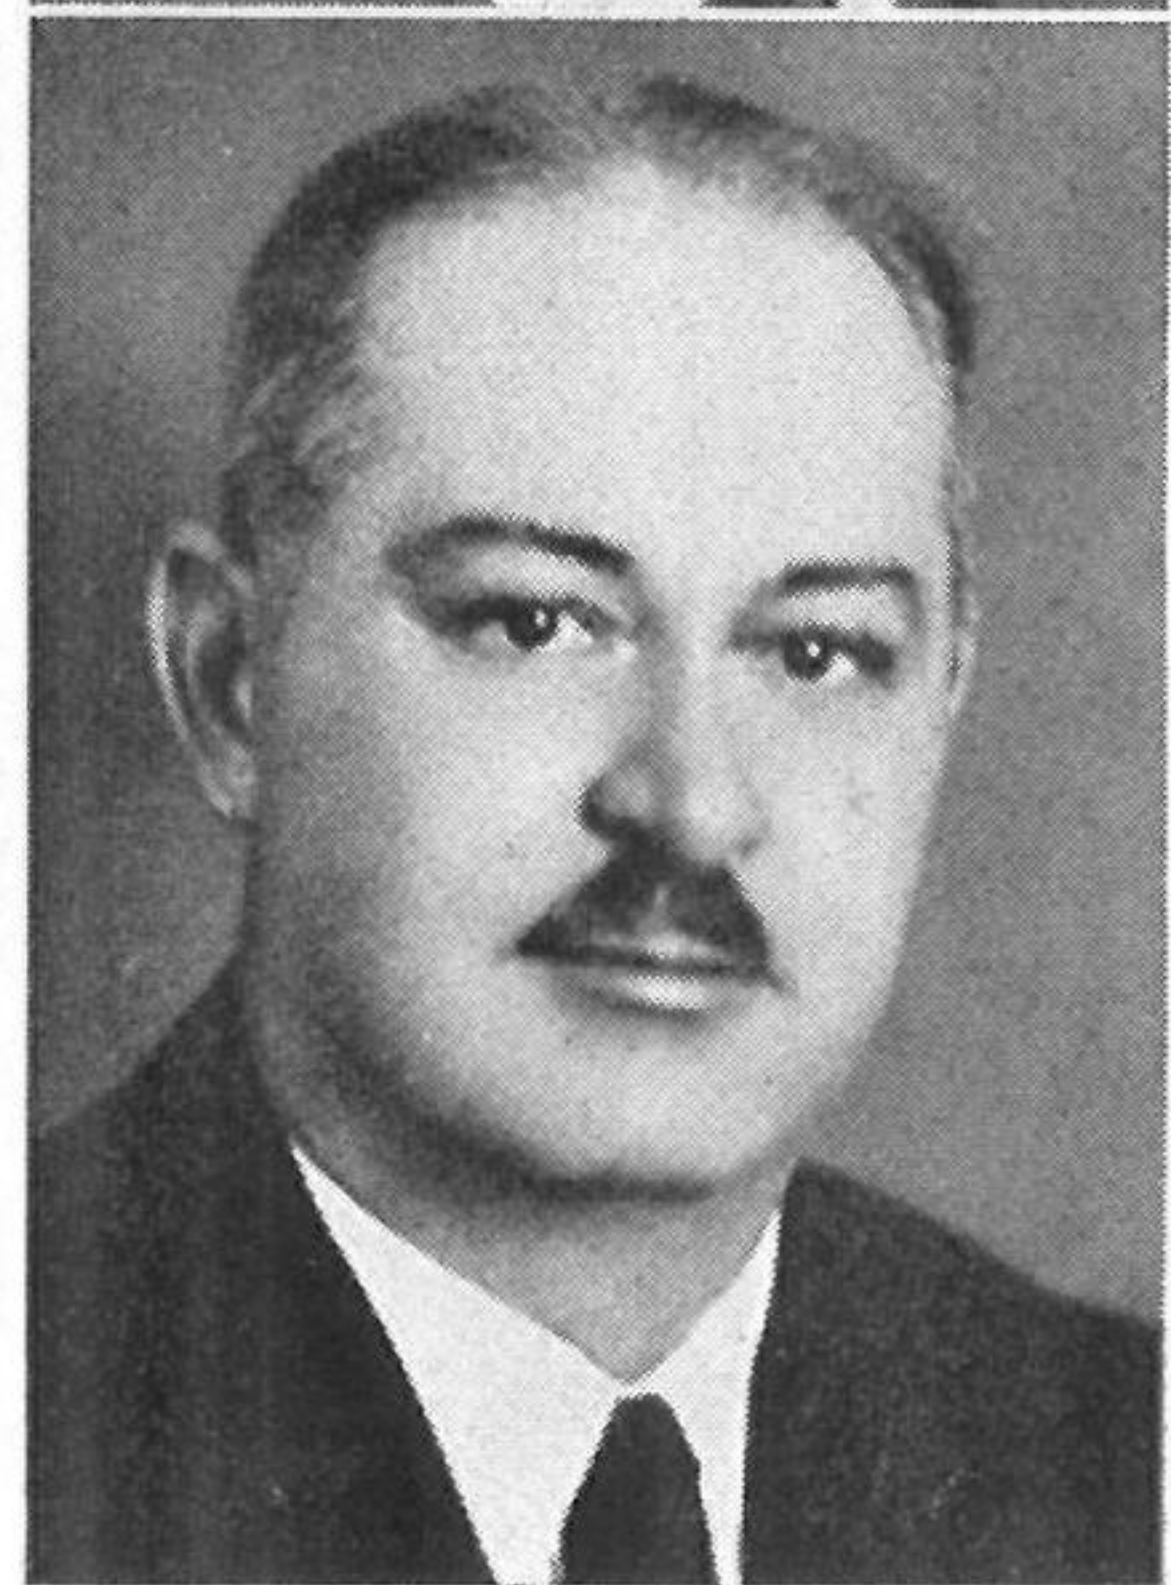

DEAN HENRY LANDES, vice dean of the University College and chairman of the committee on course of study, handles all changes and revisions in the curricula of the 5700 University College students.

DEAN DAVID THOMSON aids students in planning their schedules and assists them in academic difficulties. With his staff of faculty advisors he is especially concerned with freshmen and those who have not chosen their majors.

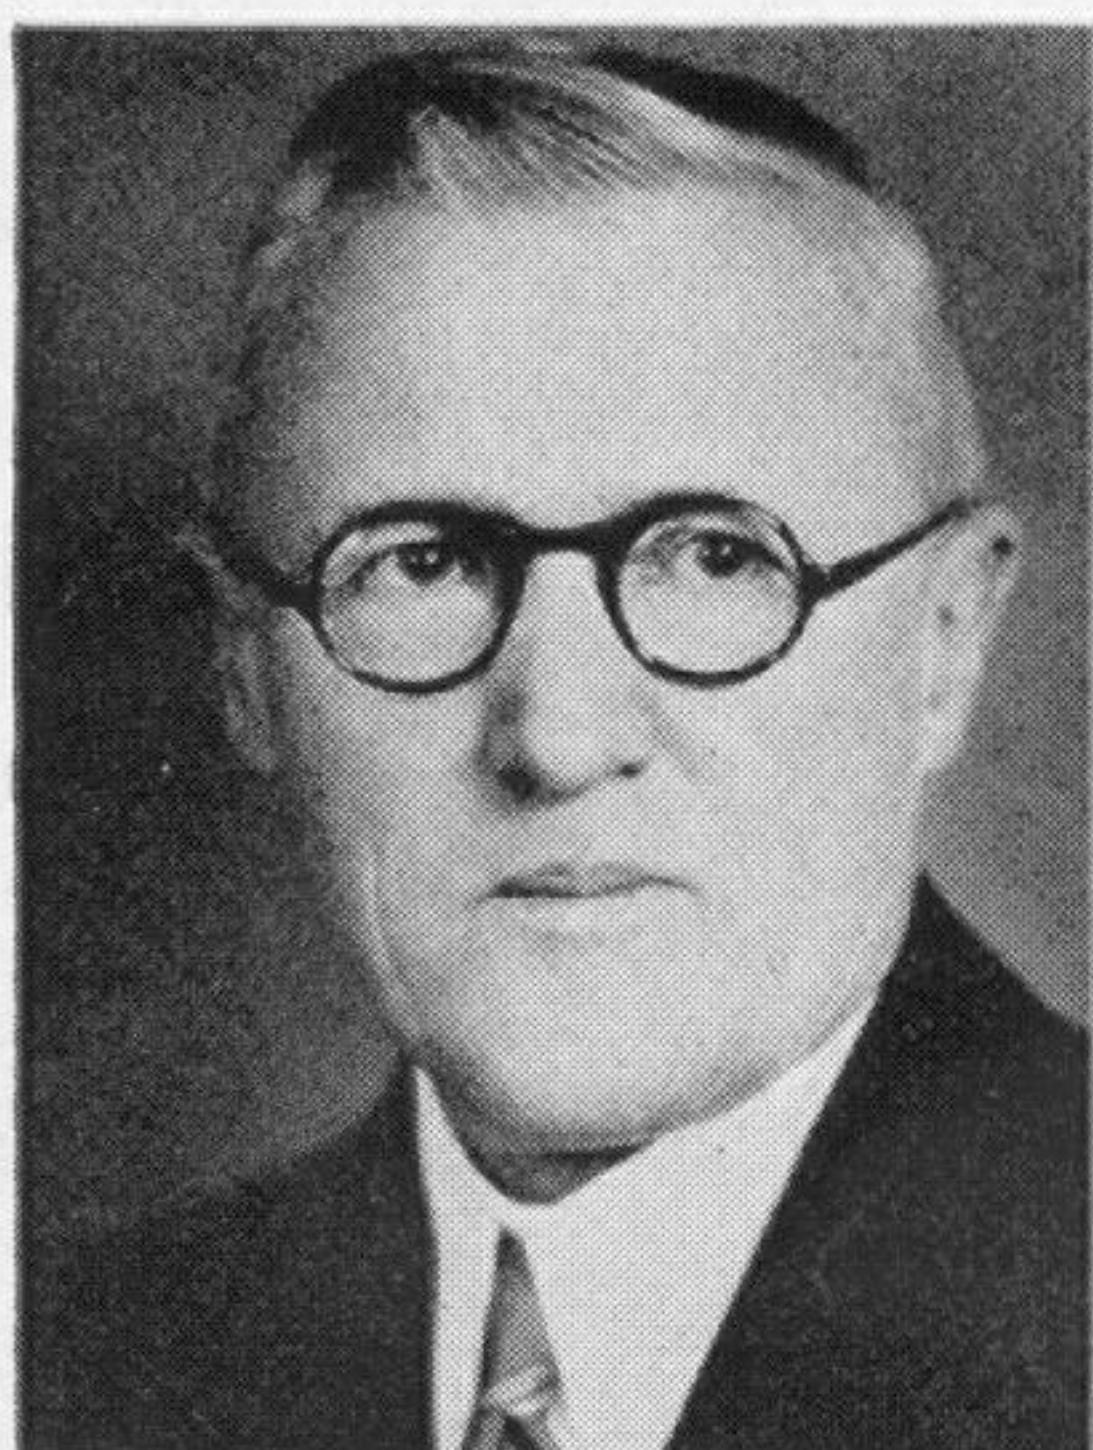

The College of Economics and Business, headed by DEAN SHIRLEY J. COON, promotes research in the common problems of the business world. More than 150 speeches on world problems were given by faculty members last year.

DEANS

Botany classes, drug assayers and research workers use the botanical garden maintained on the campus by the School of Pharmacy headed by DEAN CHARLES JOHNSON. Graduates are trained for hospital, drug store, pharmaceutical manufacturing and government work.

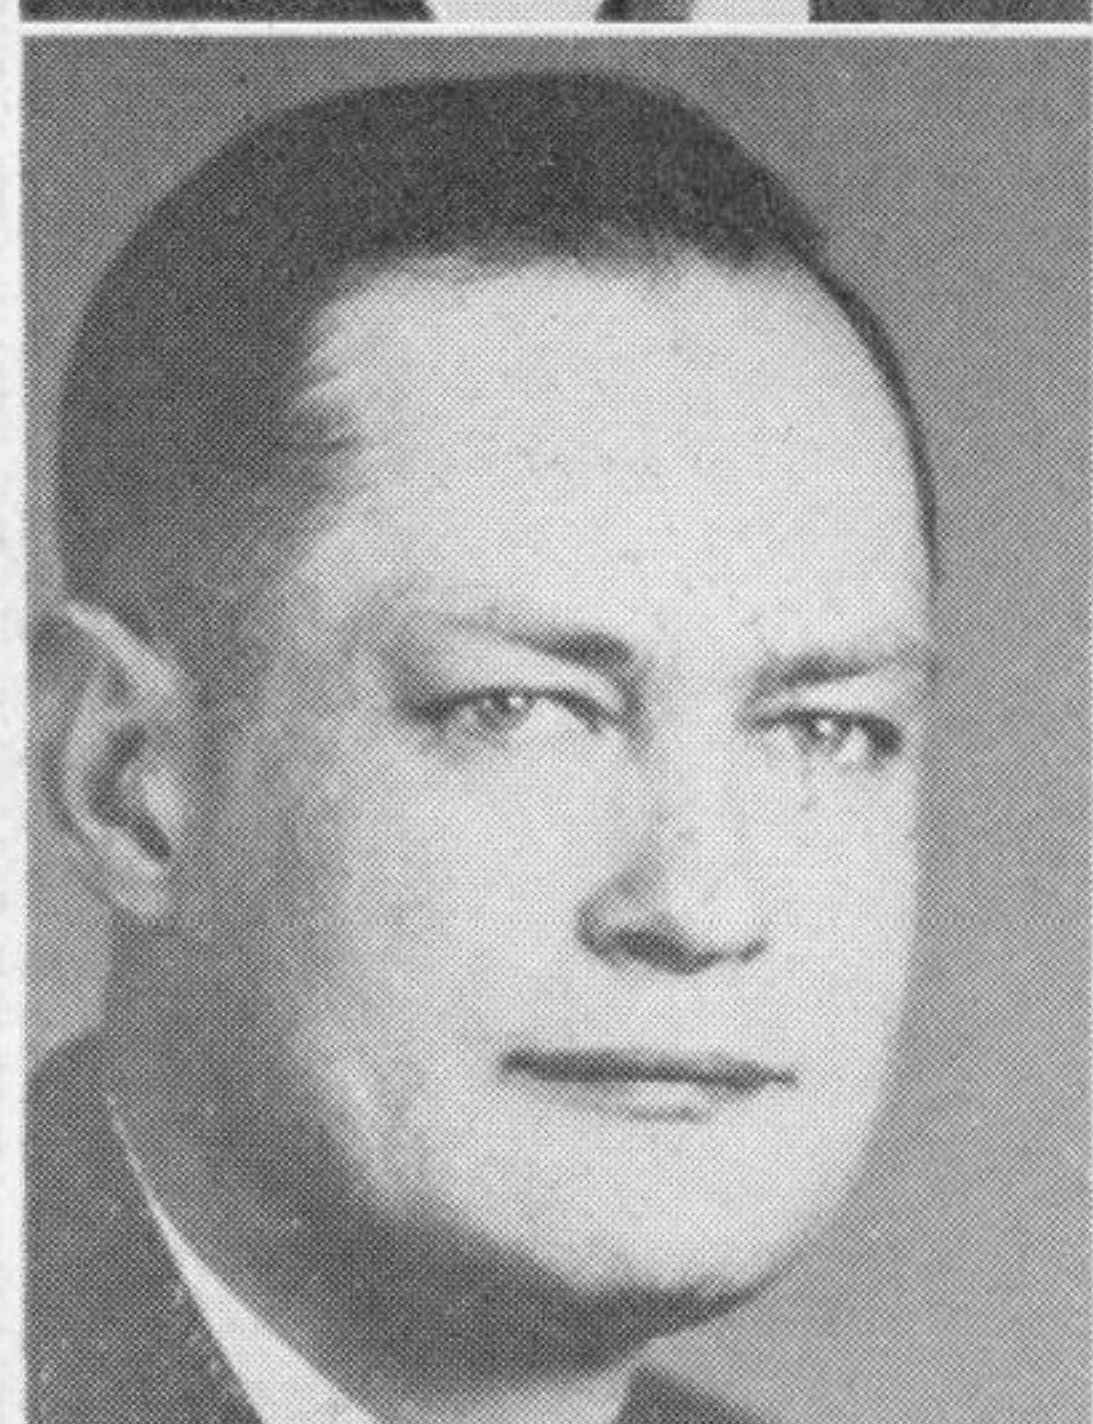

Encouragement of research and creative work on the part of both students and faculty is the policy of the Engineering College under DEAN EDGAR ALLEN LOEW. The college equips its students for successful application of the forces and vast resources of nature to the convenience of men.

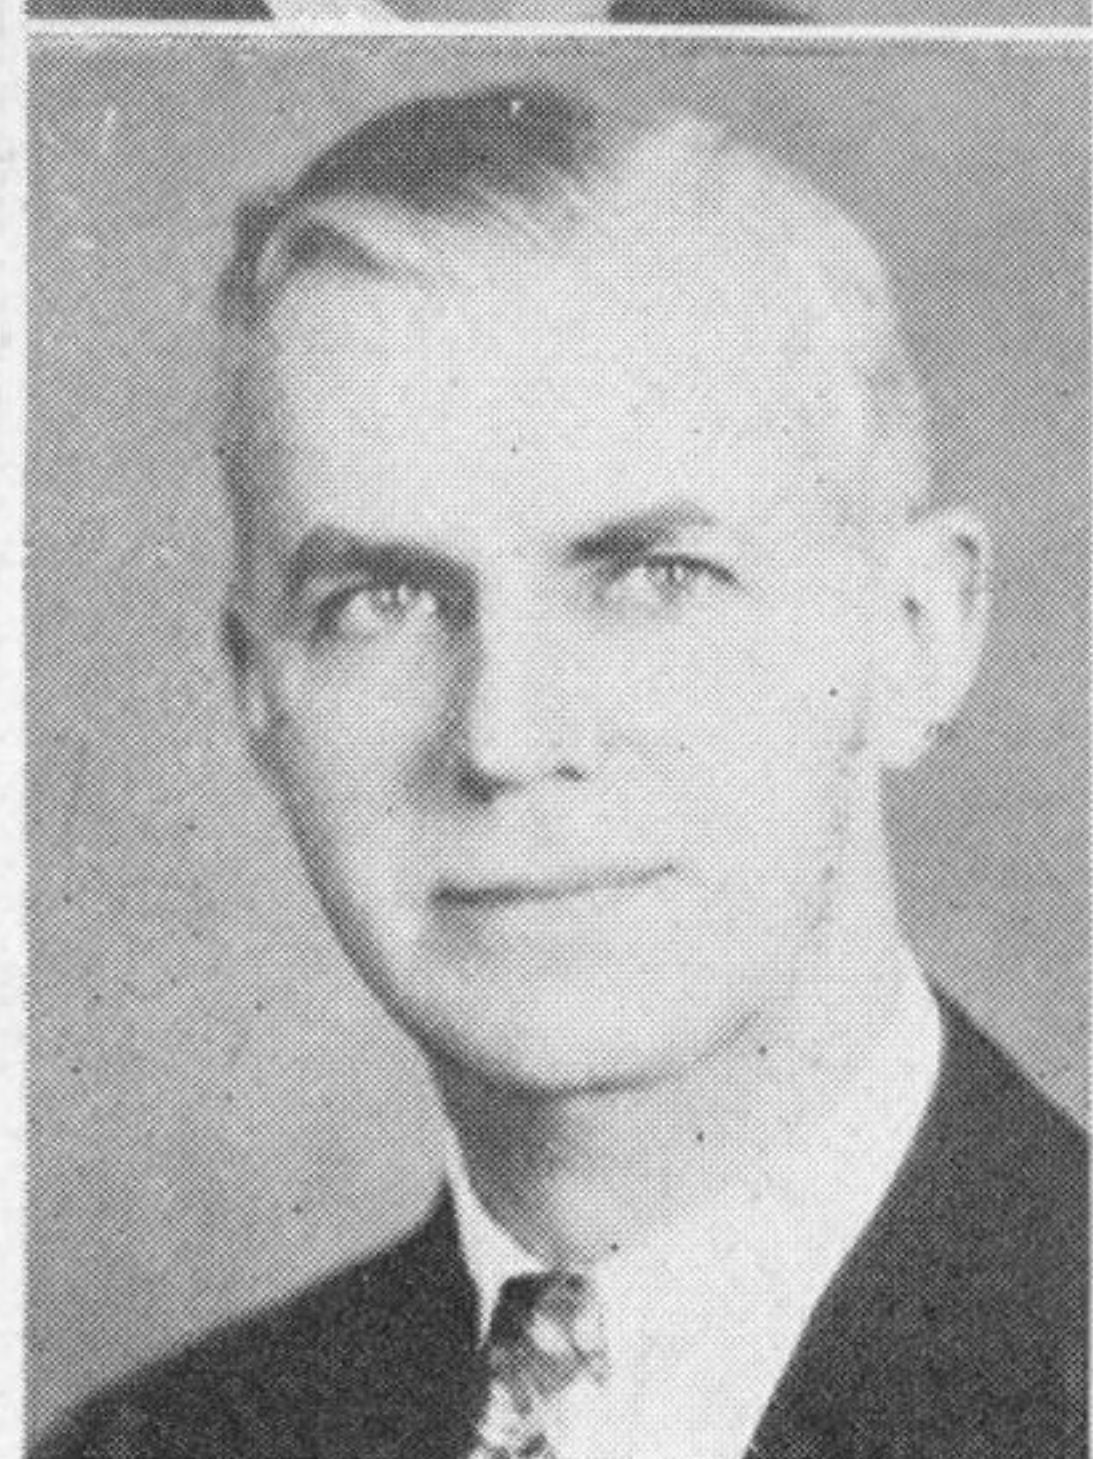

Development of students' intellectual independence and encouragement of research is the object of the graduate school, under DEAN FREDERICK PADELORD. Thrown largely upon his own, the graduate student must attain a higher standard than the undergraduate.

Cooperating with the United States Bureau of Mines, the College of Mines, directed by DEAN MILNOR ROBERTS, is investigating problems in the mineral industry of the State.

The Law School faculty, under DEAN HAROLD SHEPHERD, is compiling a Washington annotation on the restatement of law. Condon Hall is the best equipped law building on the coast, and the library contains the largest collection of legal texts west of the Mississippi.

The School of Education, under the guidance of DEAN WILLIS L. UHL, is one of the few authorized to issue graduate degrees. Six faculty members have books on the press concerning curriculum construction, school administration, typing, and music education.

DEANS

Six hundred lumber and forestry problems are handled annually by the College of Forestry under DEAN HUGO WINKENWERDER. The college educates its students to become technical foresters and to be of special service to the timber industries.

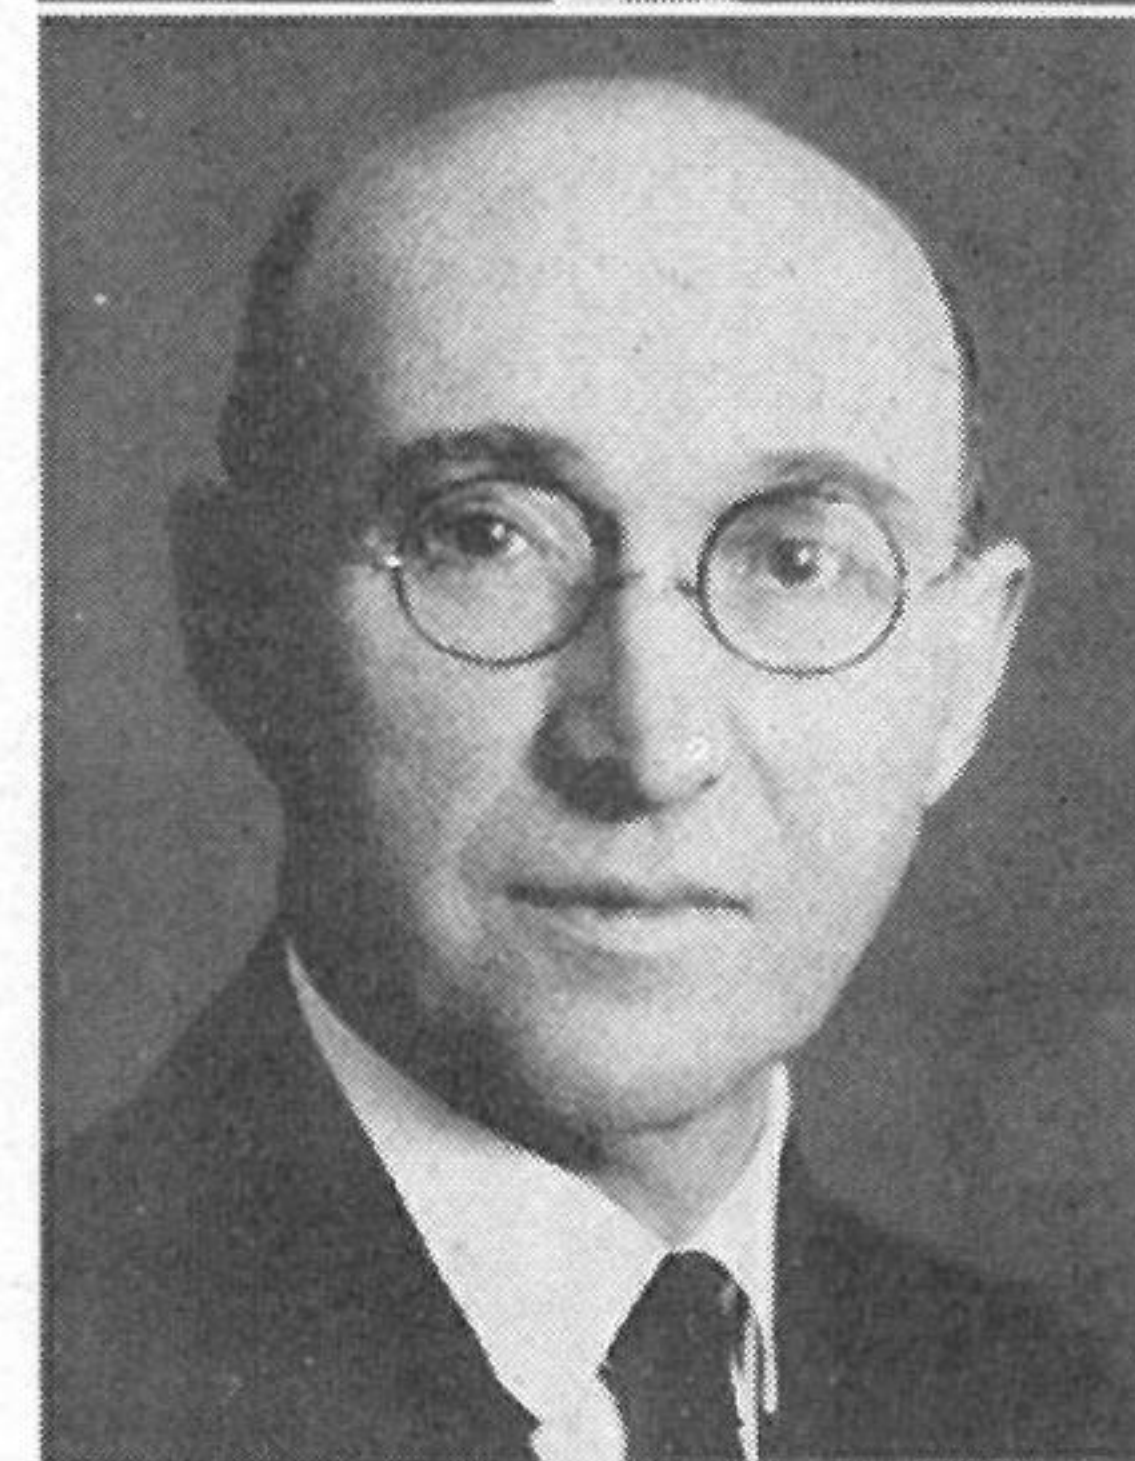

Lectures by visiting professors from all parts of the country are offered to students, graduates, and teachers attending summer school, which is directed by HENRY A. BURD.

In the words of REGISTRAR E. B. STEVENS, "The registrar's office is the front door of the University, for through it the freshman enters and senior leaves." Pre-registration, since adopted by other Universities, was pioneered at Washington.

HENRY COBURN ALLEN has complete management of the University's financial system. He administers the purchasing of supplies, overhead expenses, and accounting which concerns the University.

Physically and intellectually the center of the campus, the Henry Suzzallo Library, directed by CHARLES W. SMITH, contains more than 300,000 volumes, including many rare books.

The Extension Service, directed by HARRY E. SMITH, enables students to get credit for home study and fosters adult education.

DEANS of MEN and WOMEN

Dean of Women

The office of the Dean of Women is one of service to the women students of the University. DEAN MAY DUNN WARD, and ASSOCIATE DEAN MARY I. BASH assist the students with their personal problems, find employment, administer loan funds, and supervise the social life and housing.

Dean of Men

The function of the office of the Dean of Men is to see that the student receives help regardless of what his problem may be. DEAN HERBERT T. CONDON and DEAN NEWHOUSE, Assistant Dean of Men, are engaged in the administration of Federal aid to students, in Freshman week organization, in advising the Interfraternity Council and Adelphi, and in handling part-time employment and housing for men.

SCHOLARSHIP AWARDS

High grade averages won the 1934-35 President's Medal and the Faculty Scholarship Awards for seventeen students at the President's assembly fall quarter.

ROBERT HAWORTH WILLIAMS was graduated in botany last June and received the President's medal, the highest scholarship award of the University. A teaching fellow in botany, he is working for a doctor's degree and plans to teach at the University or enter into government research. Tennis and travel are his hobbies. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Xi, and Phi Sigma.

ESTHER CHADWICK, a Renton senior in scientific pharmacy and member of Sigma Epsilon Sigma, is planning to do clinical or hospital work when she graduates. She dislikes movies, but enjoys symphonies, violin music, and hunting.

DEAN CRYSTAL, a Cle Elum senior in anatomy, has been an assistant in the anatomy shack for two years. A Rhodes scholar, he will leave in September for two years' research in physiology at Oxford. He is a member of Sigma Xi and Pi Mu Chi. His ambition is to teach surgery.

WILLIAM KAMP, Des Moines senior in pharmacy, received the medal for the second time. Getting straight A for two successive years has occupied most of his time, but he enjoys sports.

ARTHUR LUMSDAINE, a senior in physics, also received the medal for the second time. He is undecided about his future but spends his spare time issuing reserve books at the library and attending meetings of Zeta Mu Tau, mathematics honorary.

PHIMISTER PROCTOR, a senior in forestry and transfer from Stanford, is completing his college course after an interruption of fourteen years. He likes to hunt and ski, and his favorite books are histories and biographies.

BERT ANSHUTZ, track letterman and senior representative on the Board of Control, is a junior in pre-law and a member of Phi Delta Theta. He is interested in sports generally; and, if he had unrestricted choice, would become a writer.

DANIEL BITAR, a junior in pharmacy, is from Hoquiam, and attended Grays Harbor Junior College. Radio design is his particular ambition.

BARBARA BORHEK, a Tacoma girl majoring in textiles and design, hopes to be a costume designer. She is a member of Sigma Epsilon Sigma and is particularly interested in music and drama.

DORA HUNT, junior in botany and education, is from Ellensburg. She wants to teach botany and zoology, and spends her spare time gardening.

DOROTHY LARSON, graduate of Roosevelt High School, Seattle, is majoring in sociology. She hopes to be a noted fiction writer, and is working on a story now.

HENRY LUKE, pre-med junior, wants to be a child specialist, and intends to go to China to complete his studies. His hobbies are swimming, baseball, and shooting. He is a member of Purple Shield.

PHILIP MAGNUSSON, who also received a medal last year, is a junior in electrical engineering. He plays the flute in the band and is a member of Chi Phi fraternity, Tau Beta Pi, Sigma Xi, Zeta Mu Tau, and the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

RUBY OSTERMAN, a Seattle home economics junior, hopes to teach home economics. Interested in sports and church work, she is a member of Pilgrim Club, Sigma Eta Chi, Omicron Nu, Sigma Epsilon Sigma, and the Home Economics Club.

ROBERT TRUMBLE, a Wenatchee science major, spends his spare time boxing and playing handball and tennis. He is doing research in physics and hopes to earn a doctor's degree in science.

MARGARET CAMPBELL, a sophomore business and economics major from Morton, plans to enter the business world. She is interested in intramural sports and YWCA committee work and is treasurer of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority.

KENNETH COX, a sophomore in pre-law, hopes to become a lawyer and a politician. His hobbies are reading and tennis. His activities include Tyee, debate, and Adelphi, of which he is the treasurer.

HAZEL KASTNER is a sophomore anatomy major from the Yukon Territory and Canada. She is interested in medical and commercial art. For recreation she enjoys snow sports and books on art.

In their final year on the campus, seniors concentrated all of their class activities in the last week of spring quarter. This year, with Jackie Chessher and Art Meyer as co-chairmen, an elaborate program for senior week was planned.

A senior ball—traditional last dance—a class breakfast, the annual picnic, a senior prophecy and a class history were among the events set for the seniors' last days on the campus, preceding the colorful commencement ceremonies in the pavilion which officially closed their college careers.

JUNIOR CLASS

BILL HOUSTON, President
JANE PORTER, Vice-President

MARIAN FOSTER, Treasurer

The junior class set a precedent this year in the creation of an executive council under the faculty supervision of Professor Russell Blankenship. The council's main services included the selection of chairmen and committees for class activities, and advisory assistance in planning the third-year program.

The Junior Prom on March 6 was the social highlight of the year. It was held at the Trianon Ballroom, and featured a transatlantic liner idea. Eddie Black was chairman.

The most severe setback to the third-year class was the abolition of JGV, annual vaudeville show sponsored by the juniors. An attempt was made to revive Junior Day to its former status, when the student affairs committee gave its sanction to the affair.

The familiar remark that "you can always tell a sophomore by his beard" held true again this year when the second-year men held their annual beard-growing contest. Three weeks after the contest opened, winners were judged and announced at the Malamute-Sigma Delta Chi mixer on February 7.

The highlight of the sophomore year was the growth of a class political organization known as the Phalanx. The group, which is open to all sophomores, represented an attempt to put up a "slate" for each election. This year Phalanx succeeded in electing all candidates backed by the party.

FRESHMAN CLASS

ZEPH LANE, President
PATSY JACKSON, Vice-President

BARBARA McHARDIE, Secretary
HARRIET ADAIR, Treasurer

When the University's all-time enrollment record was broken by a 9,300 registration this year, the freshman class set its own new mark: it was the largest freshman class in Washington history.

After registration and fraternity and sorority pledging, freshmen settled down to a routine of classes and campus activities—chief of which was their own class mixer at the opening of the school year.

It was in the field of sports that the freshmen made their most important contribution. In football the men who will later form the backbone of the Husky varsity team were given their first college competition. In crew the freshmen attempted to maintain the high performance always given by Tom Bolles' frosh oarsmen. And in basketball a promising young squad, under the coaching of Tubby Graves, lost only one game in eighteen encounters.

MINER BAKER

It is a rare independent who ever is elected to the highest student office on the campus. But this year Miner "Geezil" Baker, with his background as YMCA president, and varsity debater, won the position. In addition he belongs to Oval Club and frequents the honor roll.

ANN HUTCHINSON

Red-haired and dynamic; holder of the highest campus job for a woman—president of AWS; and an art major who belongs to Gamma Phi Beta, Mortar Board, Totem Club, Lambda Rho and "W" Key Club. This is Ann Hutchinson.

TOM GRIFFITH

It may have been the Irish in him, but Tom Griffith piloted himself into the Daily Editor's chair without a fraternity pin on his vest. Tommy also has a sense of humor, belongs to Oval Club, is vice-president of Sigma Delta Chi, Tyee associate editor, and writes for Columns.

The Fair ☆ ☆ ☆

For those who like large soft eyes and languor, this is Honey Corbin of Alpha Gamma Delta.

The Famous ☆ ☆ ☆

DAN LAZAREVICH

They call him Captain Dan, this genial big fellow who was end and captain of the football team this year, and president of Oval Club, Phi Kappa Sigma. Now that he has earned a diploma in education, he plans to go to South America to coach.

JANET RIGGS

Janet filled many an ingenue role in campus little theatre plays; too, she was general chairman of the annual "woman's treat" Tolo, Gamma Phi Beta, president of drama's Phi Mu Gamma, and Totem Club and Mortar Board.

DEL MULLER

Usually a man's campus prominence is based securely enough on being general chairman of one of the major dances. But Del was chairman not only of the first Spring Sports Promenade, but also of this year's Varsity Ball, Sigma Phi Epsilon.

The Fair ☆ ☆ ☆

She wears the pin of Alpha Phi; and she is vivacious, and ever-smiling.
The girl with the dark hair, and the widow's peak, is Mary Jane Spinner.

The Famous ☆ ☆ ☆

NAT WASHINGTON

With the presidency of two campus organizations already his, Nat Washington this spring sought the office of presidency of the student body. He has been president of Scabbard and Blade, military honorary, and the University YMCA. He belongs to Beta Theta Pi.

KATHLEEN CALKINS

Kathleen "Sich" Calkins of Delta Gamma worked on everything from Tyee—where she was an associate editor—to Columns, where she was sales manager, to AWS, where she was an executive chairman. Mortar Board and Totem Club.

HANK GREELEY

Stocky Hank Greeley is known either as "Satch" or as "The Terror." And known, too, as senior football manager, secretary of Oval Club, and general chairman of the first all-University vodvil. A member of Alpha Delta Phi, the Bookstore board, and the managerial council.

The Fair ☆ ☆ ☆

Valerie Ellis of Kappa Kappa Gamma has won campus fame not only in the serenity of her beauty, but as an actress as well.

The Famous ☆ ☆ ☆

RALPH BISHOP

The high scorer on the team that won the conference championship this year was tall and lanky Ralph Bishop, center and captain of the Huskies' basketball men. Bish belongs to Delta Chi, Big "W" Club and Oval Club.

BERNICE NOLTING

The friendly little coed who held the perilous position of women's standards chairman this year was Bernice Nolting of Alpha Phi. She is a member of Totem Club, of the student affairs committee, and the AWS executive council.

CLAY TANBERG

The growth of the University's radio facilities from a vague idea to the present elaborate radio studios in Meany Hall, with its frequent broadcasts, is principally due to Merritt Clay Tanberg. As well as being student radio director, he is a Varsity debater, and a Phi Sig.

The Fair ☆ ☆ ☆

Not only beautiful, and not only popular, Phyllis Klinker of Gamma Phi Beta is an honor scholar in spite of it.

The Famous ☆ ☆ ☆

JACK KNAPPENBERGER
Knappie of Chi Psi, who returned to school this winter just in time to become ASUW vice-president, is former elections chairman, former senior-frosh minor sports manager, and a member of Oval Club and Scabbard and Blade.

MARGARET RUNNALLS
This year she was president of the coed activity honorary, Totem Club, and last summer she was named queen of summer school coeds. She is in Pre-Medics, comes from little Orting, and is active in WAA and AWS.

SID LUND
Sid Lund is a scholar and an athlete. A member of Beta Theta Pi and Oval Club, he won his stripes in crew. And in engineering he was one of six finalists from Washington for a Rhodes Scholarship.

The Fair ☆ ☆ ☆

Maturity of beauty, intelligent eyes, and the certainty of sophistication are found in Charlotte Field.

The Famous ☆ ☆ ☆

DEAN CRYSTAL

The world's most widely known scholastic honor, a Rhodes Scholarship, was won—for the second consecutive year—by a Washington man. This year it was Dean Crystal, the shy, pre-medics senior, who was chosen. Pi Mu Chi and Sigma Xi had already recognized his ability.

DOROTHY HEMPHILL

In addition to making the honor roll consistently, and being a member of Kappa Alpha Theta, Mortar Board, Totem Club, "W" Key Club and Sigma Epsilon Sigma, Dorothy Hemphill served as general chairman for the AWS concerts.

MARTIN TREPP

His ambition as editor of Columns was to put out a better college magazine. So he did. Like most humorists, Martin Trepp's wit is hidden behind glasses and a serious mien. Delta Upsilon, and journalism's Sigma Delta Chi.

The Fair ☆ ☆ ☆

Of the all-too-few blondes, there is Lila May Soeneke of Sigma Kappa, whose hair partly hides her ears, and whose eyes are gay.

The Famous ☆ ☆ ☆

CHUCK HOWARD

In the collegiate life of rallies and reunions, Chuck Howard of Sigma Alpha Epsilon was the man who reorganized the Malamutes, was rally chairman for a year, and head of the 1935 Homecoming program.

MARY KOSHER

Wherever there is publicity and wherever there are publications, you will find Mary Kosher. She worked on Columns; was a Daily columnist and Tyee's associate editor, a member of Theta Sigma Phi and Totem Club, and handled the publicity for so many University dances and activities that she has long since lost count of them.

LADDY GROSS

The interfraternity council—through its stormy sessions on hell week and rushing regulations—was piloted by Laddy Gross of Zeta Beta Tau, who also sits on the standards and the student affairs committee.

ASUW

With a football team that seemed to show—at least until the Stanford game—championship leanings, and with the nation-wide trend toward recovery, the 1935-6 year proved to be the most successful, financially, since the appointment of Chuck Frankland as athletic director in 1932.

A thrilling championship race in basketball, which was not settled until the next to the last game of the season, set new pavilion records for attendance. As well, minor sports and other activities, which had suffered under depression curtailment, were revived. Substantial decreases in the ASUW's bonded indebtedness were made; and the ASUW was declared officially to be out of the red.

A move to return control of the student corporation to the students was begun, following the declaration of ASUW President Miner Baker, that "student government is a farce." As a result of administrative opposition, the move failed.

BOARD of CONTROL

This year the campus political campaigns were marked—as usual—by tempestuous decisions and protests and ineligibility rulings.

It began last spring, when the Board of Control ruled Bob Galer out of the ASUW presidential race for violation of publicity provisions. Miner Baker was elected, the first independent in recent years to become ASUW president.

Winter quarter, when it seemed campus politics were off to a slow start, a technical violation of rules forced the election committee to hold a new nominating assembly, at which 17 candidates entered.

The proposed revision of the ASUW constitution failed when 99 students less than the necessary 25 per cent of the student body voted. The vote, however, was the largest winter quarter ballot since 1931.

STUDENT AFFAIRS

So wide is the range of social functions and activities at the University that a special Student Affairs committee functions to regulate dates, ticket prices, and hours. Members authorize new societies and wipe others off the calendar. It was the Student Affairs group that abolished JGV this year.

Faculty members are Professor Edgar Draper, Miss Martha E. Dresslar, Professor Bryan McMinn, Professor G. I. Butterbaugh, Miss May Dunn Ward, Miss Mary I. Bash, and Dean Herbert T. Condon.

Student members are Howard Peterson, Ruth Siegel, Jane Embury, Laddy Gross, Robert Sylvester, Ann Hutchinson, Virginia Kellogg, Bernice Nolting, and Miner Baker.

“VICT’RY FOR WASHINGTON”

Product of two student composers and a Thanksgiving dinner, “Vict’ry for Washington” was added to the song book this year—the first new pep song in 22 years.

After George Larson wrote the music and Tom Herbert the words, the Board of Control permitted “Vict’ry” to join the ranks with “Bow Down to Washington” and “Alma Mater.”

The song was copyrighted by the ASUW, with a cover by Ken Jones, Columns’ artist. Students pounced on “Vict’ry,” found it peppy—easy to sing—and boosted it sky-high.

It was featured on Homecoming signs, at rallies, mixers, and games. When the University went on NBC to celebrate the 75th anniversary of the signing of the charter, “Vict’ry for Washington” made its Pacific Coast debut.

CREW DRIVE . 1935

With "On to Poughkeepsie" as the campaign cry, the annual tag-drive to send the Washington crews back East went over the top this year. Enough money was contributed to send all three Husky boats to the regatta.

HIGH SCHOOL LEADERS' CONFERENCE

A new type of program, featuring outstanding speakers in each field, was responsible for the success this year of the annual high school leaders' and journalists' conference on the campus.

More than 300 leaders, editors, and business managers of high schools throughout the state were entertained under the direction of John Hounsell, conference chairman.

RADIO STATION

Down in the basement of Meany Hall, where the band turns out, where music rattles the doors and jars the ear-drums, the youngest student activity is located.

Campus radio is growing in popularity. Besides being a training ground for future Winchells, students and faculty members can now meet their public—and judging from the fan mail piled up on Student Director Clay Tanberg's desk—the public likes it.

Before the studio was constructed by F. S. E. P. students under the direction of Philip Jacobsen of engineering, the University went on the air only once a week.

Now an average of five programs are released each week by direct wire to downtown stations.

The studios, patterned after Hollywood sound sets, differ from most commercial rooms by having sound-absorbing walls.

But broadcasting isn't all that goes on in the Meany dungeon—auditions are given to aspiring opera stars, and drama students practice rolling their "r's" over the special recording apparatus. The studio is also the stamping ground of radio engineering students.

Some of the powers behind-the-mike who are responsible for the remarkable growth of the baby activity are Ellentine McClure, Doris Smith, Byron Lind, Ted Bell, Mae Loughlin, Ethel Kingsbury, Tom Herbert, Al Botzer, Floyd Buchanan, and Andrew Jacobsen. Faculty members are Dr. Francis F. Powers of education, Dr. Karl A. Windesheim of speech, Professor Harold Heeremans, Professor George C. Kirchner and Miss Edith Woodcock of music.

HOMECOMING . 1935

The grads came back, Greek Row dressed itself up in signs and lights and Ducks and Huskies, while dinners and rallies heralded the hilarity of 1935 Homecoming.

The annual mixer Friday night, which had been preceded by an enthusiastic rally, broke all attendance records. Dinners and dances honoring the returning grads and the Oregon guests were part of the week-end program, which was climaxed at the annual Homecoming dance in the Olympic Hotel after the football game Saturday.

With the cooperation of the alumni, Chuck Howard was student chairman of the committee which planned the traditional celebration.

ENGINEERS' OPEN HOUSE

When the photo-electric attendance calculator showed that approximately 20,000 pseudo-scientists and thrill seekers had passed through the Engineers' Open House turnstile this year, another record was broken.

They came from all over the state to see the biennial exhibit of the things Washington's future scientists can do—trick gadgets, inventions that smack of the supernatural, models of dams, camps, airplane ports.

Complete with dams and real water, the civil engineers' huge scale outdoor model of the Columbia River drew much attention. Forestry students built a model CCC camp.

Visitors to the campus were treated to two motion pictures; one showing scenes of NROTC life on the sea, the other illustrating the cycloidal propellor invented by Prof. F. K. Kirsten of aeronautical engineering. Experts believe that the propellor will revolutionize aviation when perfected.

Traffic specialists constructed a model highway with grade crossing eliminations. Those who saw the shingle testing machine in Anderson Hall were given wooden souvenirs of the Open House.

STUDIO

Heavy Russian drama, Anton Chekhov's "Uncle Vanya," opened the Studio theatre this fall.

With a "life goes on" theme, the drama contrasts the peace of a peasant on his farm, undisturbed by the world about him, and this same peasant's life disturbed by his love for a woman.

Opening with the quiet and peace of the farm, the play sweeps to a climax when a professor, a lifelong friend of Vanya's, comes to the farm to visit, bringing his second wife, played by Jean Douglas, with him. Vanya, portrayed by Wilbur Sparrow, falls in love with her, breaking up his friendship with her husband and finally trying to kill the professor.

Many a fashionable evening gown was discreetly side-split when the laugh-provoking "Pursuit of Happiness" opened the season of modern dramas.

The Reverend Donald Murphy, whose nose is three ells and a pitch-fork long, manages to smell rats in the custom of bundling and proceeds to investigate. Following his appendage, he catches a young foreigner, played by Rollin Neibauer, being introduced to the old New England custom by his girl, Valerie Ellis. A shotgun wedding ensues with the preacher looking down the wrong end of the barrel.

Staging a streamlined version of Shakespeare, the "Merchant of Venice" and "The Taming of the Shrew" were presented next. Limiting each of the Shakespearean plays to forty minutes, all of the fast dialogue was accentuated and the slow, cumbersome scene shifts eliminated.

Wilbur Sparrow turned in one of the best performances of his character-acting career as Shylock. Jean Douglas played the role of "Portia" with majesty and wit ably combined.

Elizabeth Loeffler, as Katherine of the age-old slapstick comedy, "The Taming of the Shrew," out-shrewed the best of them.

Rollin Neibauer in the role of Petruchio, "the gentleman from Verona" who ungentlemanly tames Kate, was convincing as the "treat 'em rough and make 'em tough," lover.

Gags came thick and fast as the lovers staged the battle of the sexes. Rapidity of the humor kept faculty and casual visitors tearful with laughter for the full forty minutes.

THEATRE

"Another Language" brought to the stage the conflict of modern youth interested in new ideas and running their own lives against the Babbettism of a former age.

A dominating mother-in-law and the loud-mouthed sisters and brothers-in-law over-run the stage with their slapstick humor. Grace Archer as the wife of Joseph Steele-Shaw tries to and succeeds in making a modern home run with modern ideals.

"Journey's End" came next to the Studio. From the limehouse cook who promotes cockroach races to the captain who hates the front line but has lived in the trenches too long, each player gave that subtly realistic performance necessary in this last of the great war dramas.

Pathos, comedy, boyishness, and mannishness mingle to make the audience remember the human drama of the war.

Being an earlier version of the "Our Dancing Daughters" theme, "Salome," the first dance drama ever to grace the University theatre boards, relates the jealousy of Herodias, wife of Herod, for her daughter.

This vehicle, featuring the terpsichorean artistry of Betty Nuzum, was to be staged as the Studio's last spring production, but, because of casting difficulties, will not be given until next fall.

PENTHOUSE THEATRE

It isn't every calamity that can be successful, and it isn't every comedy that can meet with the approval that "A Successful Calamity" did.

As to plot, this comedy revives the well-known story of the wealthy old man, Wilbur Sparrow, who, in order to restore a state of normalcy to his supposedly scatter-brained family, pretends to lose all, and, at the final curtain, gains all by having his family once more find "the true values." Simple plot with brilliant lines presented capably.

"Accent on Youth" exemplifies a well turned-out play according to the recipe sophisticate—one triangle, stewed for about two hours in its own juices, and heavily garnished with polite titters.

Stephan Gaye, as played by Wilbur Sparrow, may be an old dog; nevertheless this does not stop him from being a "gaye olde dogge." Being a playwright, Gaye knows all about women, love, and other co-related subjects; but, when it comes to his romance with his pretty young secretary, Val Ellis, difficulties arise that demand a great deal of coping with. And so the plot runs merrily on.

About Philip Barry's "Holiday." He was just a young fellow out of college with his own ideas about making a living and like subjects; such as retiring young. But the beautiful young lady did not approve; and so, for the sake of maintaining his "ideals," our young man, Robert Gray, takes unto himself in holy matrimony the tycoon's younger daughter, Betty Nuzum, who we knew all along was the better one of the two anyway. And that, my dear, is "Holiday."

A mad, merry tale is "The Milky Way" which gave University theatregoers a much appreciated rest from the ultra-sophisticated type of comedy this playhouse had previously specialized in.

When a diminutive, super-shy milk peddler, as portrayed by Billy Morris, is given credit by an over-anxious press for two times kayoing the world's champion middleweight slugger, Victor Thompson, things are likely to happen. They do.

Moving along at a fast clip, "The Milky Way" kept its audiences "hooting with mirth" in a manner that was in every way comparable to the guffaws inspired by Harold Lloyd in the cinema version of this play.

PUPPETRY

Cramming Pete, the catfish, and Jo-Jo, the dog-faced boy, into a trunk on top of the rest of the string actors, the puppeteers start on their vagabondish way every week-end, the players without a theatre.

The puppeteers play over 100 performances a year and only once in the past three years have they played on the campus. School auditoriums, clubs, suburban picture theatres in and near Seattle have all seen Bruce Inverarity, instructor, and his University puppeteers. A trunk, collapsible scenery, lighting equipment, and public address apparatus load into a truck and trailer and off they go for another show.

Mary Elizabeth Cable, Jean Shaw, Marjorie Ekholm, Catherine Cunliffe, Jane Barraugh, Pat Bartlett, Margaret Rathvon, Lua Colkett, and James McAllister are the puppeteers.

Art Wasser and Waldo Elmer pull strings in a scene from Tom Herbert's puppet version of "Rip Van Winkle"

DANCE DRAMA

Powerful, moving in its stirring portrayal of human emotions, was the annual dance drama, "Epoch," presented by the women's physical education department in cooperation with the music and drama divisions, March 5 and 7 in Meany Hall.

The production symbolized the life cycle of hope, struggle and disillusionment, by depicting four historical phases of American life. Sweeping from the dark romanticism of Poe, through the lighter moods of Lanier, into Whitman's interpretation of the dramatic conquest of the west, the cycle ended in the frenzied madness of the present machine age, as pictured by Sandburg.

Lighting effects and costumes were excellent and the symphonic music, composed and conducted by Professor George McKay, provided a rich background.

Weeks of study under the direction of Mary Aid deVries were reflected in the graceful movements of the dancers. For the first time men joined the production.

LaVona Muszynska, Jane Prusoff and Lucille Feist won acclaim as soloists.

ALL-U. VODVIL

GREELEY

HART
ROBBINS

The University Vodvil was the riotous successor to JGV, another campus tradition that was crossed off the social calendar by one vote of the Student Affairs group this year.

Junior Girls' Vodvil was killed because student promoters paid too much attention to down-town attendance, because it was becoming a red-ink liability and because it was no longer a real vaudeville.

The main feature was the Ballet Moose number by the dancing football Floradora men, a take-off on the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo. Encored, they presented their only other shortcoming—a Sally Randish balloon dance. Click Clark, athletic trainer, was the male dancing teacher.

Vodvil stunts were centered around a gala "Last Night on Board Ship" entertainment idea.

And the Vodvil was put on for the students. Hank Greeley, student manager, and Charles W. Lawrence, faculty director, saw that they got their pep, jazz, and college humor.

Eddie Ottum's "Sun Dodgers" orchestra accompanied the ballet and other song and dance numbers.

COACHES

Debating more than forty times during winter quarter, the three University debate teams, the Men's Varsity, Women's Varsity, and Freshmen debaters, met opponents from Oregon, California, and British Columbia.

Wrangling was heard on three questions, "The Limitations of the Power of the Supreme Court," "Third Political Parties," and "Neutrality Legislation."

Debates were non-decisional for the most part. The demonstration method of arguing, rather than the formal, stilted type of debate, was used by University debaters.

Coaches of debate are Prof. F. W. Orr, Horace G. Rahskopf, associate professor of speech, Karl A. Windesheim, assistant professor of speech, and Win W. Bird, instructor of speech.

AWS

In spite of its new policy that members should no longer be required to take part in activities, AWS started new activities and chalked up more affairs as "successful" than ever before.

One of the biggest affairs was the first annual scholarship banquet with Claire Wernecke and Margaret Seamans in charge. Three hundred coed members of honoraries attended. The first AWS scholarship plaque was awarded to Barbara Nowlin, journalism senior.

The dance group was so active this year with its record 150 enrollment that the student director, Marie Hale, was voted a salary. Dancers, who practice an hour each day, entertained at All-University dances.

The embryo lunch room project also made headway. Many students who used to eat their lunches in cars now come to the classroom set aside by Bobbie Arneil and committee.

Then there was the biggest Guest Nite AWS has ever attempted. All the Seventeenth Avenue Greeks entertained the 275 independent students at their firesides. Charlotte Fitton and Fritz Swanson were co-chairmen.

Only one group "went under." The dormant Town Girls was changed into the Leaders' Club, a miniature Matrix Table that honored the outstanding coeds according to their year in school at four luncheons. Janet Riggs was president.

AWS CONCERT

Despite an hour's wait caused by the failure of the campus light system, a standing-room-only crowd heard Paul Robeson, negro baritone, open the AWS concert series.

Robeson's charmingly gracious personality, and the natural ease with which he sings everything from the weird "Canoe Song" from "Sanders of the River" to Russian opera make him one of America's most popular singers. He showed his innate sense of rhythm and instinctive feeling for interpretation which rank him first in spiritual singing.

Lawrence Brown, accompanist, who arranged several of the spirituals, occasionally chimed in with a tenor obbligato to Robeson's smooth baritone. As assisting artist, Ralph Dobbs played two groups of piano solos.

Using an accent that was a combination of the five languages he has mastered, Emil Ludwig told the 2,000 people who came to hear the first lecturer of the AWS season that war would strike again within five years.

After his lecture and a cheese sandwich, Ludwig talked with a group of students about war, Hearst, and the depression.

Many, unable to hear him plainly because of a crippled amplifier, were entertained by the short man's facial antics, his gardenia, and patent leather shoes.

The coming of Admiral Richard E. Byrd to the Civic Auditorium marked three changes for the AWS:

For the first time a lecturer brought along motion pictures to illustrate his talk. For the first time men took the place of coeds as ushers. For the first time a special matinee was scheduled for youngsters who flocked around the hero of the ice-packs.

Byrd told, in words fraught with experience and suffering, of his two months' solitary underground vigil in Little America, where he almost died.

Human interest shots of penguins, dogs, and practical jokesters were featured in the motion pictures.

SERIES

Marc Platoff, a Seattle youth, stole the show the first night that Colonel William de Basil's Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo appeared in Seattle this season. As "Fate" in the ballet's presentation of "Les Presages," Platoff, formerly known as Marcel Plat, showed remarkable ability.

From David Lichine's nicely executed tours en force to the antics of the French poodles; from the old-fashioned dignity of a minuet to the wild abandon of Russian gypsy dances, the ballet again delighted capacity audiences for all three performances.

In the repertoire was included the new ballet, "The Hundred Kisses," which has caused much comment in the art centers of the world. David Lichine and Irina Baranova danced the delicate "Le Spectre de la Rose," made famous before the war by Nijinsky.

When the Associated Women Students signed Artur Schnabel, Austrian pianist, for the series, they thought they were gambling on an artist whose Western fame was dubious.

From Montana, Oregon, Idaho, and Canada, came the adults and collegians—and proved that New York and Berlin did not have an option on Schnabel's popularity.

Personable and eccentric, Schnabel played an all-Beethoven program. And his emphatic, clear delivery of the composer's sonatas, combined with a nobility of feeling, upheld his reputation as the greatest living interpreter of that master composer.

Bringing with him a breath of romance from his birthplace, Verona, Italy, the scene of Romeo and Juliet's tragic love, Nino Martini was the second artist to make his Northwest debut in Meany Hall this year.

Famous as a Metropolitan Opera tenor, idol of radio and screen, Martini is young, handsome, and charmingly natural.

He was friendly to his strange audience, uncertain of his acceptance, but nevertheless confident. The dashing Cavalier of Song showed the versatility of his repertoire by singing first operatic arias, then popular melodies.

STANDARDS

Standards committee underwent an all-round rejuvenation and face-lifting process this year with Bernice Nolting as head operator.

The group was enlarged to include house presidents who now have a voice in the making of rules that govern them.

The old 10:15 ruling that had been treated as a mere formality was relaxed. All girls except freshmen who make a B average are given unlimited late permissions with a graduated scale of late cuts for lower scholarship. But the one o'clock rule was untouched.

As a result Standards has changed from a somewhat mythical campus bugaboo that scolded girls for getting in late to an organization that works hand-in-hand to give them more freedom.

Committee members were Bernice Nolting, chairman; Margaret Seamans, assistant; Ann Hutchinson, Aileen Willis, Jean McCurdy, Helen Hayden, Peggy Brownell, Virginia Kellogg, Vivian Fosse, Kay Madden, and Frances Pendergrast.

WOMEN'S SPORTS COUNCIL

Replacing the Women's Athletic Association which failed to function, the new Women's Sports Council was formed at the end of fall quarter.

The new group has sponsored the women's athletic program, promoted new activities and administered awards. Skiing was added to the program.

Composed of sixteen sports' managers, the council, by its smaller size, has achieved a better working unit than that of the WAA.

WOMEN'S SPORTS

GARHART TROPHY

With strong hard-fighting teams, the Delta Gammas won for the second consecutive year the coveted Garhart Trophy for supremacy in intramural sports.

Donated by Henrietta Garhart, the trophy is awarded to the organization having the most points earned under the allotment system. The name of the winning house is inscribed on the cup which remains in the Women's Physical Education Building.

PING PONG

Mera Hauptmann's smash shots in ping pong proved too much for Aurora Kipperberg during the fall tournament. First place honors were given to Mera.

Another contest was held spring quarter with Mary Sheffield as student manager.

BASKETBALL

Members of the Student Co-op team defeated twenty-two others competing for Garhart trophy points, winning the 1936 women's intramural basketball tournament. Second place went to the Delta Gamma five, and the Chi Omega team was third in the final matches of the season.

GOLF

Whacking out of the sand bunkers onto the green for nearly par golf, the girls played and turned out so successfully for their first intramural golf tournament in years that it is likely to become a permanent event.

Barbara Winn took first place with Elizabeth Finn, the runner-up.

ARCHERY

A constant whizz and whistle was heard at the women's gym this year as archery received constant attention in preparation for an intercollegiate telegraphic meet held recently. Vivian Hickman was in charge of the arrow-shooters.

RIFLE

Winning national recognition, the women's varsity rifle team tied for second and was awarded third place in the nation-wide team competition this year. In local competition the varsity and novice teams both won all matches fired.

Cups went to Rose Berns, Doris Sims, Ramona Henn, Barbara Clement, and Rae Bartley. Other varsity team members were Sigrid Bergerson, Peggy Cline, Bernice Hansen, Dora Hohl, Phyllis Dearborn, Ruth Johnson, and Gene Vradenburg.

BADMINTON

Showing a steady ability to smash the shuttlecock over the net, Pat Hagman and Howard Garvin took first place honors in the badminton mixed doubles tournament, inaugurated here last spring.

Using a smashing service which defied return, Dorothy Olson took first-place honors in the open singles tourney this fall. Forty girls turned out for the game, which is quickly becoming a best seller on the sports program.

BASEBALL

Sliding into the home plate in the nick of time, a Student Co-op decided a close game in favor of her team over the Delta Gammas by a score of 18-17 in the baseball tournament last spring.

With greater enthusiasm and with more girls participating than in previous years, the season was successful. Mary Ann Wickersham was manager.

VOLLEYBALL

The Huskettes, smashing the ball over the net with a conclusive swing, were first-place winners in volleyball last fall.

No required practices resulted in more teams turning out. Louise Ingalls was student manager.

TENNIS

Tennis balls flew fast and thick at the open tennis meet last spring when Ariel Stout, seventh ranking woman player in the United States, took first honors. Marjorie Nelson, Chi O, took first-place honors for her house. The DGs won the doubles intramural tourney with Olive Robertson and Alice Ogden representing them.

SWIMMING

Breaking her own coast records in the 100 and 40 yard breast stroke, Betty Meacham starred in the third annual women's telegraphic swimming meet, winter quarter.

Miss Meacham was high-point winner in the intramural meet this fall. Aurora Kipperberg was second and Nancy Harvey, third. Winning teams were Aces, first, and Comets, second. Both groups were composed of Independents.

SOCIAL REVIEW

By ANNABEL LEE BIGGLE

Mary Jane Hilien at the Mortar Board Fashion Show.

Mary Jane Spinner, Rae Crandell, and Lila Mae Soeneke modeling smart styles for Mortar Board.

House lights fade to dimness, an expectant hush comes over the audience and on the screen is flashed "Sketches of the 1936 University Social Season."

Shiny pledge pins sparkle over the hearts of dancers at the Oval Club football dance at the Meany for all house "nuggets." Scenes change and theatregoers watch queenly coed mannequins parading in the newest fall fashions at the annual Mortar Board show at the Meany. Goblins pop into the scene as the camera shows brief glimpses at house informals.

Then a blaze of light as the film unfolds Greek Row with "welcome grad" signs and shots of alumni dancing at the Olympic. There's a fadeout and the audience is with another group of dancers at the Compass and Chart Informal at Inglewood, then as the camera speeds on, it catches formal-clad coeds and their escorts at Varsity Ball.

Shots of an "insane asylum," the gangplank of a "liner," all the lights and color of the "big tent" and even a moment in the "hill billy" country whisk the audience to some of the Greek dances. Lighted trees and homeward-bound students are caught as the film slips on to catch members of the Monques Club inaugurating their last-night-of-school party at the Sand Point Golf Club.

Scenes shift to January and the cameraman drops in on dancers at the annual Engineers' Mixer to show closeups of ASUW candidates making their spiels. The film again unrolls on Greek Row parties where a highland fling is in progress and mustached gamblers are conducting games of faro. There's a unique shot of a horse in the middle of a dance floor at a "dude ranch" fair.

Ruby Keeler, Jean Parker, Dick Powell and other movie stars flash by in closeups but they're only student counterparts chosen to grace the YWCA waffle breakfast. Dozens of feet of film show girls piling up stacks of waffles before hungry men or taking off their aprons to do a little dancing with the guests. Then there are some quick behind-the-scene glimpses of preparations to initiate formal fraternity house dinners.

From a vantage point behind a huge oar, the audience next gazes down on dancers at the Varsity Boat Club dance at the Olympic. Then there's a closeup of the flushed face of a coed as she pays a taxi driver—it's Tolo night. Sons of Man-Mountain Dean! murmurs the audience but the cameraman just caught some candid shots of finalists in the sophomore beard contest at the Sigma Delta Chi-Malamute Mixer.

There's a glimpse at Cupid as the film picks up guests at the Engineers' Informal and the Phalanx tea dance. Then the camera moves on to pick up Greeks playing hosts to independents at AWS guest night. Through a life-preserver, the audience joins "ocean-goers" at the Junior Prom, then speeds on to catch pretty feminine faces around the Matrix Table. There are glimpses of Cadet Ball dancers, moonlight canoists at gay May picnics then on the screen flashes, "The End."

Charlotte Fitton, chairman of the successful AWS guest night.

Nearly 700 formal-clad coeds and their escorts glided to the strains of "Dancing at Varsity Ball," December 13 at the annual all-University formal in the Civic Auditorium.

Jet-black musical notes against a background of creamy columns and matching bands of cream and black encircling the balcony were inspired by the theme, "Rhythm Moderne."

Wine-colored draperies enclosing the dance-floor, a canopy of black and white streamers and colored spotlights made the huge auditorium surprisingly cozy. Especially effective was Tommy Thomas' orchestra in its setting of black and white.

Programs were of black suede with profiles of a boy and girl etched in silver on the cover.

"Dancing at Varsity Ball," an original composition written by Allen Blair and Alice Butterworth, was introduced as the theme song; and for the first time the music was broadcast over the NBC network.

Dinners at twenty fraternity houses preceded the dance and a ball dating bureau operated.

JUNIOR PROM

When the S. S. Junior Prom cleared Seattle docks from the Trianon Ballroom, on its "Transatlantic Journey" to Venice, Italy, March 5, 450 couples were aboard.

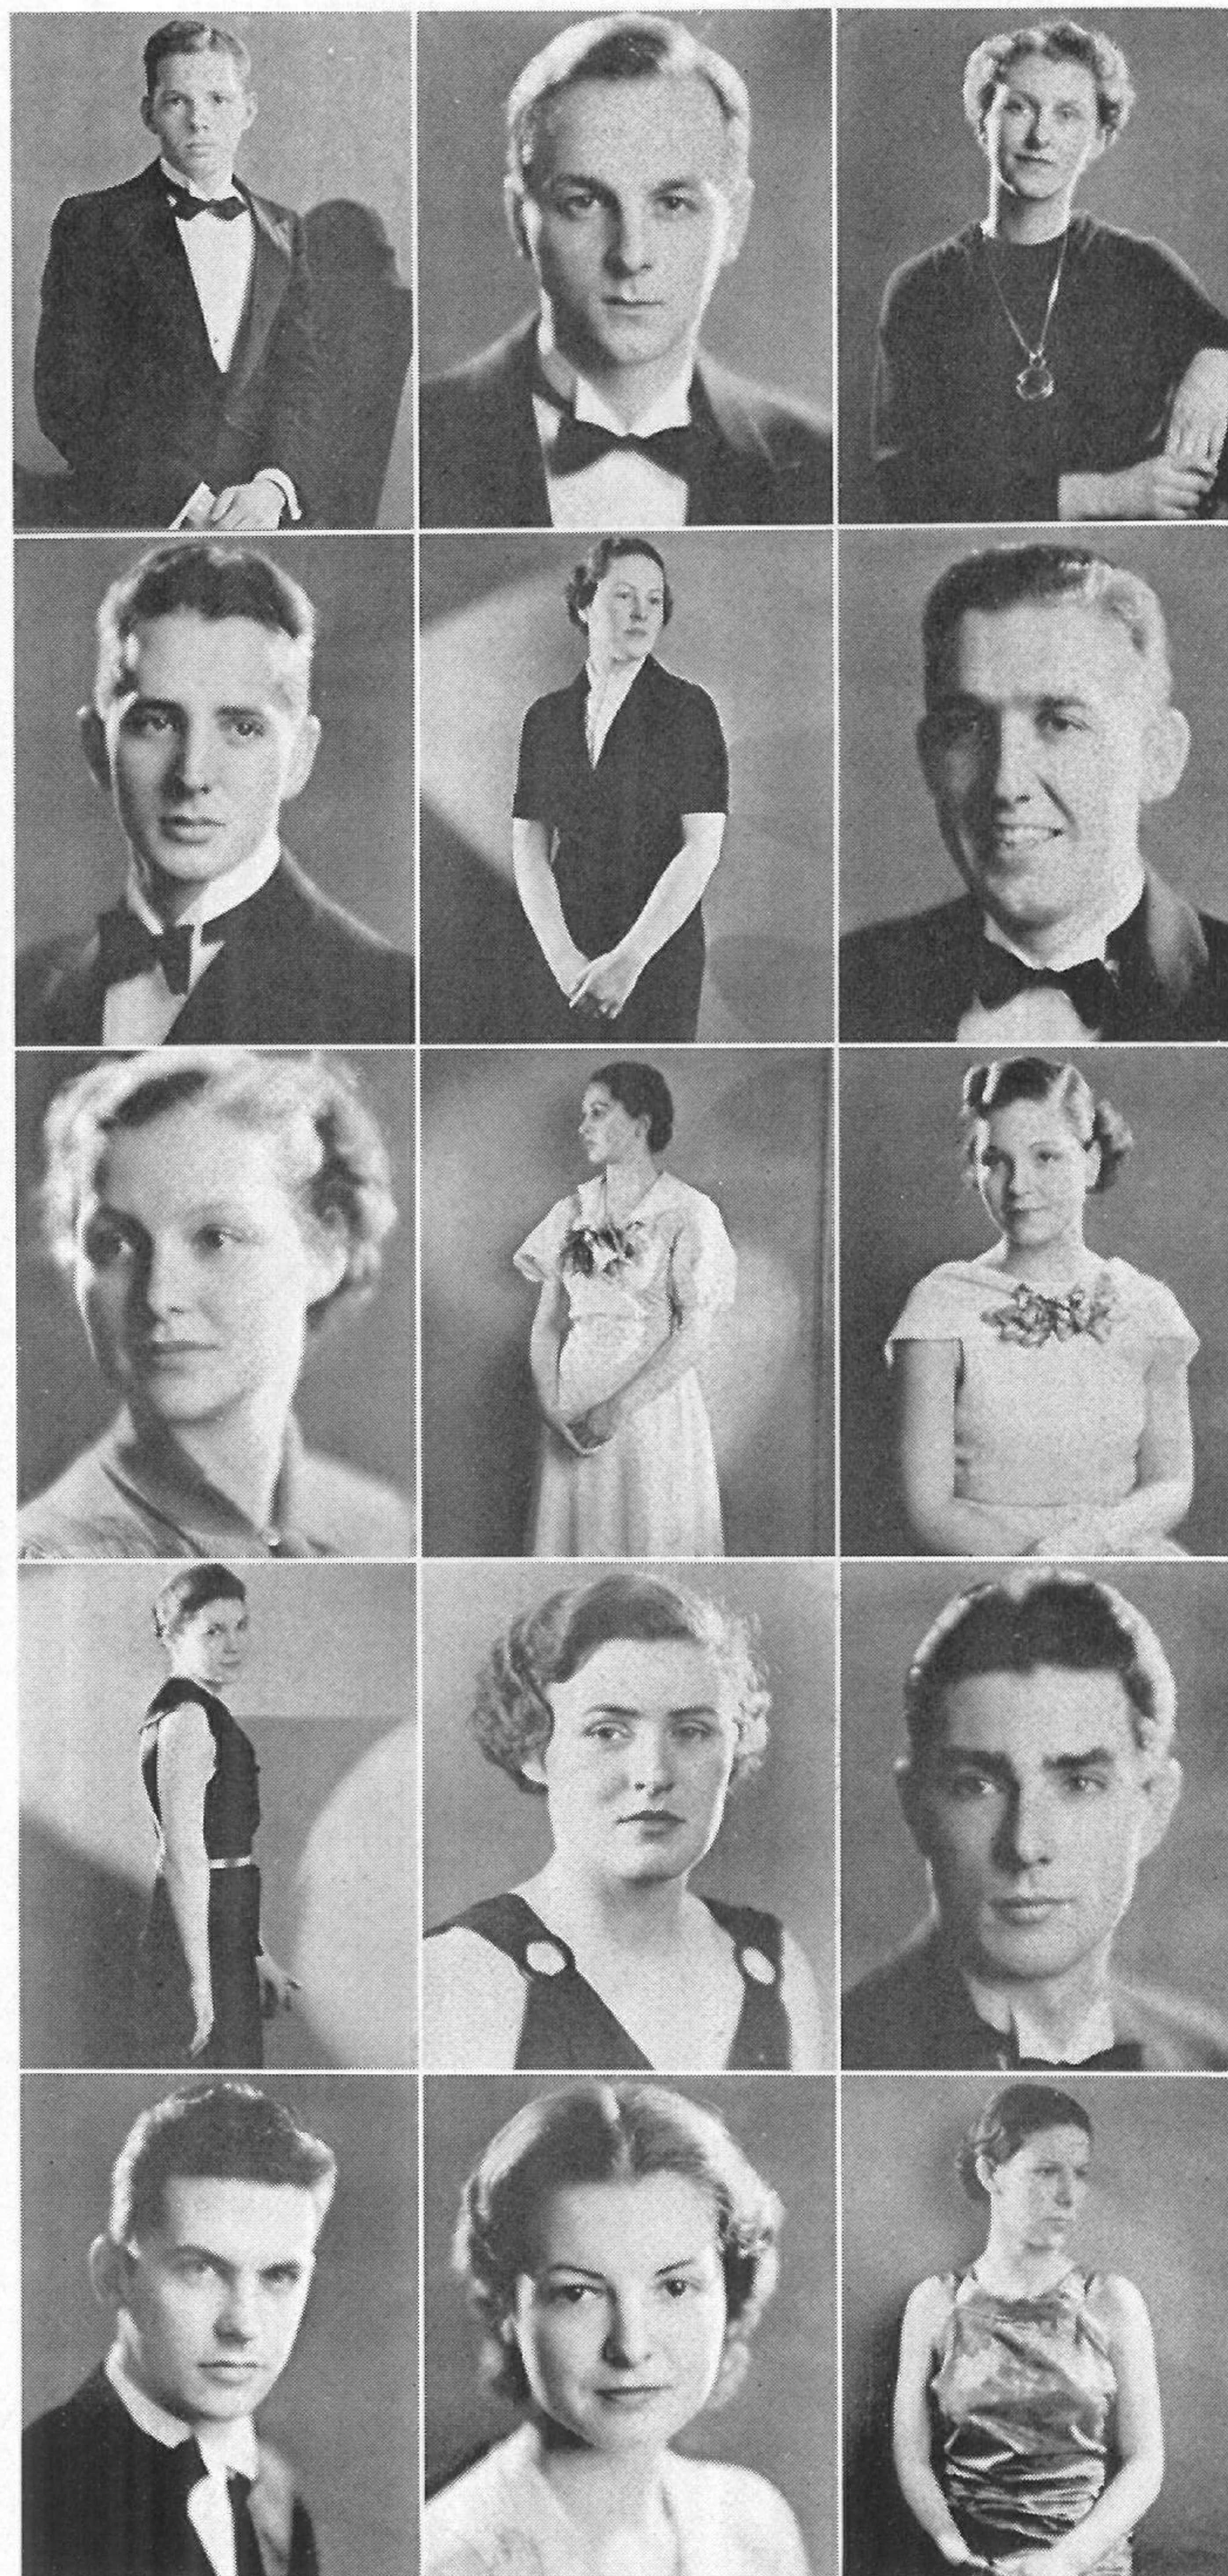

It was a grand voyage with none of the inconveniences of passports, luggage or mal de mer.

Stars twinkled down upon coeds in filmy formals and their escorts in conventional black and white as they danced on the spacious "deck." Red and green lights marked the port and starboard sides of the big liner and life preservers and pillars disguised as masts added to the naval theme. The twelve-piece ship's orchestra, conducted by Tex Howard, was enthroned in the stern while the hall's balcony became a pilot house. Nattily uniformed ship's employees worked in the baggage (check) room.

Programs were of real white leather with a picture of the boat emblazoned in gold and green on the cover. A small gold anchor was attached to the white silk cord and inner fly leaves were of gold foil.

CADET BALL

Transforming the Civic Auditorium into a miniature West Point complete with "flirtation walk" and the other fixings, Scabbard and Blade, national military honorary, presented their annual Cadet Ball, all-University formal, April 17.

The Ball was dedicated to Capt. Edgar Gregory because of his work with the rifle team and his constant efforts in promoting the welfare of the campus military honorary.

Pledges to Scabbard and Blade were announced during intermission.

Gov. and Mrs. Clarence D. Martin headed the "honored guests" lists.

More than 300 couples danced to the strains of Tommy Thomas and his Romance Time Orchestra.

Programs were made of black, smooth leather with a gold border and the gold Scabbard and Blade crest.

SPORTS PROMENADE

To the music of Anson Weeks' 17-piece orchestra, scores of couples danced in the blossom-decked Civic Auditorium, May 18, 1935, at the first all-University "Sports Promenade."

"Dancin' with Anson" ushered in a new tradition—having a nationally famous band for a University ball.

Blossoms entwined through trellises, ivy-covered walls and crepe-paper streamers carried out the "Blossom-time" motif while a yellow tropical moon shone down on dancers.

Guests of honor were Poughkeepsie-bound crewmen, having their last "night out" before entraining for the east.

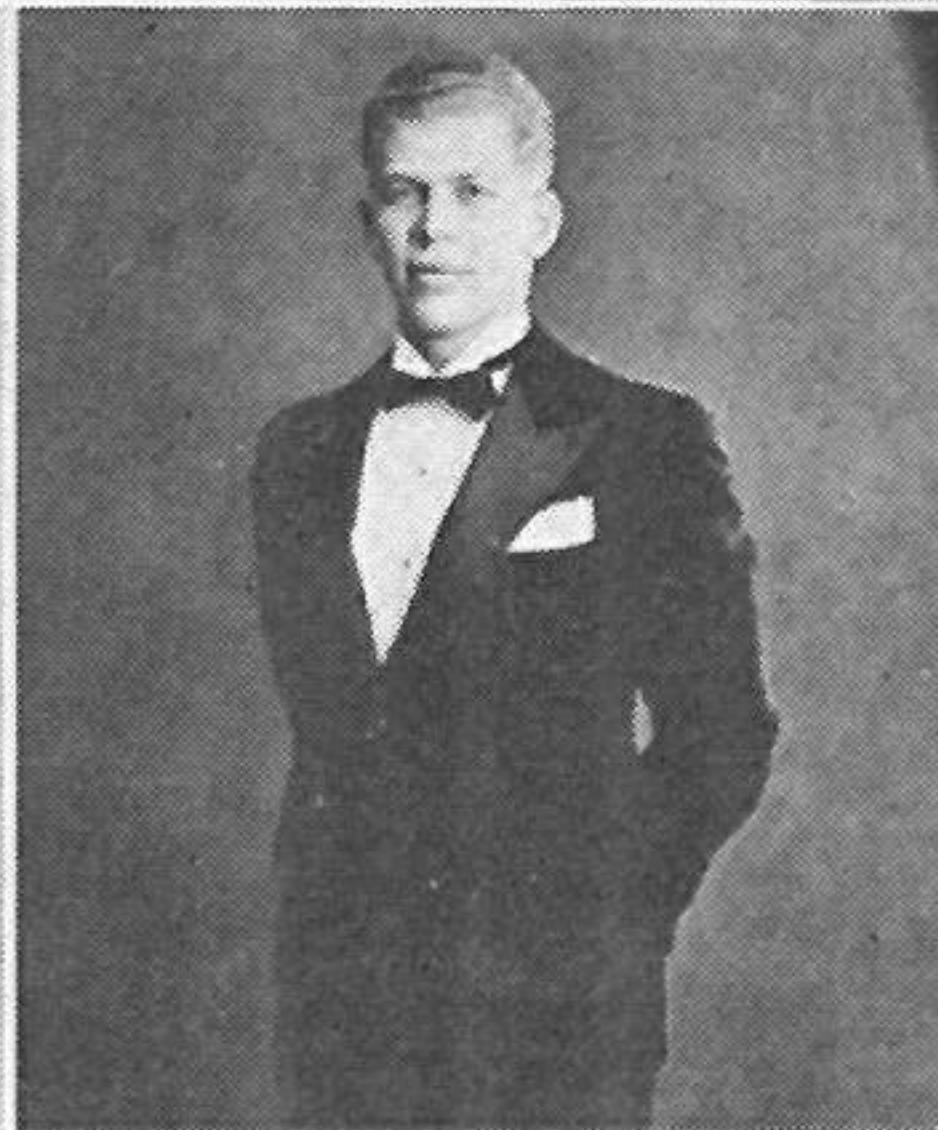

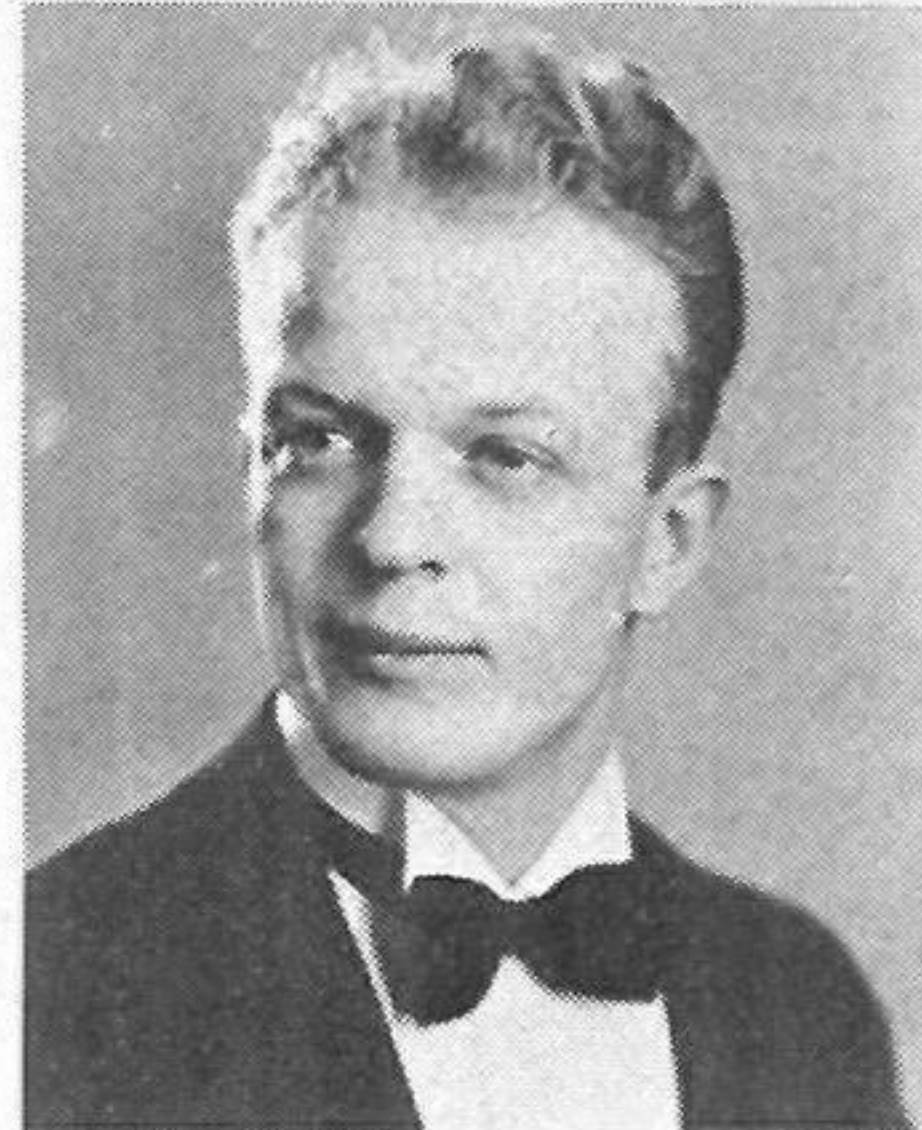

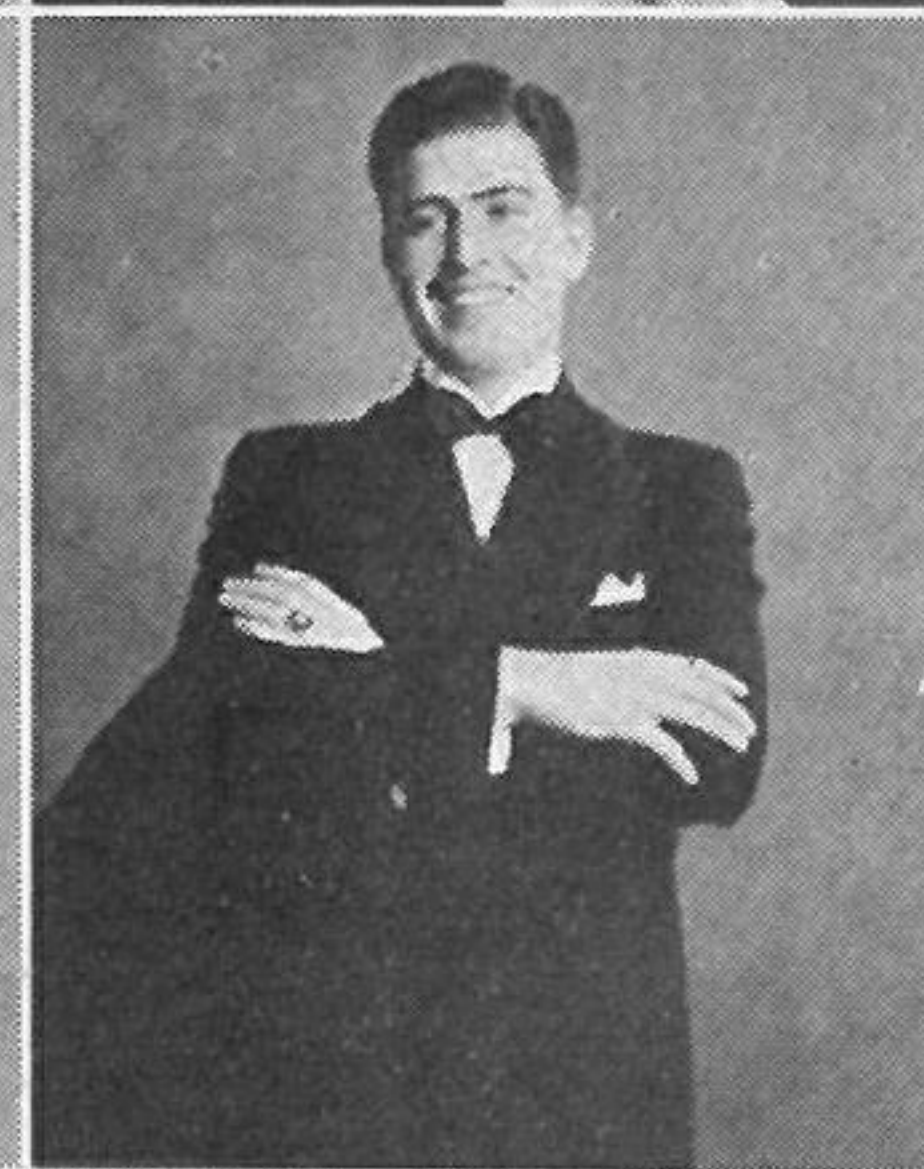

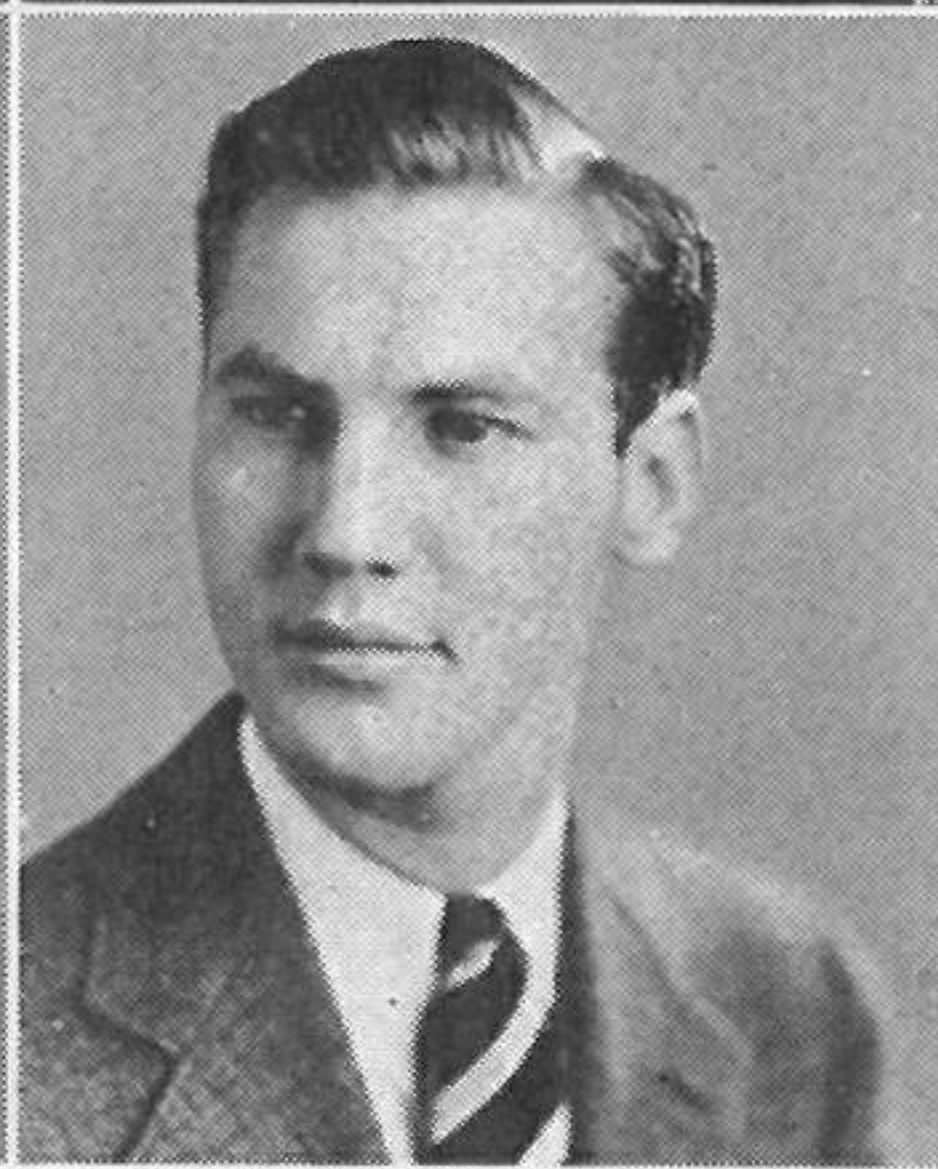

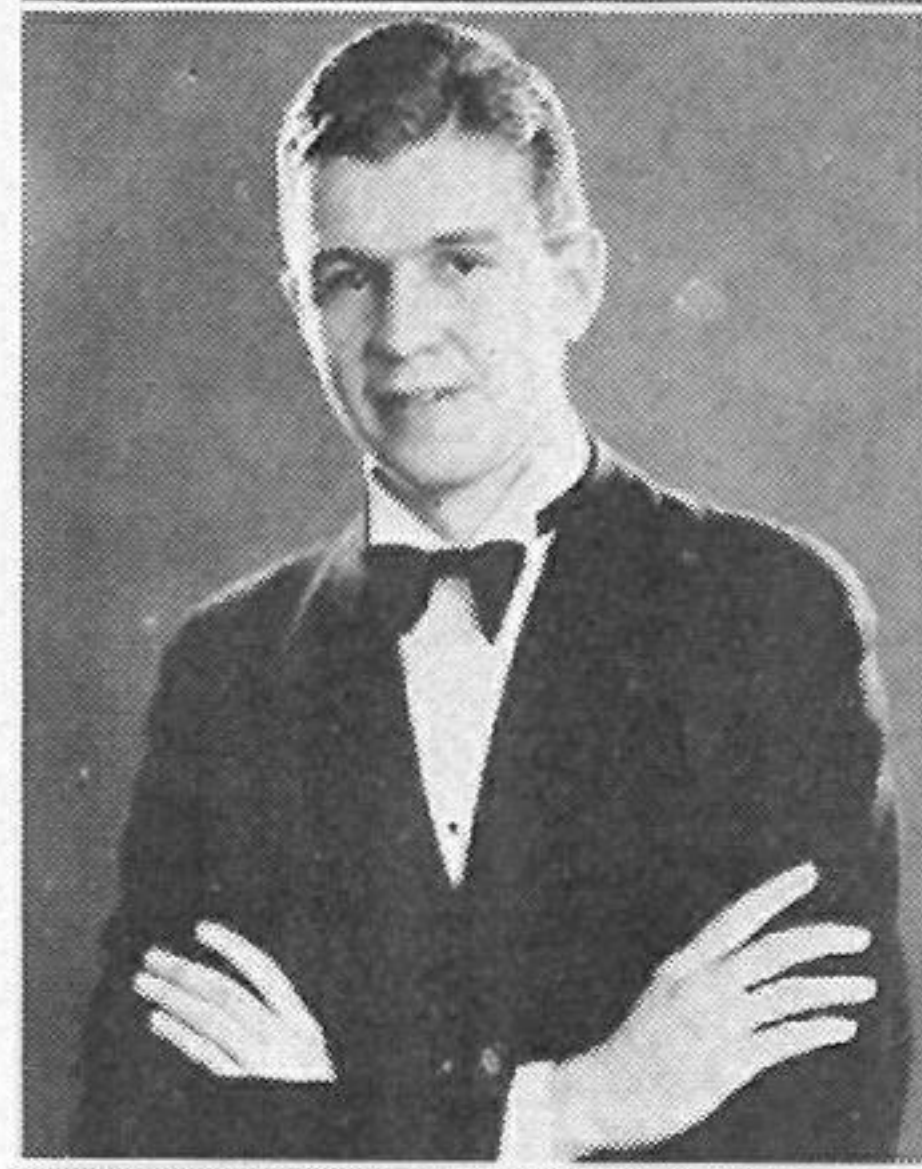

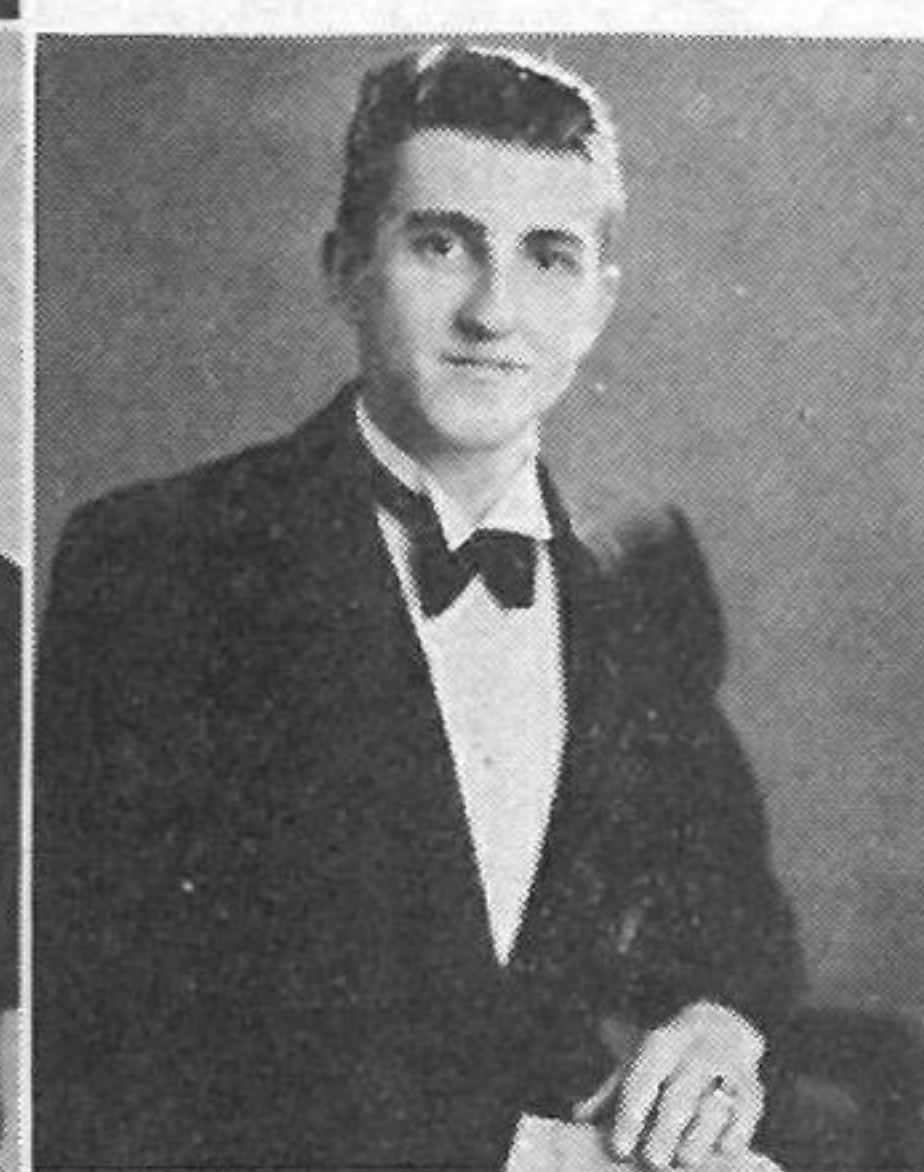

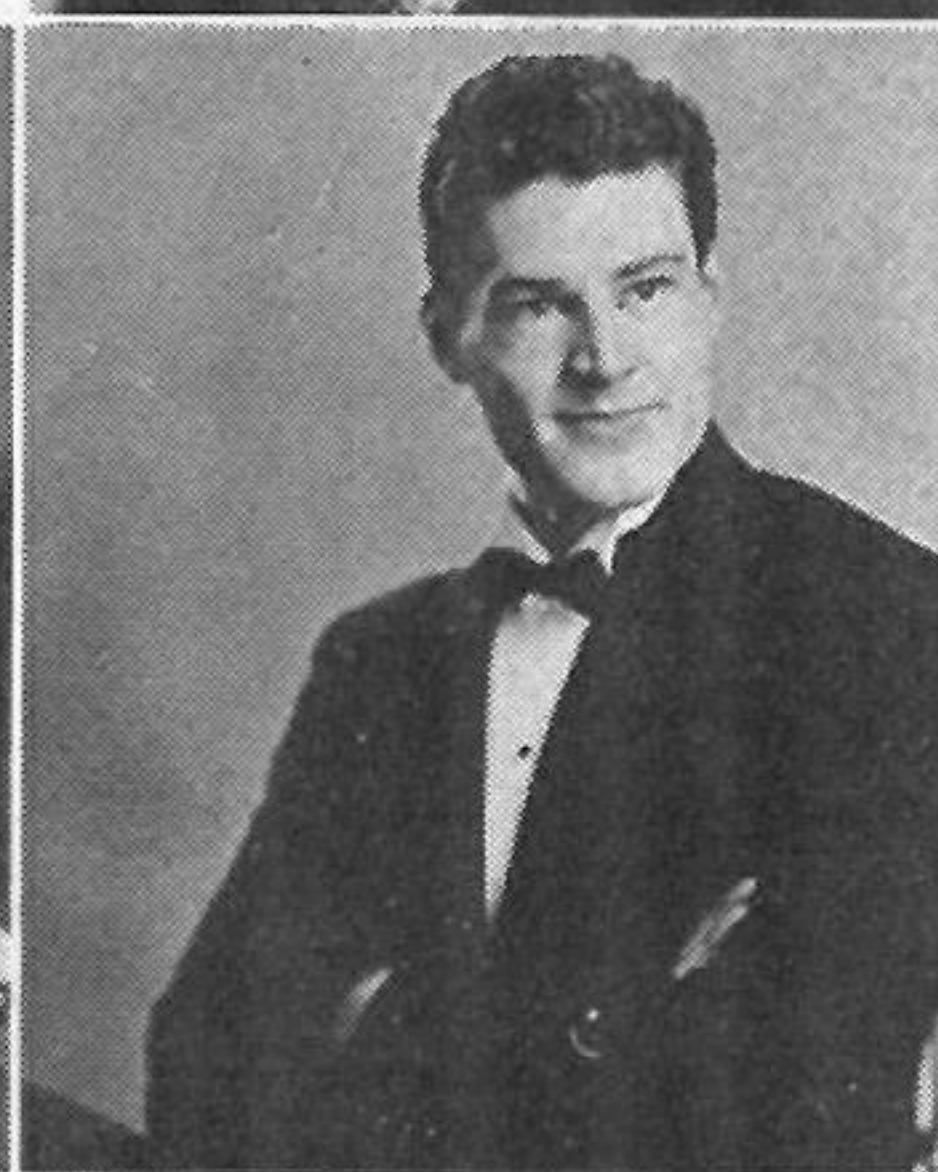

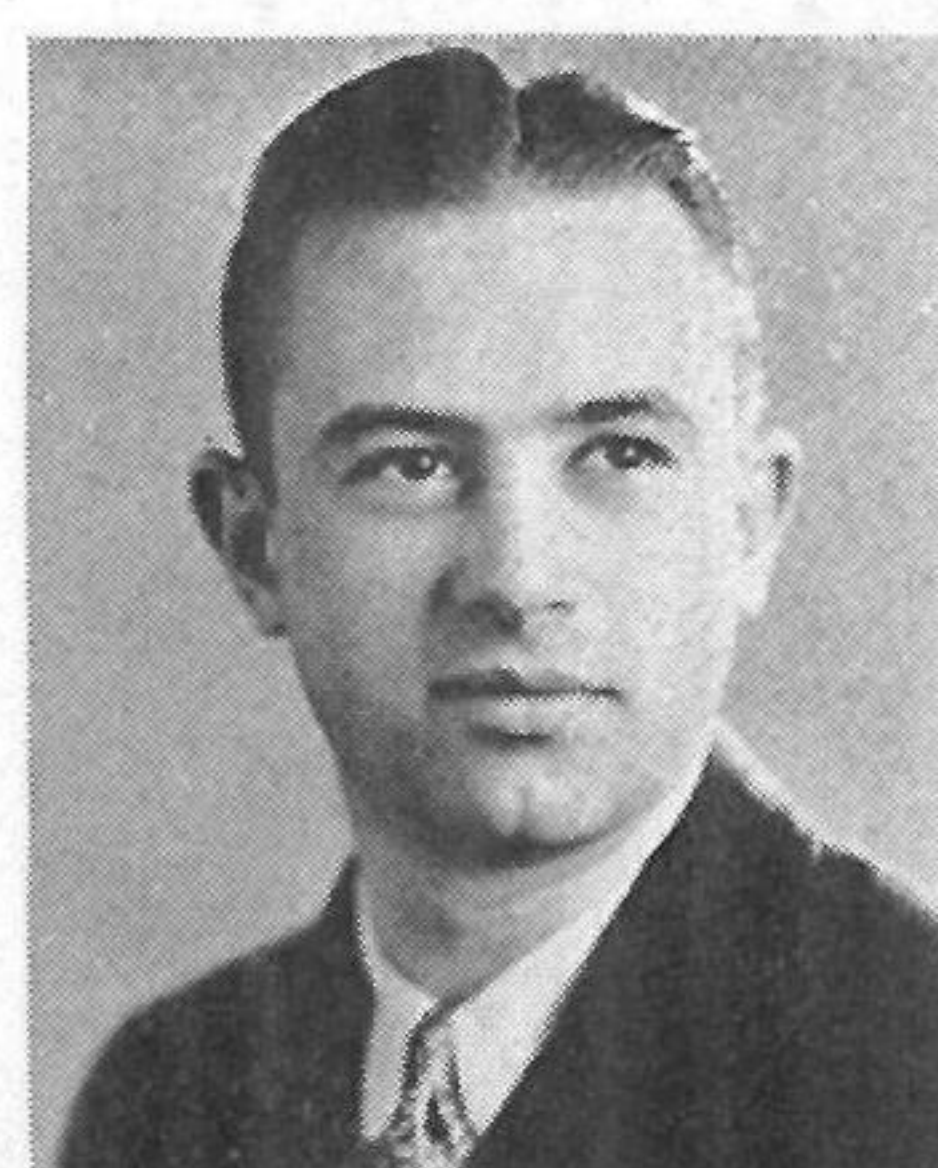

During intermission, Miss Janet Riggs and Miss Jane Brotherton were announced as co-holders of the 1935 junior queen title. Oval Club pledging shared the spotlight.

Programs were of Japanese rice paper with covers of blossoms against a green background.

Featured entertainers from Anson's orchestra were Kay St. Germaine, torch-singer, and Frankie Saputo of "Man on the Flying Trapeze" fame.

TOLO

Scores of males zipped up their billfolds extra tight January 24th, then strolled nonchalantly downstairs to meet impatient girl friends, waiting to do the honors on the once-a-year "reverse treat" night, sponsored by Mortar Board.

And the girls did "shell out" in a grand manner, taking their dates to dinner, to the Oregon-Washington basketball game, then to the big Tolo dance at the Olympic, where dancing was enjoyed in the Spanish ballroom to Jules Buffano's band and in the Bowl to Dick Jergen's.

Programs were of black suede in the shape of mortar boards.

ENGINEERS' INFORMAL

Cupid, chubby herald of love, reigned supreme at "Cupid's Cotillion," annual Engineers' Informal, staged Valentine's Day in the Senator Ballroom.

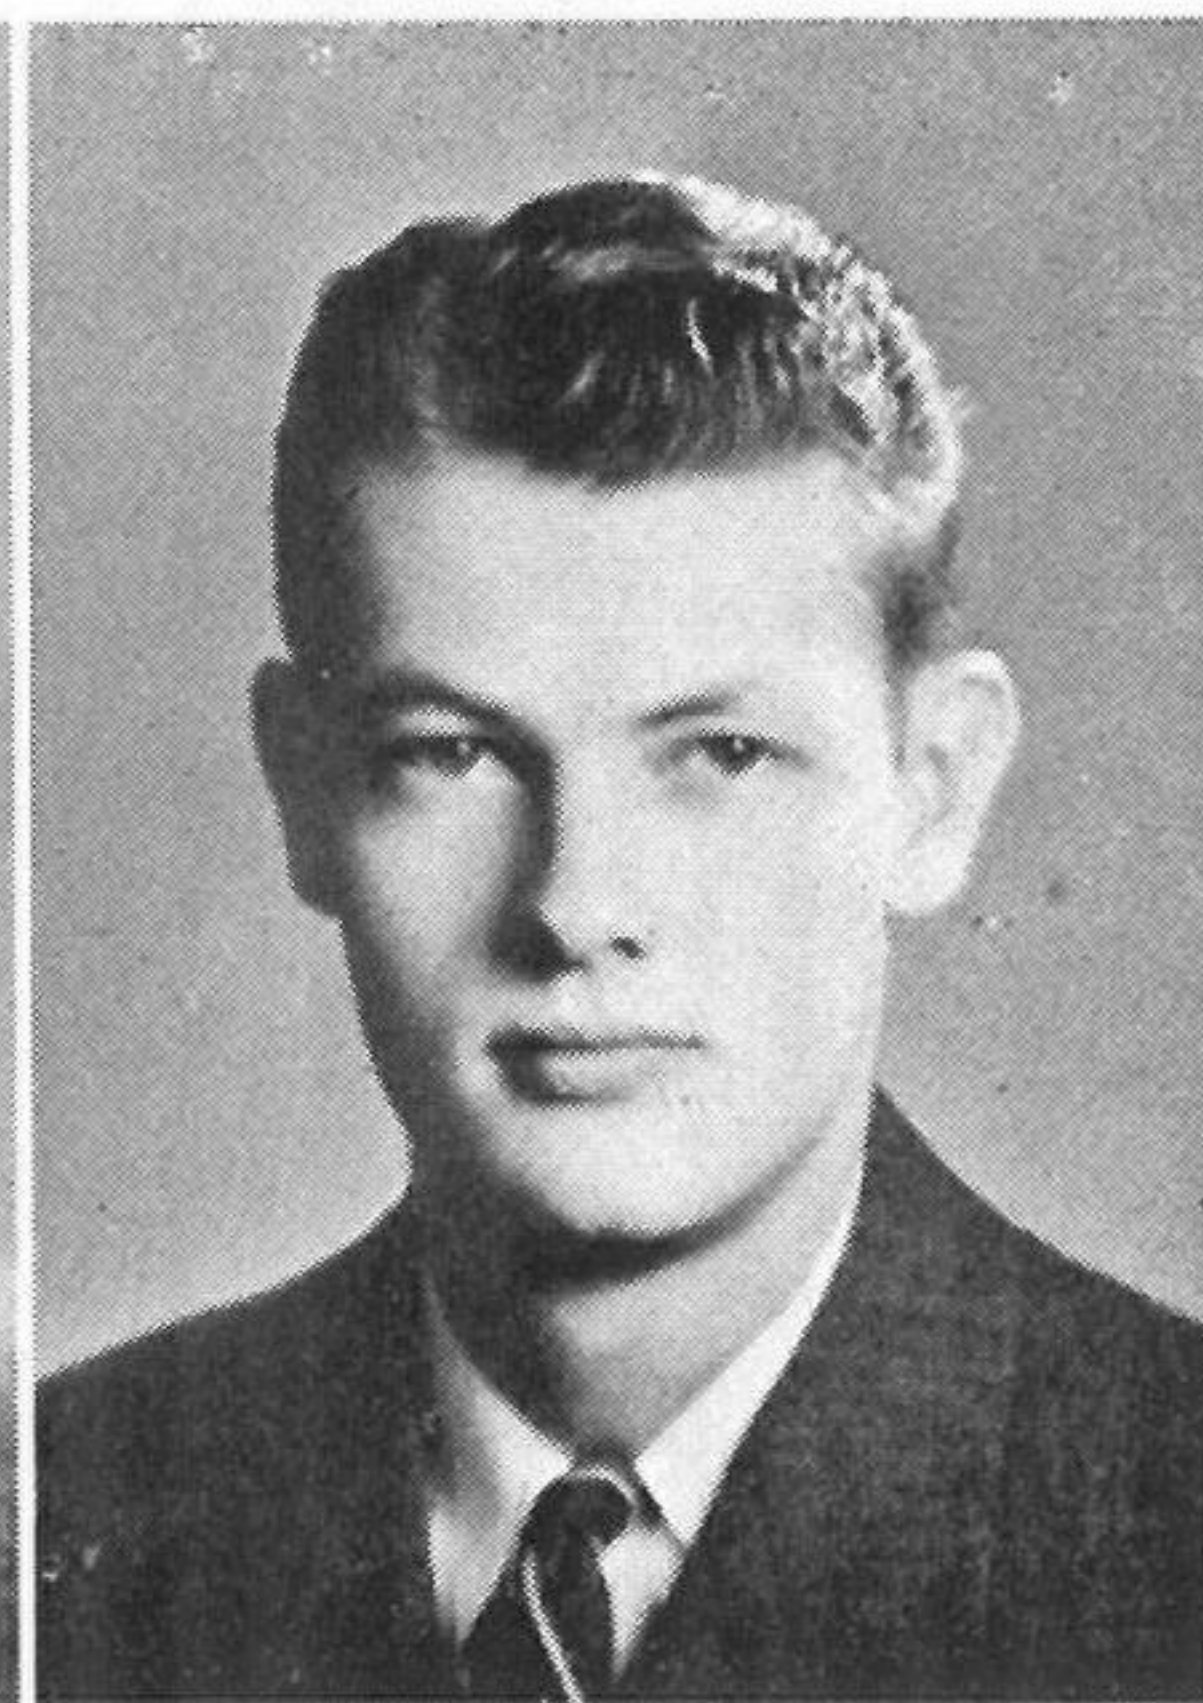

Guests' photographs were snapped as they entered through a gigantic three-dimension heart, and the finished pictures were then framed in valentines as souvenirs.

Herman, campus mascot, was there, illuminated by neon lights as he pumped blood through his heart by an ingenious device.

Tiny arrows, encased in red imitation leather quivers, when pulled out, revealed dancing partners.

When guests of Compass and Chart entered the Spanish Ballroom of the Olympic February 21, for the honorary's annual dinner dance, they were accorded the glittering reception given visiting "gold braid" dignitaries, passing through lanes of uniformed men standing stiffly at attention.

During intermission, Capt. H. B. Riebe awarded citations to members for outstanding work in naval activities.

Huge wall murals depicting the "Battle of Jutland" and the "Battle of Lake Erie" lent navy traditions to the ball setting. Programs were of blue suede with the crest of the chapter in gold.

POCOCK

CREW . By BOB GREEN

To a master craftsman and a true sportsman is this section dedicated. George Pocock is known to members of the rowing fraternity not only as a skilled shell builder, but as one who holds high the ideals of true sportsmanship. Washington oarsmen are indeed fortunate to enjoy such close contact with this man. His quiet philosophy and humor are a source of inspiration and enjoyment to all who know him.

Three straight victories over California early in the season got the 1935 campaign off to a flying start. Rowing on the Oakland estuary the Huskies again completely dominated the Pacific Coast regatta by bringing home overwhelming victories in the frosh and jayvee races, and nosing out a strong boat load of national title defenders in a spectacular varsity race. Another frosh crew which was destined to go on and successfully defend Washington's Poughkeepsie title started the day off by running wild in the first race. The Bolles-coached eight far outclassed the Bear cubs and easily outdistanced them to cross the finish line over five lengths ahead.

Even more impressive was the jayvee victory. The California boat was composed largely of members of their previous year's national varsity champs. Past performances held little significance to the boat load of fighting Huskies who finished many lengths ahead of the Bears. They gained an early lead and added to it at will throughout the contest.

The varsity race provided spectators with one of the most thrilling finishes ever witnessed on the estuary. Washington's 1934 national freshmen champions rowed intact to win their first varsity race. A final drive that the Californians could not match brought the Huskies from behind as the crews neared the finish line. Their margin of victory was less than a quarter of a length.

POUGHKEEPSIE

Three Washington crews invaded the Poughkeepsie regatta with "Sweep the Hudson" as their motto. Although unable fully to carry out this aim, they did keep the frosh title and added the jayvee crown to the year's winnings. In the other race the Washington crew that rowed as the jayvee against California lost out in the varsity race after leading throughout the major part of the four-mile contest. They could not rally to meet the terrific finish of the Cornell and California eights who battled it out for first place. California won by scant feet.

The Husky's all-sophomore crew, this time rowing as the jayvee, added to their record of three straight victories in as many races. One change was made in the personnel of the boat. Winslow Brooks replaced George Morry as cox.

For the frosh and the jayvee boats, the season ended with this race, but the varsity went on to Long Beach for the sprint races.

LONG BEACH

It took an Olympic record breaking crew to nose out the Huskies at Long Beach. In fact both Washington and California surpassed the course record in the final heat of the series. As in the Poughkeepsie race, the Bears came from behind to take the lead from the Huskies. Their margin of victory was less than a deck length, with Washington finishing second in a blanket finish that found no open water between the four entrants.

LIGHTWEIGHTS

In his second year as 150-pound crew coach, Gordon "Polly" Parrott turned out one of the finest lightweight squads Washington has ever had. Several veterans from the previous year's outfit, supplemented by sophomore recruits, gave him a fine group from which he developed his combinations. They lost their only race in the regatta at the Vancouver Rowing Club's meet at Vancouver. After winning from the Canadians earlier in the season, the 150-pounders dropped a close race when they visited their more experienced rivals in the final race of the season. The Huskies also turned in an overwhelming victory over the Oregon State's newly formed varsity.

Captain Les Hollenbeck was awarded the Yale inspiration trophy.

BOLLES

FROSH

A fine freshman eight brought home another national championship to Washington. Consistently outshining all comers, the Husky frosh, coached by Tom Bolles, are fast gaining national prestige in their field.

Rowing against crews heralded by eastern critics as the East's finest in years, Washington's boat again led the field to a five-length victory. Their presence in the 1936 turnouts should aid much in the quest for Olympic honors.

Long hours of toil in all kinds of weather and doing all kinds of work sums up the duties of the managerial staff. Out of the large group that start as freshmen managers only two reach the top. The voluntary service of this group is of immeasurable value to the coaches and oarsmen in lessening their burdens. No finer type of service could be given to one's school. Three years of efficient effort rewarded Jim Mueller and John Laughlin with the 1936 senior and senior frosh managerships. Bob Edwards and Bob Lund took over the duties for the 1936 term.

FOOTBALL, 1935

By LEE JACOBI

Never in the history of Washington football has a more versatile team been assembled. An experienced, talented backfield behind a rugged, tough line is an adequate description—a hip-swinging, left-handed, right halfback in all-coast By Haines, a brilliant field general and superb kicker in Elmer Logg, the “drivingest” half-back since the days of George Wilson in Jimmie Cain and a worthy successor to “Socko” Paul Sulkowsky in Ed Nowogroski. The line included two three-year veterans in Captain Dan Lazarevich and Ted Markov, the brilliant Chuck Bond at right tackle and Jack MacKenzie at left. Abe Shper, selected by Babe Hollingberry to play in the East-West all-star game in San Francisco on New Year’s Day, was at right guard and Max Starcevich, named on several all-coast teams, at left guard. At center was John Wiatrak, big, rugged, 200-pound Chicago boy.

Yet this team, potentially Pacific Coast Champions, lost three games! At the same time they scored more yards and more first downs than any of their opponents. In almost every game Lady Luck turned her back on the 1935 Huskies. Time after time, with victory just within reach, Washington would get a bad break and what should have been a great team emerged as a mediocre one with five wins and three defeats.

WASHINGTON 14; IDAHO 0

After only thirteen days of practice a heavy-lidded, under-conditioned University of Washington Husky marched out onto Stadium turf to face the first University of Idaho team under Coach Ted Bank. The game started out at a slow pace, and the largest crowds in opening day history had neither thrills, spills nor excitement to liven them up.

The ball was on Idaho’s 46-yard line late in the second quarter was given to “Bender” By Haines on an end run. The nimble-footed Haines twisted and squirmed his way for 46 yards to the goal line and pay dirt. Then things quieted down again and the scoring was over until the middle of the fourth quarter when Ed Nowogroski was given the ball on a weak-side reverse and with the aid of perfect interference romped 31 yards to score.

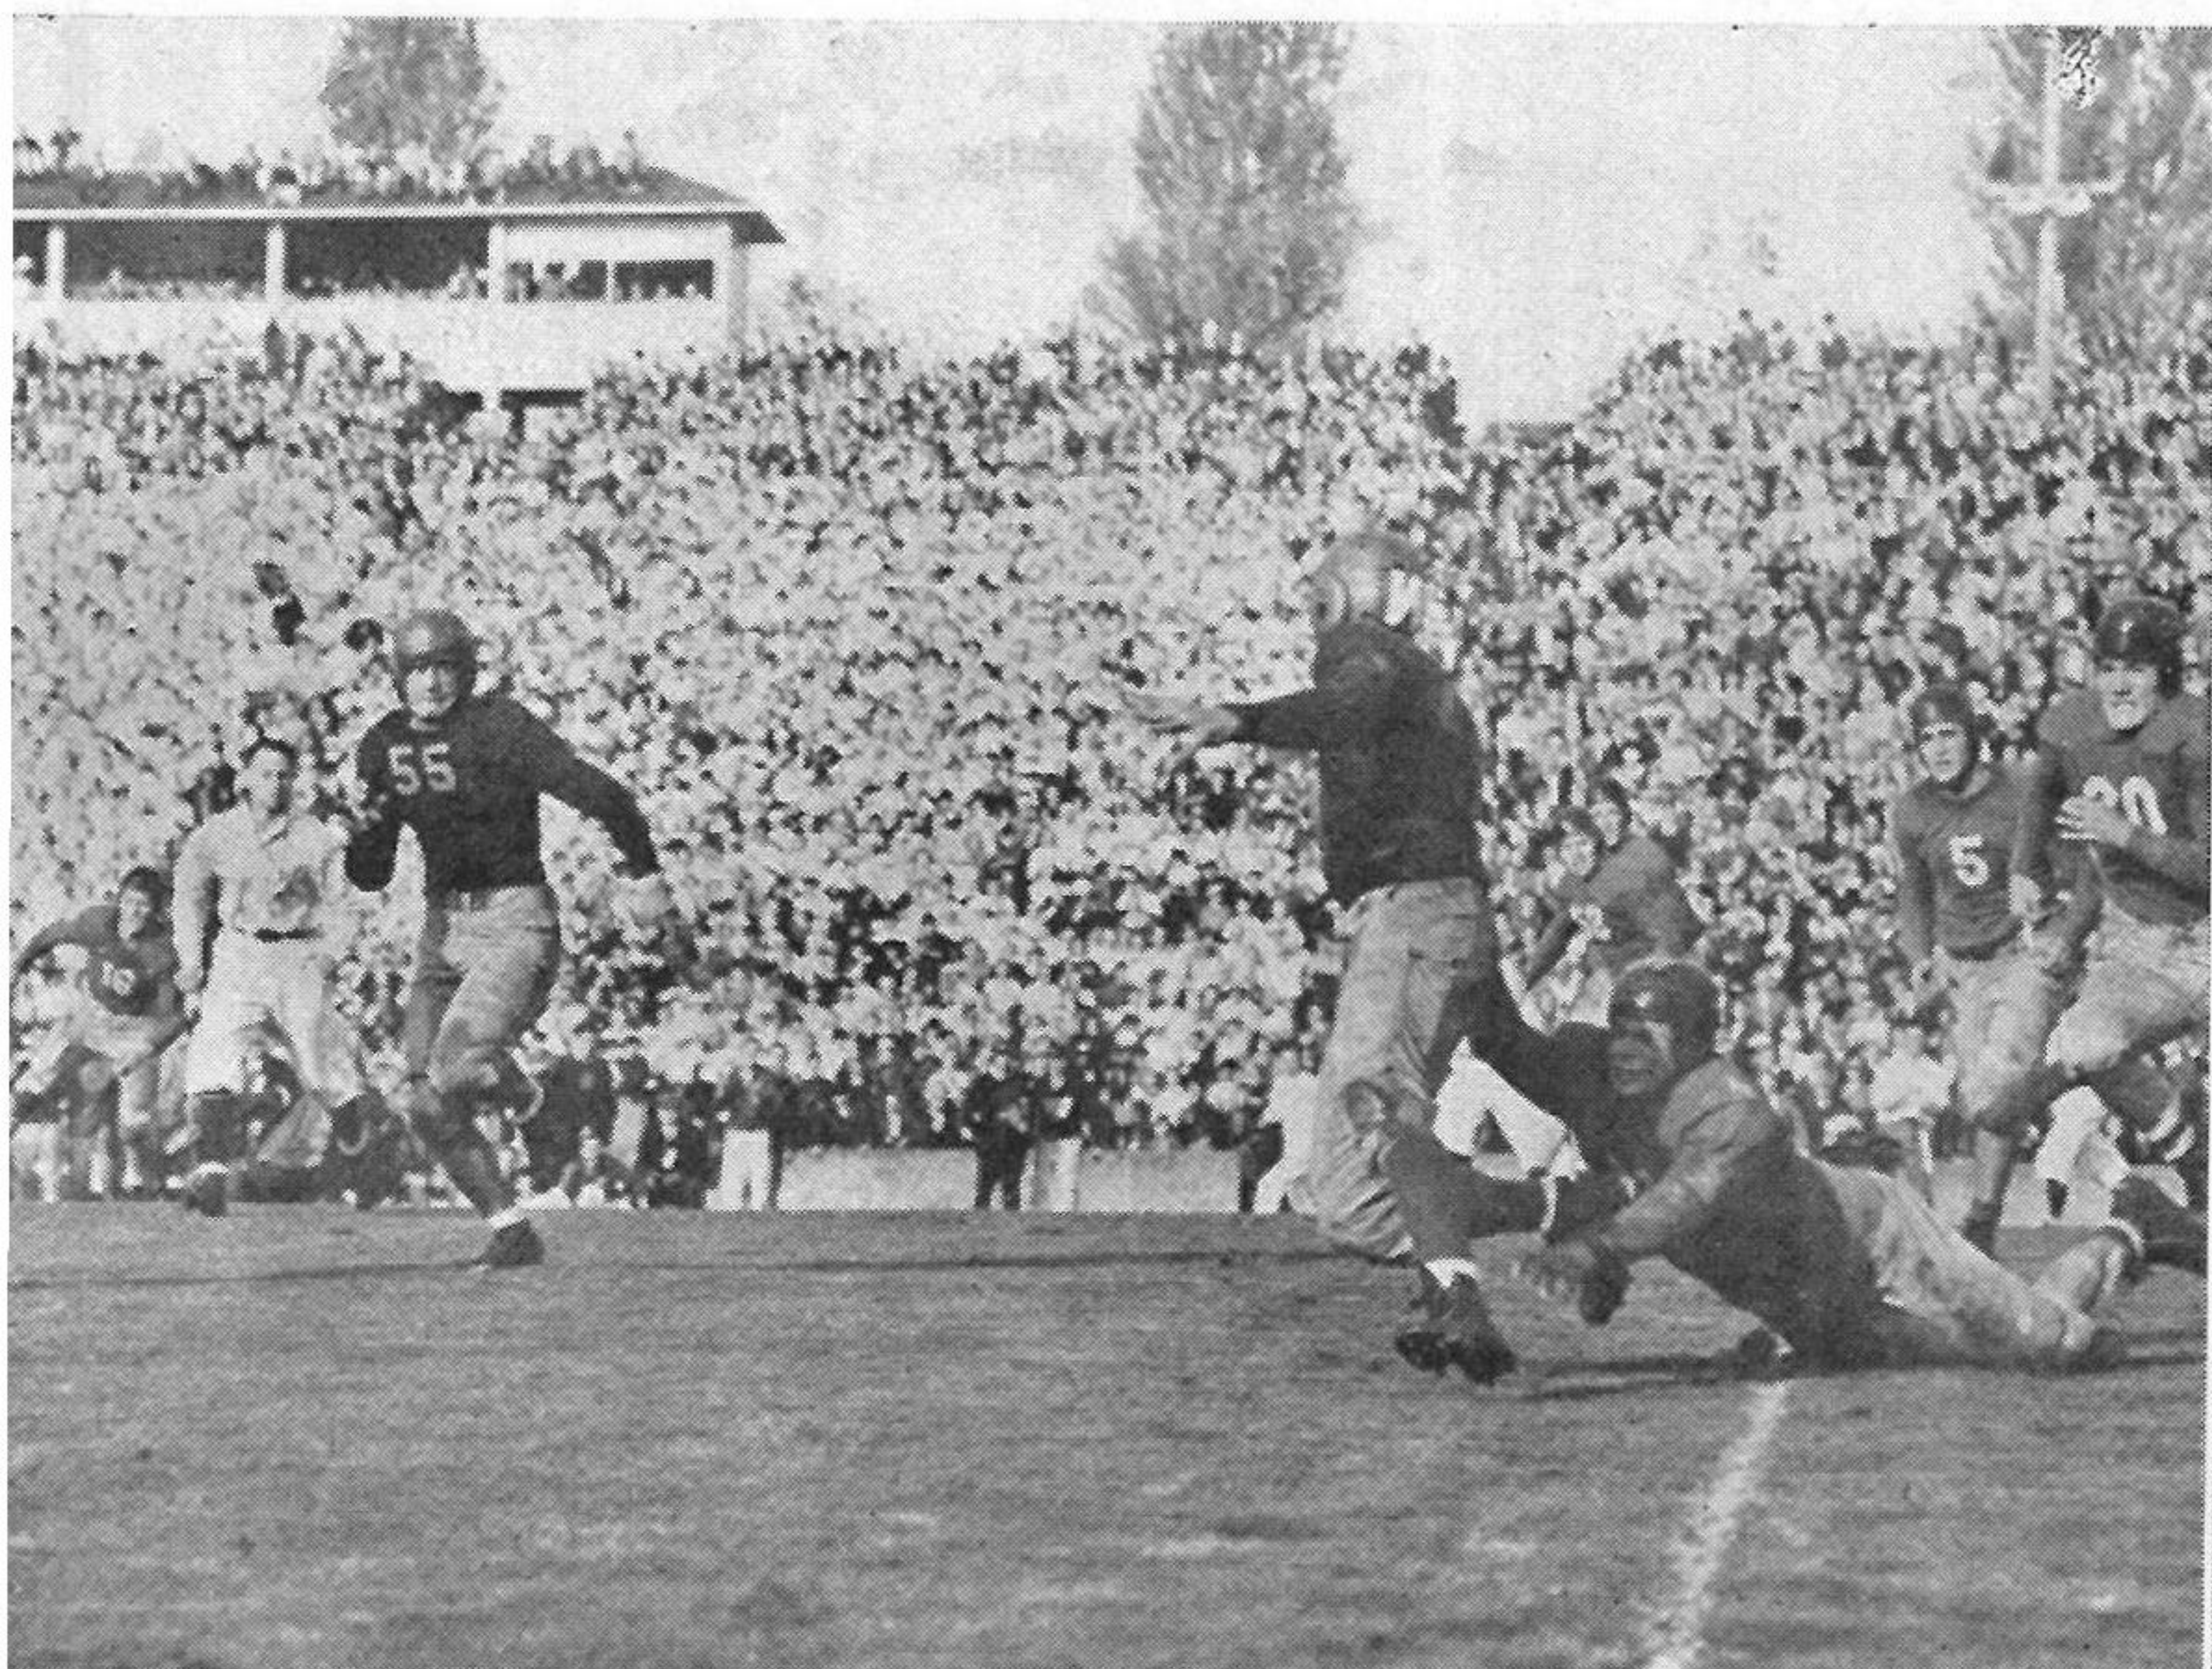

Nowogroski makes a short gain against Idaho. Logg and Shper (55) are blocking for “Big Ed.”

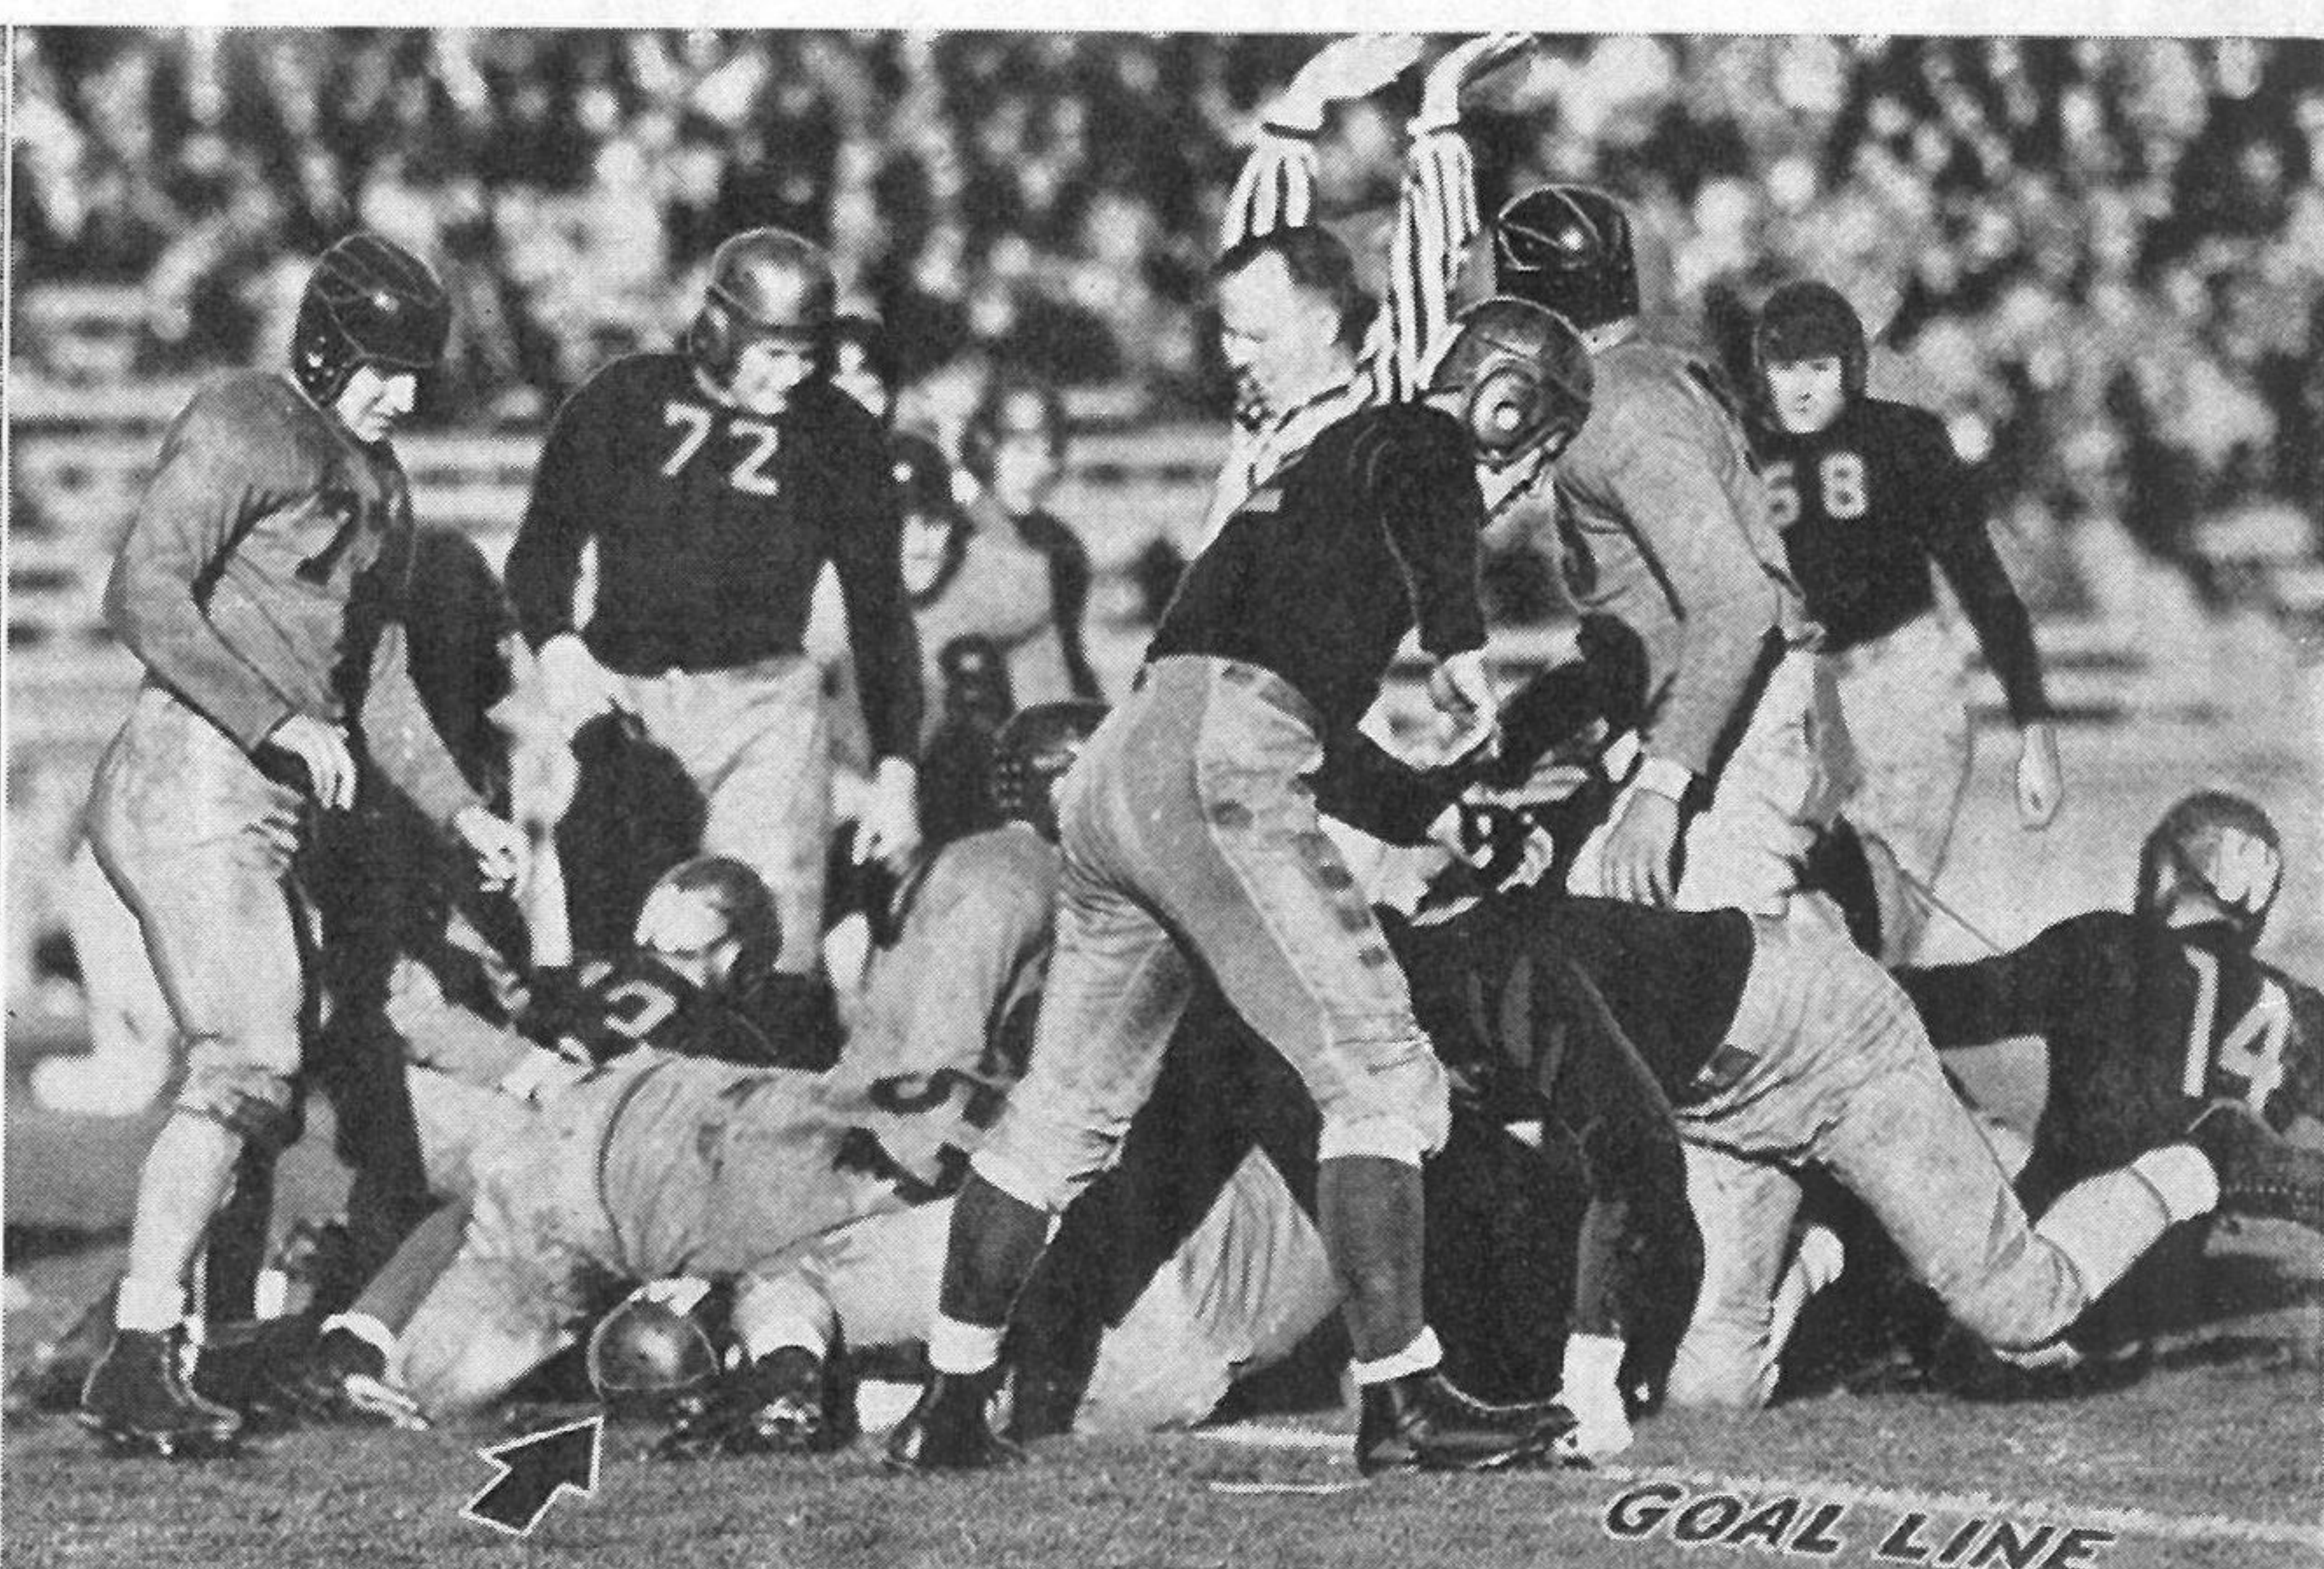

Capt. Dan “leaps through the air” to stop Dougherty of WSC for a loss.

Haines makes 16 yards off tackle in the Stanford game. He looks like he was about to be stopped by Coffis (on the ground) but he slithered loose until stopped by Paulman (16). Shper (55) blocked Grayson (22) out of the play.

Nowogroski (indicated by the arrow) scores against Montana. Bond (72), Cain (in the foreground), Logg (14) and Lazarevich (58) are other Washington players in the picture.

WASHINGTON 13; SANTA CLARA 6

Stopping Santa Clara's "free-wheeling," "King Alphonso" shift attack cold, the Huskies became the first conference team to beat the pesky Broncos in two years of play. They also presented Coach Jimmy Phelan with a mighty sweet victory over his old Notre Dame classmate, Coach "Clipper" Smith. The highly touted Bronco offense was only able to amass one first down in the entire afternoon's work.

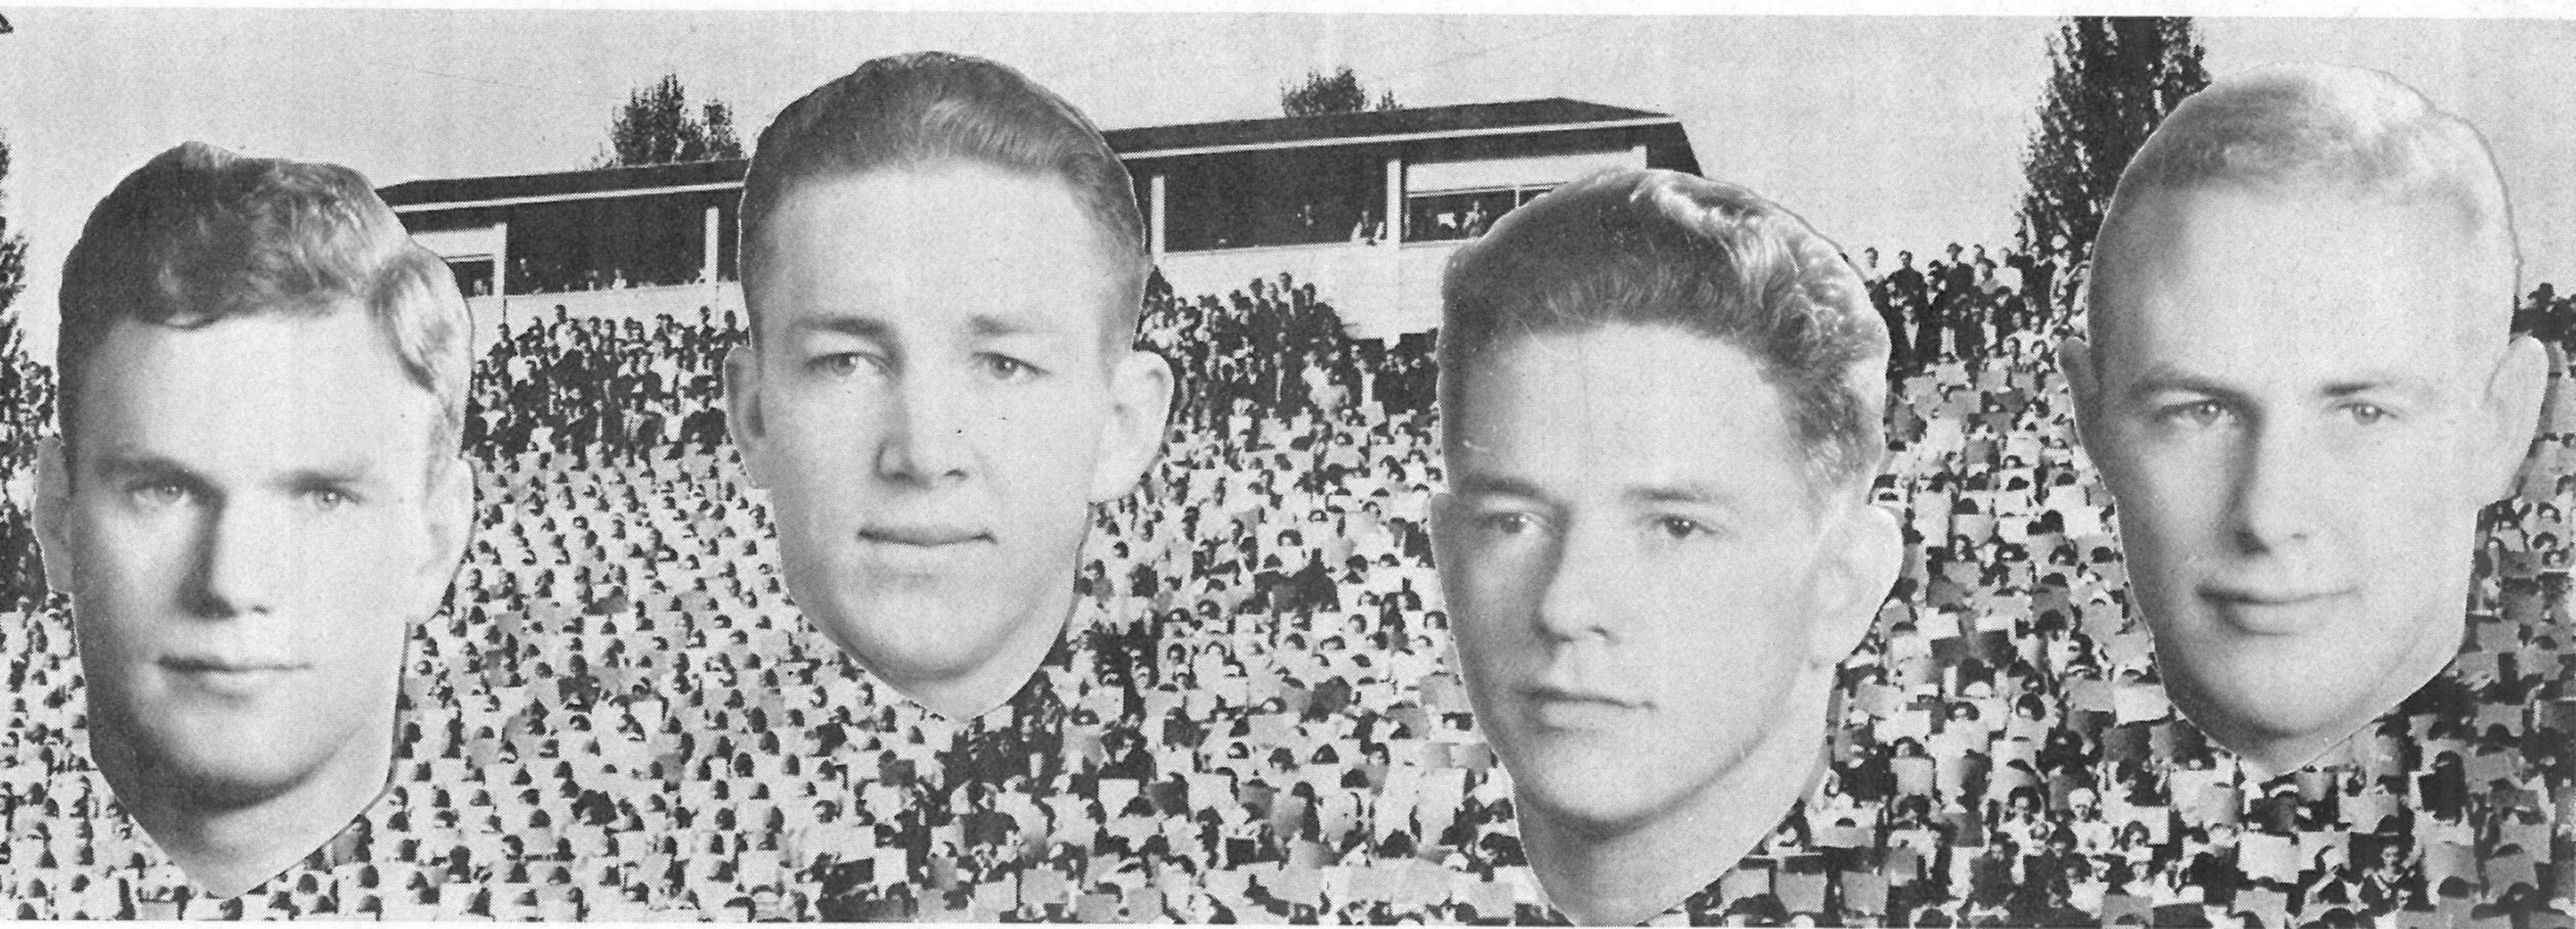

The first Washington score came in the first period when Jimmie Cain faded back to throw a pass. Finding all receivers covered, "Sugar" tucked the ball under his arm and side-stepped his way to the one-yard line where he was forced out of bounds. Nowogroski bucked it over on the next play and Logg converted. All the rest of the scoring was saved until the final minute to play. It was the Broncos' ball on their own 21-yard line and Kalaski faded back to kick. Brougham and Shper broke through to recover the ball for Washington. A few plays later Logg passed over the goal line to Cain for the final Washington score. Logg missed the try-for-point. Santa Clara elected to receive with 15 seconds left to play. Kalaski took the ball on his own 15-yard line and ran through the entire Washington team to score just as the gun went off ending the game.

WASHINGTON 21; WASHINGTON STATE COLLEGE 0

Scoring more points in a single afternoon's work than both teams have been able to score in the past five years of play the Huskies smashed the favorite WSC tradition, that of never having been beaten on their home field. The first score came on the first play from scrimmage. The ball came to By Haines who out-twisted and out-ran the Cougars for seventy yards to score. Elmer Logg kicked the try-for-point.

The second score came as a result of a series of passes from Haines to Logg and Cain to Lazarevich. The next few plays found Nowogroski bucking the center for two and three-yard gains to the one-foot line. Jimmy Cain took it over on the next play and Logg again converted.

The final touchdown drive came in the fourth period with Cain and Nowogroski doing the yeoman duty. With the ball on the three-yard line and the Cougars expecting another center plunge by Nowogroski, quarterback Logg called for a wide end run with Everett Austin carrying the ball. The strategy worked, Austin scoring standing up. Logg again split the cross-bars for the extra point.

WASHINGTON 0; STANFORD 6

On the cold gray day of October 26 in the Stadium, Washington followers saw the hopes of a Conference championship and a Rose Bowl team go glimmering gracefully off the toe of James "Monk" Moscrip, Stanford's great All-American end. They also saw a high-powered Washington offensive machine stopped time after time whenever the twenty-yard line loomed up. Besides Moscrip, another Stanford All-American, Bobby Grayson, was an integral part of the Stanford victory. The Redskins' scoring came in the first period when Stanford took the Washington kick-off and marched right down the field to the Washington 26 where Moscrip calmly kicked his first field goal. Just five minutes later he had kicked another, this time from the 27-yard line, and the score was 6-0.

WASHINGTON 33; MONTANA 7

After Washington's reserves stumbled, fumbled and fell, permitting the University of Montana Grizzlies to score during the opening quarter, Coach Phelan hustled his varsity regulars onto the field with instructions to score. And the varsity did. Taking the ball on their own 44-yard line they marched straight down the turf to the goal line. Nowogroski carried the ball over and Logg converted.

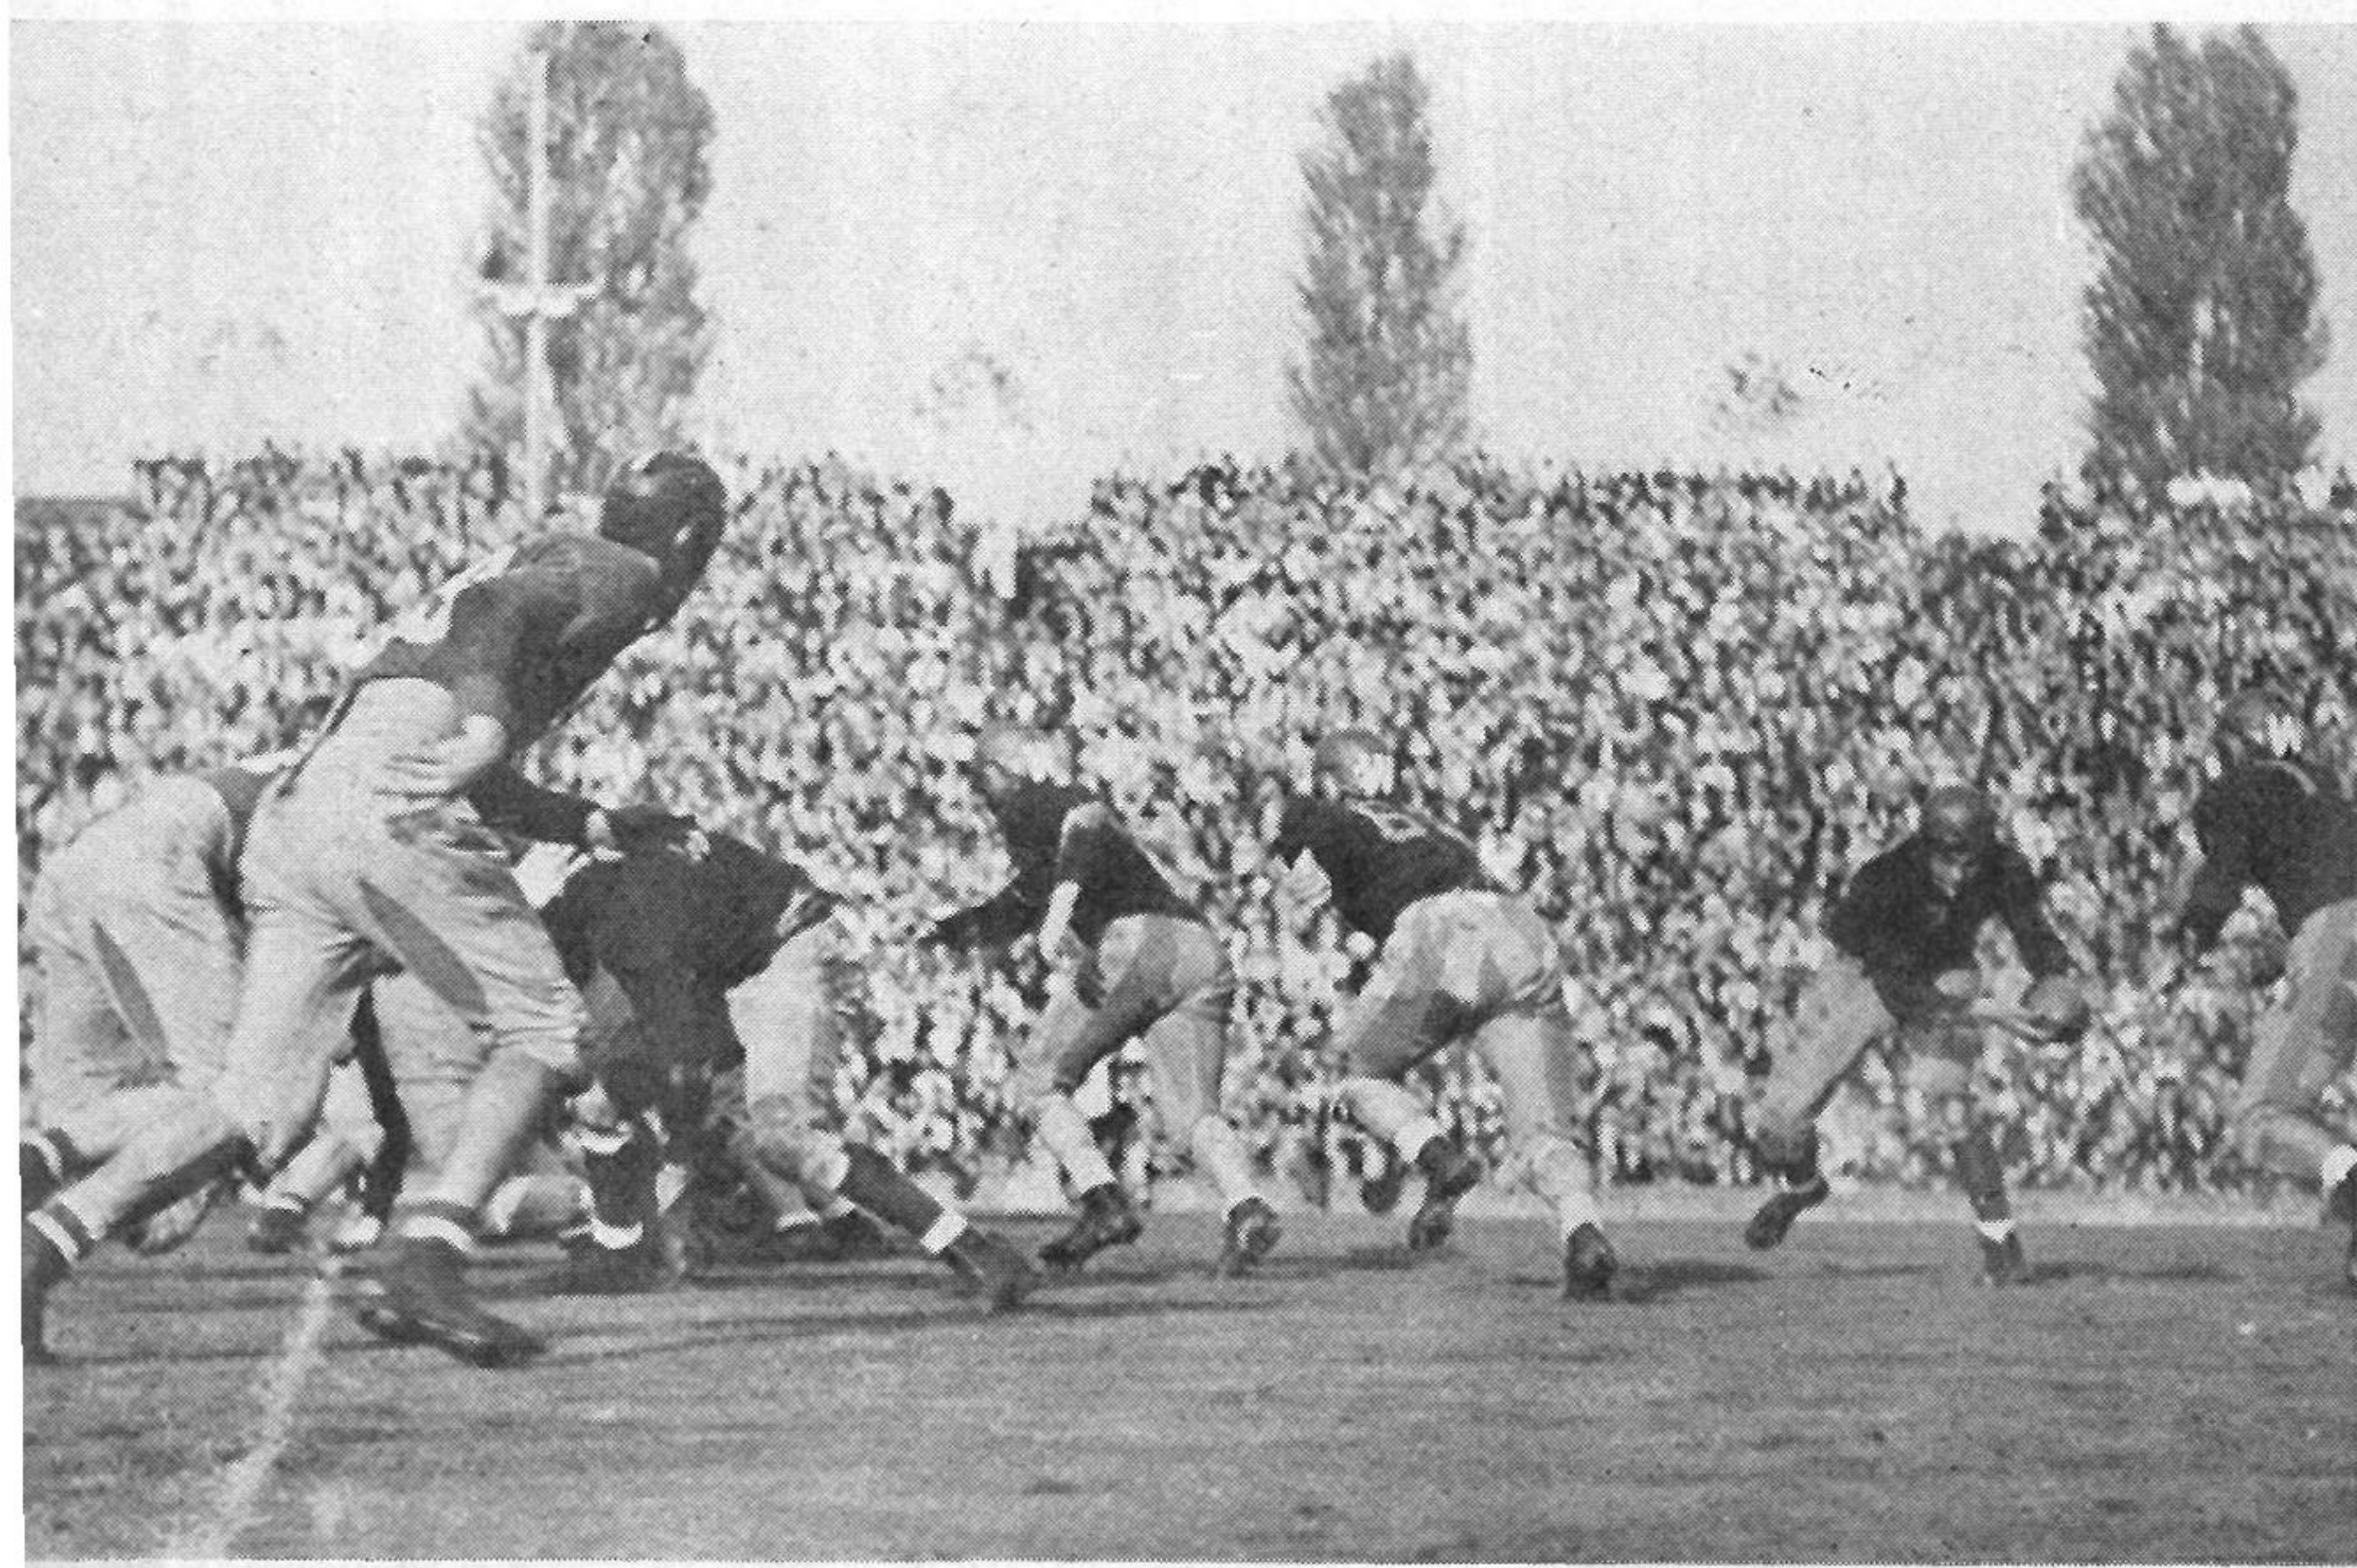

The half ended with the score knotted at 7 all. Washington received the kickoff at the half and in another concerted drive, this time for 57 yards, scored again. On this trip By Haines carried the ball and Logg again kicked the try-for-point.

The fourth quarter saw Montana rapidly tiring, and Washington scored three times. First it was Cain, then Tipton, and then Rulis. Logg kicked the conversion after the third touchdown, but both attempts by Bond went wide of the posts.

WASHINGTON 0; CALIFORNIA 14

While Lady Luck turned her back very decisively, Washington lost their second game of the season—to the University of California in Berkeley. Lady Luck wasn't all to blame however. Bob Herwig, Bear center, made life miserable for the Huskies all afternoon long and was especially effective inside his own 20-yard line. California's first score came just as the half ended on a pass from Blower to Sparks which was good for 30 yards and the score.

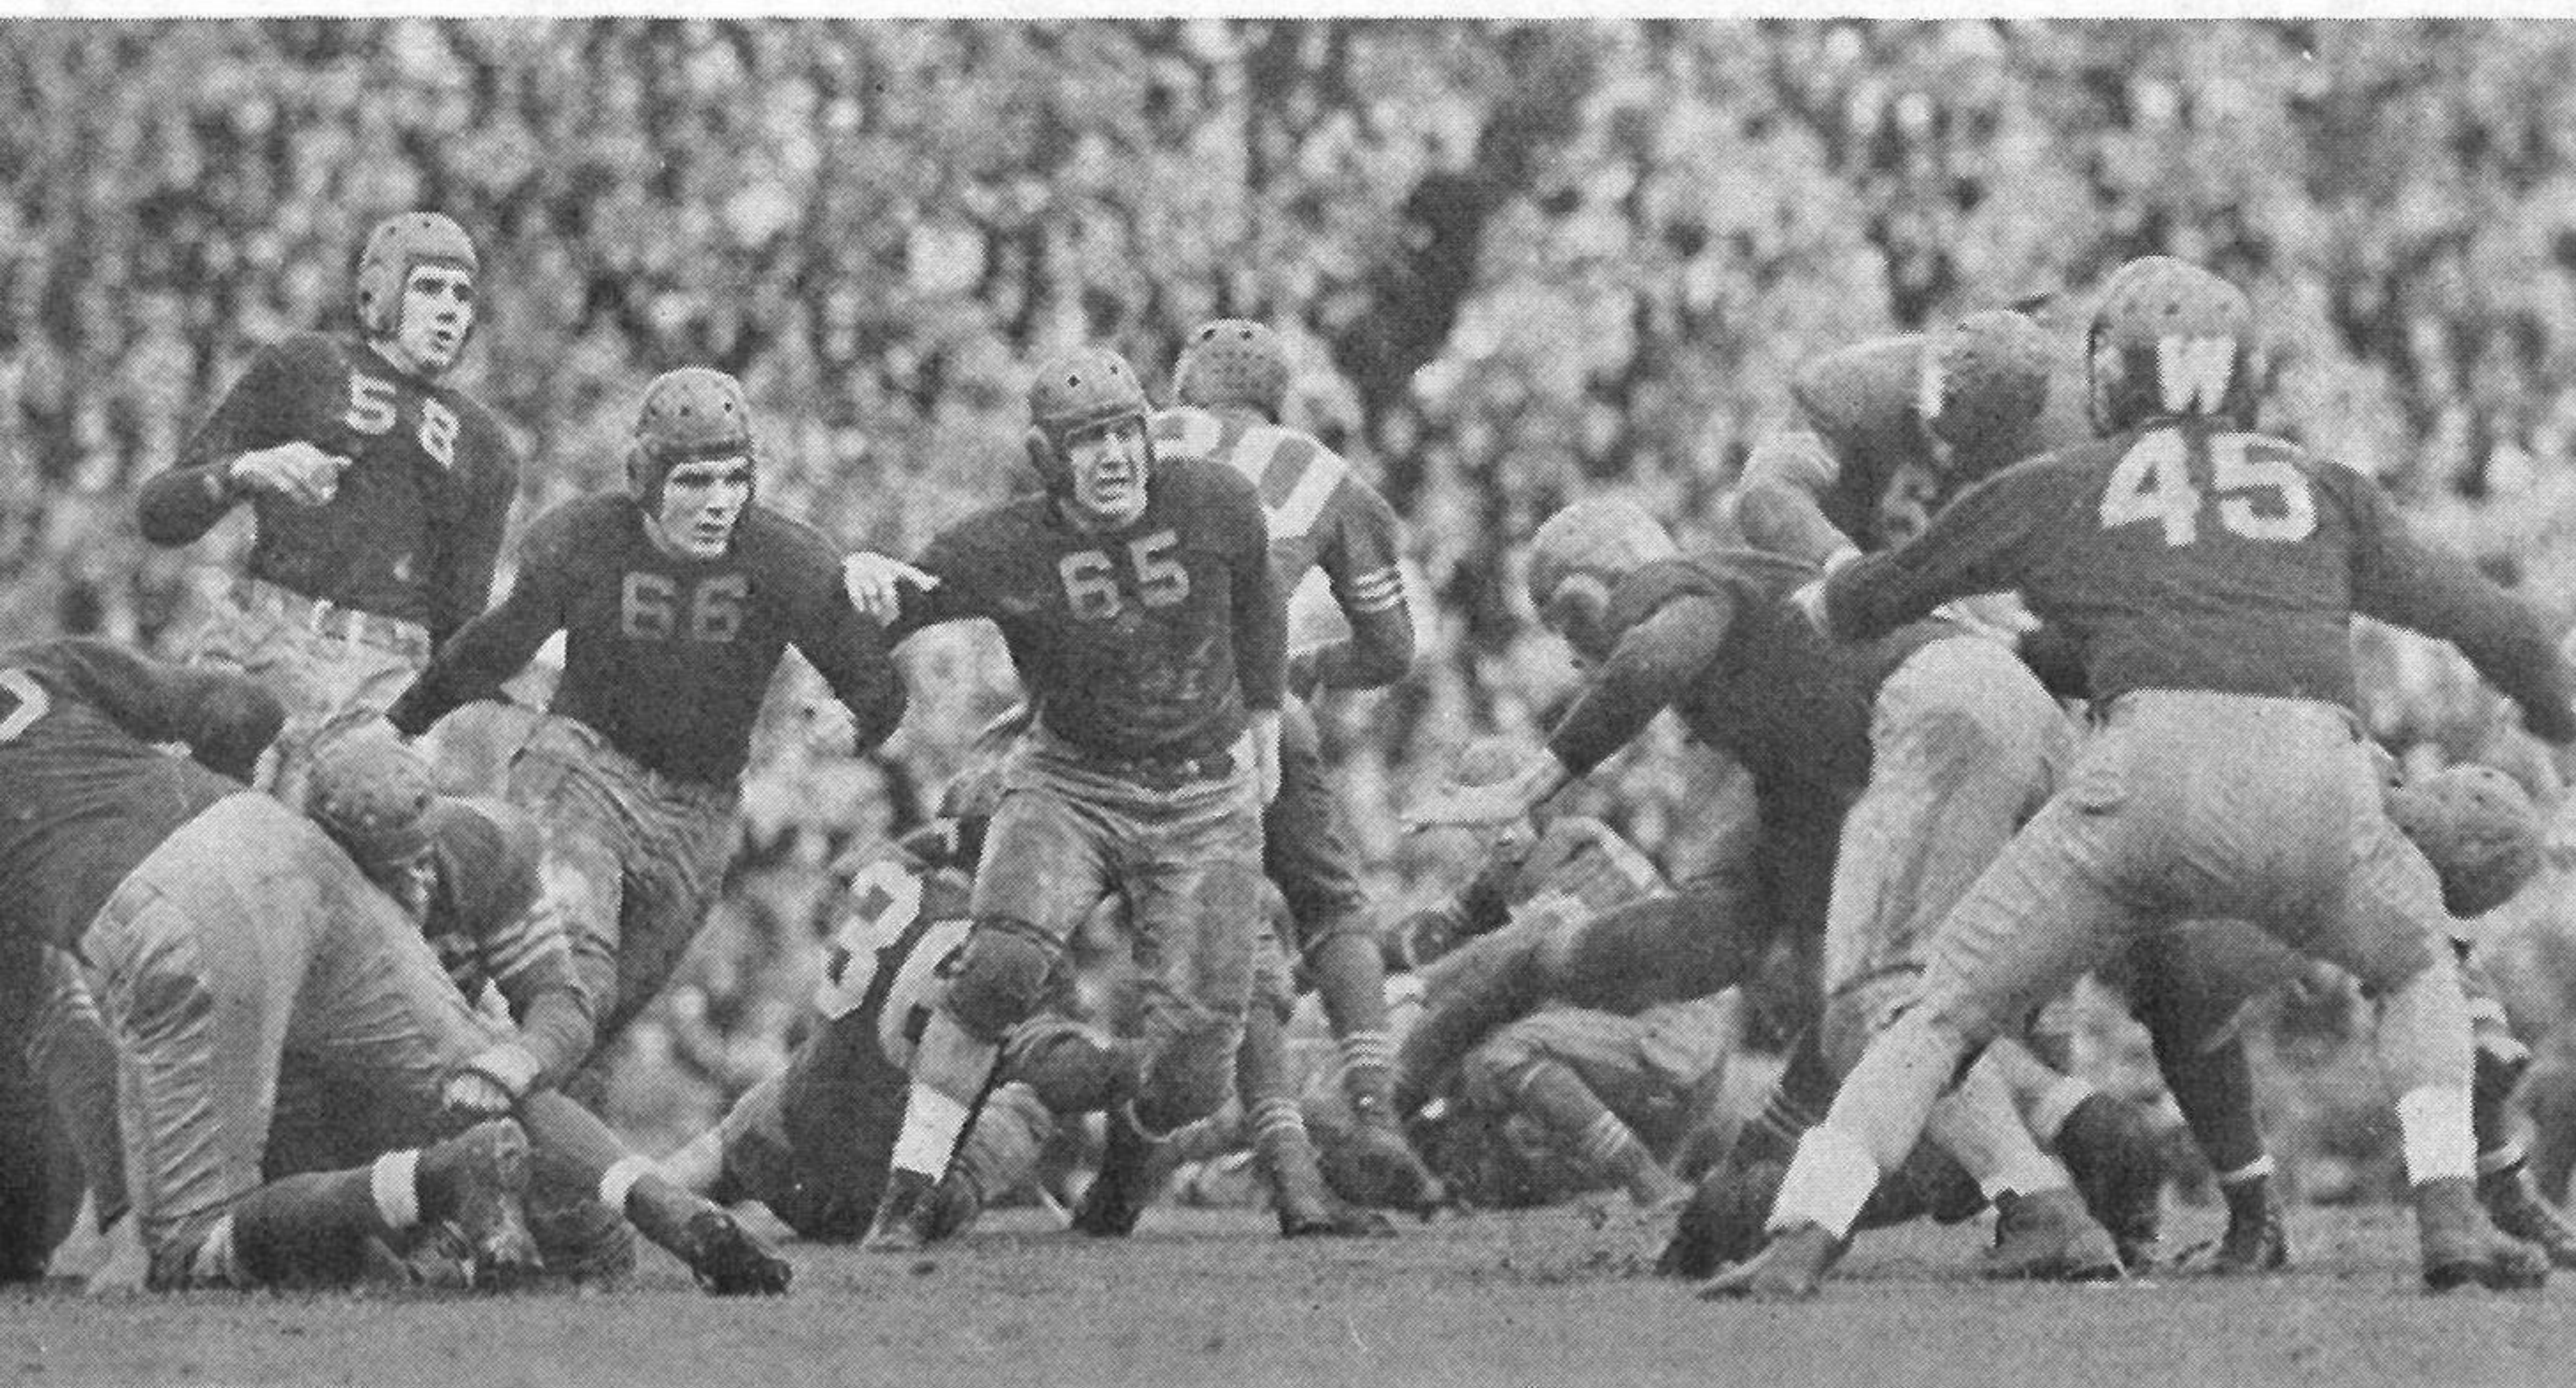

The difference in the two teams was that California's passing attack was clicking perfectly and Washington's was constantly running into Mr. Herwig. Defensively the teams were about on a par, with Herwig, Captain Lutz and the Brittingham brothers standing out for California and Wiatrak, Starceвич, and Nowogroski for Washington.

The start of a Washington reverse against Stanford. Haines (with the ball) fakes to Nowogroski (17) and then follows Logg and Cain off the weak-side tackle.

Waskowitz about to be stopped by California's Anderson (26), Schwartz (99) and R. Brittingham (22) in the game at Berkeley.

Waskowitz (45) and Shper stop Donnell, Oregon fullback, while Lazarevich (58), Starceovich (66) and V. Markov (63) come up to assist. T. Markov (63) is the Washington man being blocked out in the foreground.

Nowogroski cuts loose against USC.

WASHINGTON 6; OREGON 7

The ball went up, over, and all around the Oregon goal posts when Elmer Logg kicked it, but it didn't go through, and Washington lost a close, hard fought game. Three times did Washington's kicking ace try the medicine that beat the Webfeet in '34 and three times he failed. Oregon dominated the opening minutes of the fray and promptly scored a touchdown and converted. Not to be outdone the Huskies took up the burden and with two beautifully executed forward passes, one from Waskowitz to Captain Lazarevich good for 18 yards and one from Waskowitz to Haines and a touchdown.

From then on the game developed into a donnybrook. Washington was stopped by an alert Oregon defense and a few bad breaks. Once in the third quarter Haines caught a pass from the rifle-like arm of Fritz Waskowitz and swivel-hipped his way 32 yards for a touchdown, only to be called back when an official spied a Washington lineman offside. Twice Elmer Logg worked his team in a position to try for a field goal, once from the 26-yard line and once from the 30. Each time a gentle, harmless-looking breeze eased his attempts wide of the goal posts. Ed Nowogroski was the individual offensive star of the game, carrying the ball for 100 of Washington's 163 yards gained from scrimmage.

WASHINGTON 6; UNIVERSITY OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA 2

On the day of his nomination as an all-coast halfback, By Haines proved he richly deserved that coveted honor by scoring all the points both teams made in the USC game. Haines caught USC's opening kickoff on his own one-yard line and fumbled it. He picked it up, reversed his field to elude his tacklers, a mixup resulted, and the officials awarded USC a safety.

The next quarter the Huskies came back and after marching down the field for 30 yards, Haines broke into the clear and rambled 25 yards to score. Logg failed to convert.

Twice Elmer Logg attempted a field goal but both times he missed. Several times USC was in scoring territory and once, in the fourth quarter, had the ball on the 12-yard line. By Haines promptly stepped into the picture, intercepted one of Davie Davis' passes, and ran it back for some 30 yards before he was stopped. This ended all Troy's scoring threats.

Although Washington's efficiency was impaired by the loss of "Big Jack" MacKenzie, injured in the Oregon game, necessitating the changing of John Wiatrak from center to tackle and inserting Bud Erickson into the lineup at center, the Huskies more than held their own in the matter of statistics. The official tally sheet showed each team had scored 157 yards from scrimmage, and Washington made 12 first downs to USC's 8.

This year's managerial staff was ably headed by Henry Greeley. The Senior Frosh manager was Jim Bennett. Junior managers included Bob McKenney, Dick Hart, Bernard Lonctot, and Bill Thompson. Thompson was selected to succeed Greeley, and Lonctot will fill Bennett's shoes for the 1936 season.

To Earl "Click" Clark should go all the paeans of praise possible to bestow on any man. The kindly skilled "Click" has endeared himself to generations of Washington athletes with his words of encouragement and deeds of mercy. Almost all Washington athletes know his remedy for most bodily ailments, "put some heat on it and we'll tape it up," but everyone should know and appreciate the value of his advice and service. Washington owes more than mere words can tell to the venerable "Click."

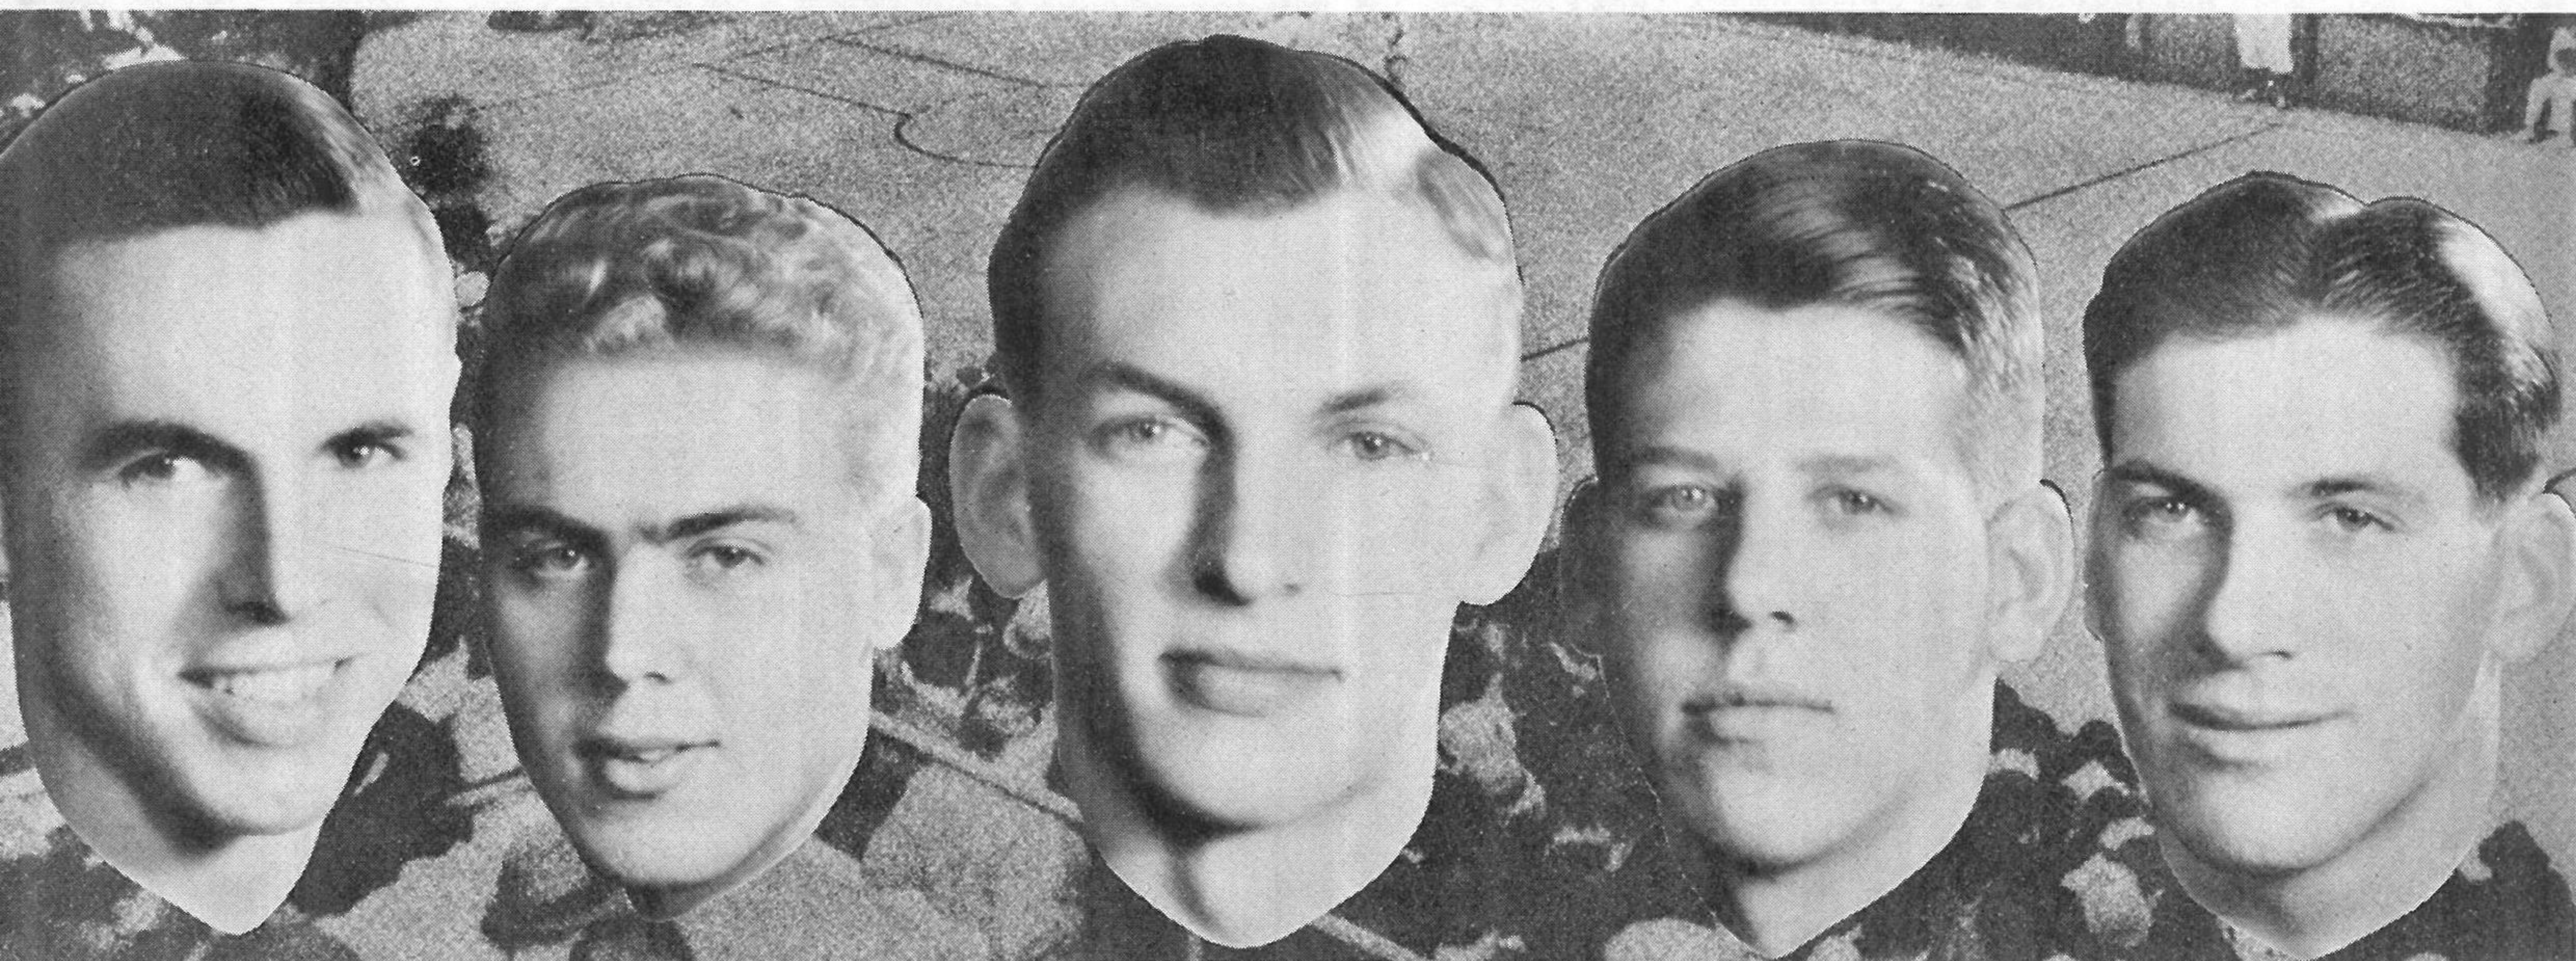

For six long years Coach James M. Phelan has taught his football lore at the University of Washington. The "Canny Irishman" who came to the Husky school from Notre Dame, by way of Missouri and Purdue, follows a type of play made famous by Rockne at his alma mater, but varies it with his own innovations. He has fielded smart, heads-up squads since his advent at Washington but never a consistent winner. His teams, during his reign, have beaten every opponent in the conference. When he left the Purdue University, Phelan brought Chester "Cotton" Wilcox and Ralph "Pest" Welch to the Northwest with him to coach the backfield and freshmen. Both have proven themselves to be able assistants.

BASKETBALL

By JACK KEENE

EDMUNDSON

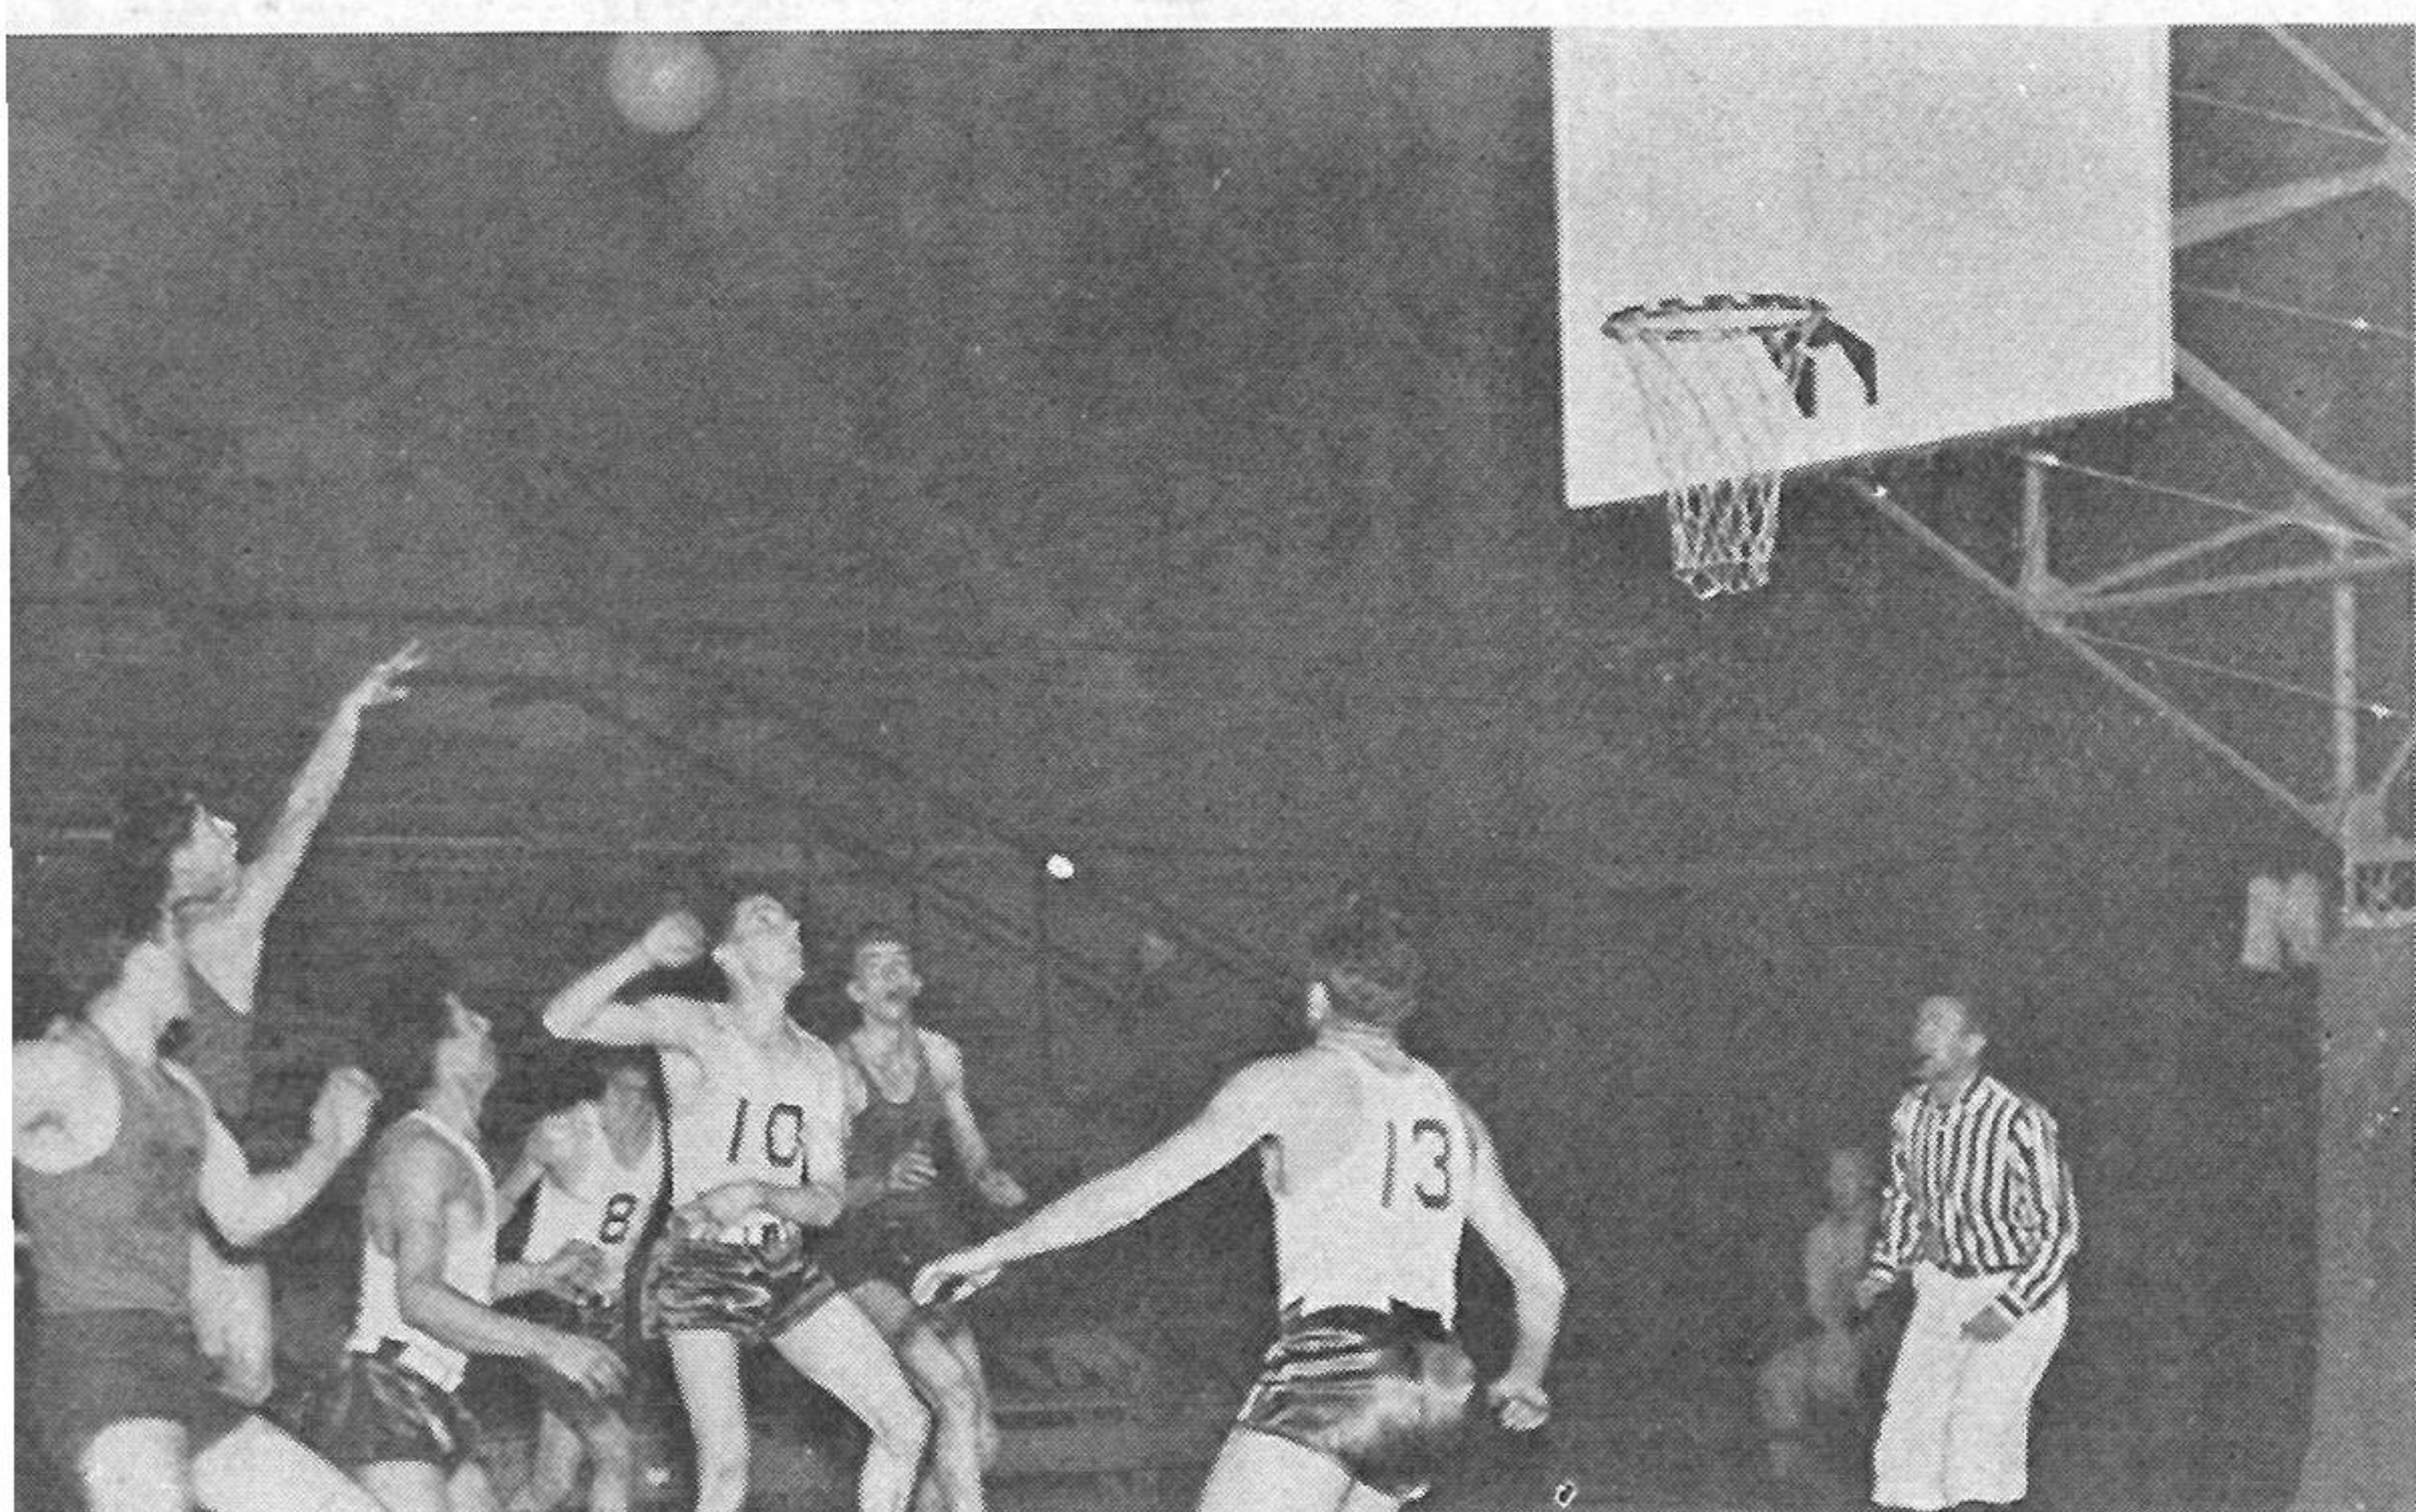

Following their defeat by Stanford for the Coast conference crown, Washington won an elimination tournament from Oregon State, Stanford and Southern California to win the Pacific Coast title and place in the Olympic Games basketball trials. The Huskies finished third in New York, conquering DePaul University of Chicago and the Wilmerding (Pa.) YMCA and losing to the McPherson (Kan.) Refiners, national AAU champions.

Coach Hec Edmundson faced the season with the problem of replacing Captain-elect Clyde Wagner, who had quit school to attend medical college. Ralph Bishop, veteran forward, was elected to step into his vacated center position and later was chosen team captain.

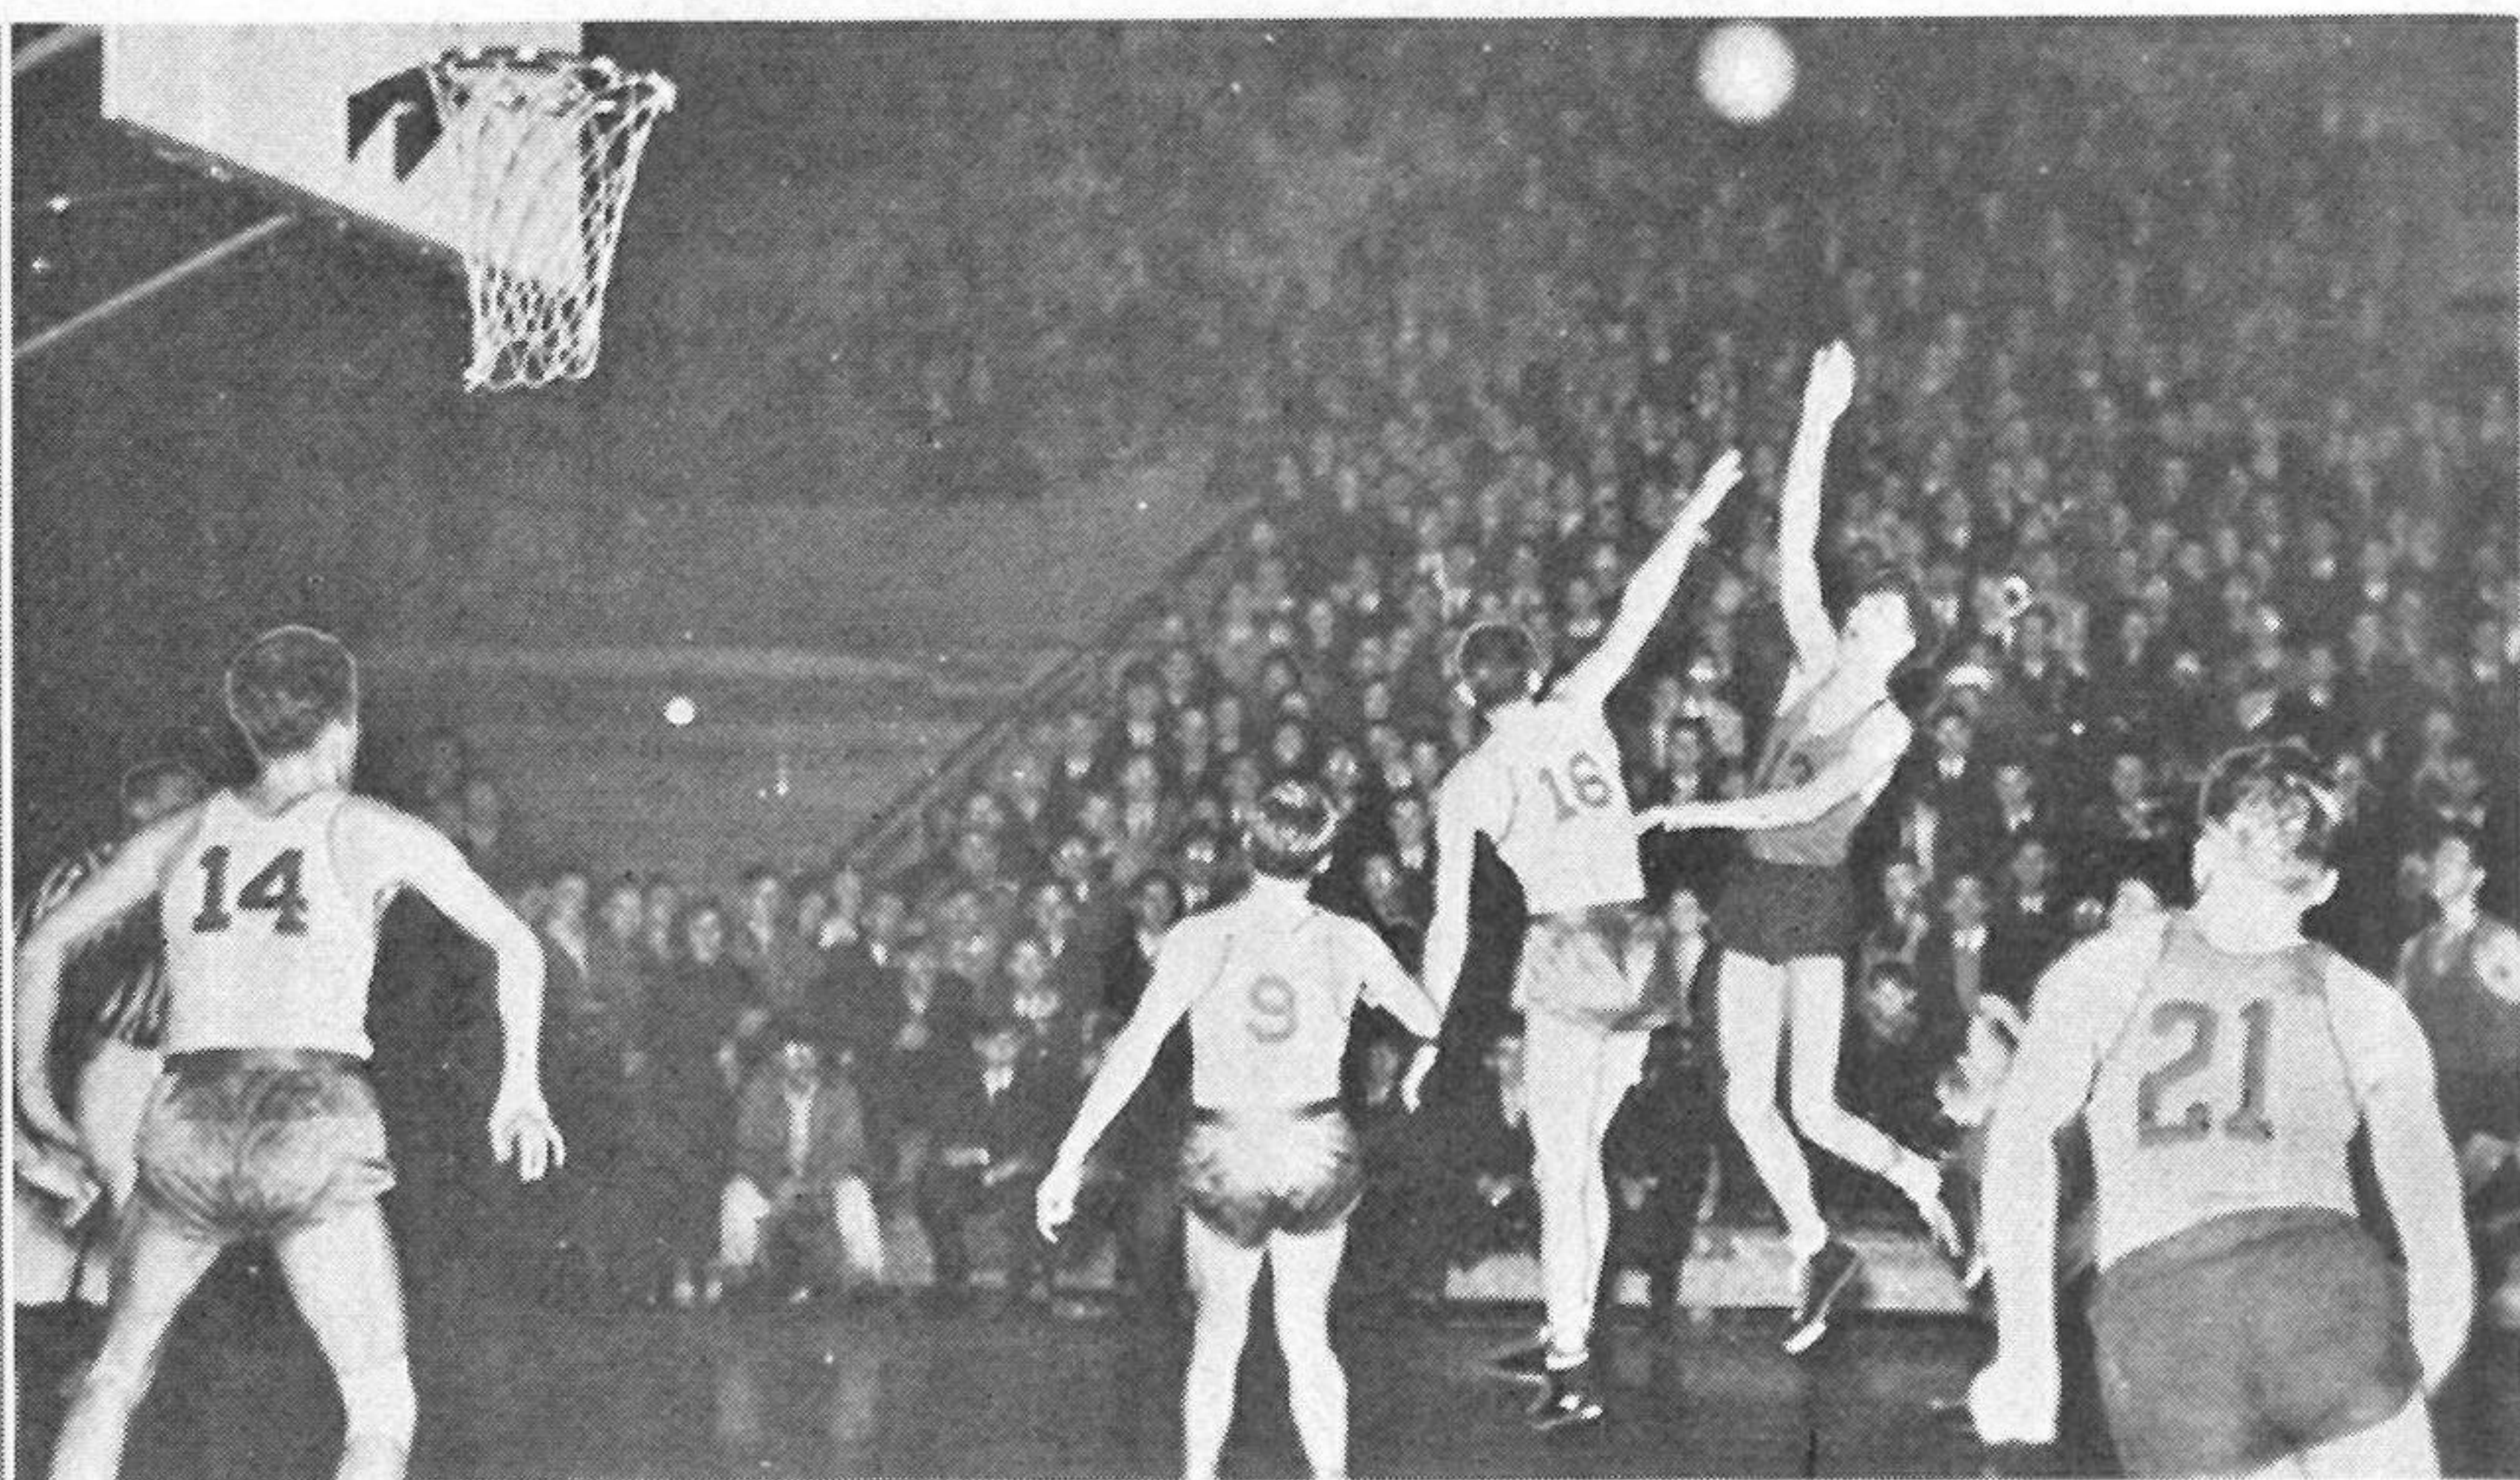

The balance of the squad included three of last year's sophomore stars: Bob Egge, Ed Loverich and Chuck Wagner, and a member of the 1934 Coast championship outfit, Bob McKinstry. Bishop, Loverich and Wagner finished two-three-four in the league scoring race.

WASHINGTON STATE AT SEATTLE

The regular season opened against the WSC's Cougars who were submerged in successive games 30-26 and 40-23. The first five played without substitution the first night and led practically all the way. WSC jumped into an 8-1 lead the subsequent game, but the Huskies finally woke up to establish a 21-9 advantage by half time.

Chuck Wagner cages a one-handed shot in the first Idaho game.

Ralph Bishop attempts a long against Washington State. Ivar Nelson, Cougar center, is trying to check him.

Hunt Paterson and Howell Turner leap high into the air during the Coast playoff series with Stanford.

Chuck Wagner fights for the ball under his own basket in the second Idaho contest.

Ed Loverich and Bob McKinstry try to stop Chuck Patterson, Oregon center, during the second game with the Webfeet.

OREGON AT SEATTLE

Washington had to come from behind to defeat the highly-touted Oregon quintet in their first meeting 36-28. The Webfeet led 19-16 at the half, but tired during the second period. Bishop and Wagner topped the scorers. The Huskies walked off with the second contest 40-26, with Bishop tallying 19 counters, although Oregon was ahead for the first eight minutes.

OREGON AT EUGENE

Again outconditioning Oregon, the Huskies carried off another double-barreled victory 42-23 and 35-31 at Eugene.

OREGON STATE AT CORVALLIS

Oregon State's title-defending five fell next when Washington riddled their zone defense 51-33—the highest score of any Husky-Beaver tilt in 10 years. Loverich scored 18 points, Wagner, 16, and Bishop, 11. OSC turned on the heat the following night to amass a 20-10 half time lead. In the last period Hunt Paterson replaced Egge, who was chased on fouls, and scored 10 points in 10 minutes to pace Washington to a 35-31 victory.

IDAHO AT SEATTLE

A big second half gave Edmundson's charges a 50-30 triumph over Idaho with Wagner and Loverich teaming up to score 30 points between them. The second game also went to the Seattle five 40-29, their tenth consecutive win. Bishop and Wagner headed the point-getters.

IDAHO AT MOSCOW

Needing but one victory to tie the record, set in 1932, Washington was stopped cold by the Vandals 40-33. The Huskies held a 20-18 lead at the intermission, but floundered under Idaho's vicious second half drive. Washington came back to win the final encounter, putting on the pressure in the final minutes Jack Gannon, reserve guard, and Bishop each scored 13 points.

WSC avenged their two previous defeats, handing the Huskies a pair of setbacks. In the first the Cougars stepped out with a 23-13 half time advantage, but had to go into an overtime to finally win 36-35. Loverich, held out of the starting lineup with a cold, registered 16 points. With Loverich out, Egge suffering from a charleyhorse and Bishop and Wagner leaving the game on fouls, WSC had little difficulty swamping the demoralized Huskies 47-28 in the second contest.

OREGON STATE AT SEATTLE

PLAMONDON

Over ten thousand fans saw Washington sew up the division title by overcoming Oregon State 39-30. Wally Palmberg, State forward, counted 19 points to establish a new league scoring record. In the second affair, the Huskies loafed to a 25-19 victory as Palmberg ran his new scoring mark to 187. Twenty-three fouls marred the contest.

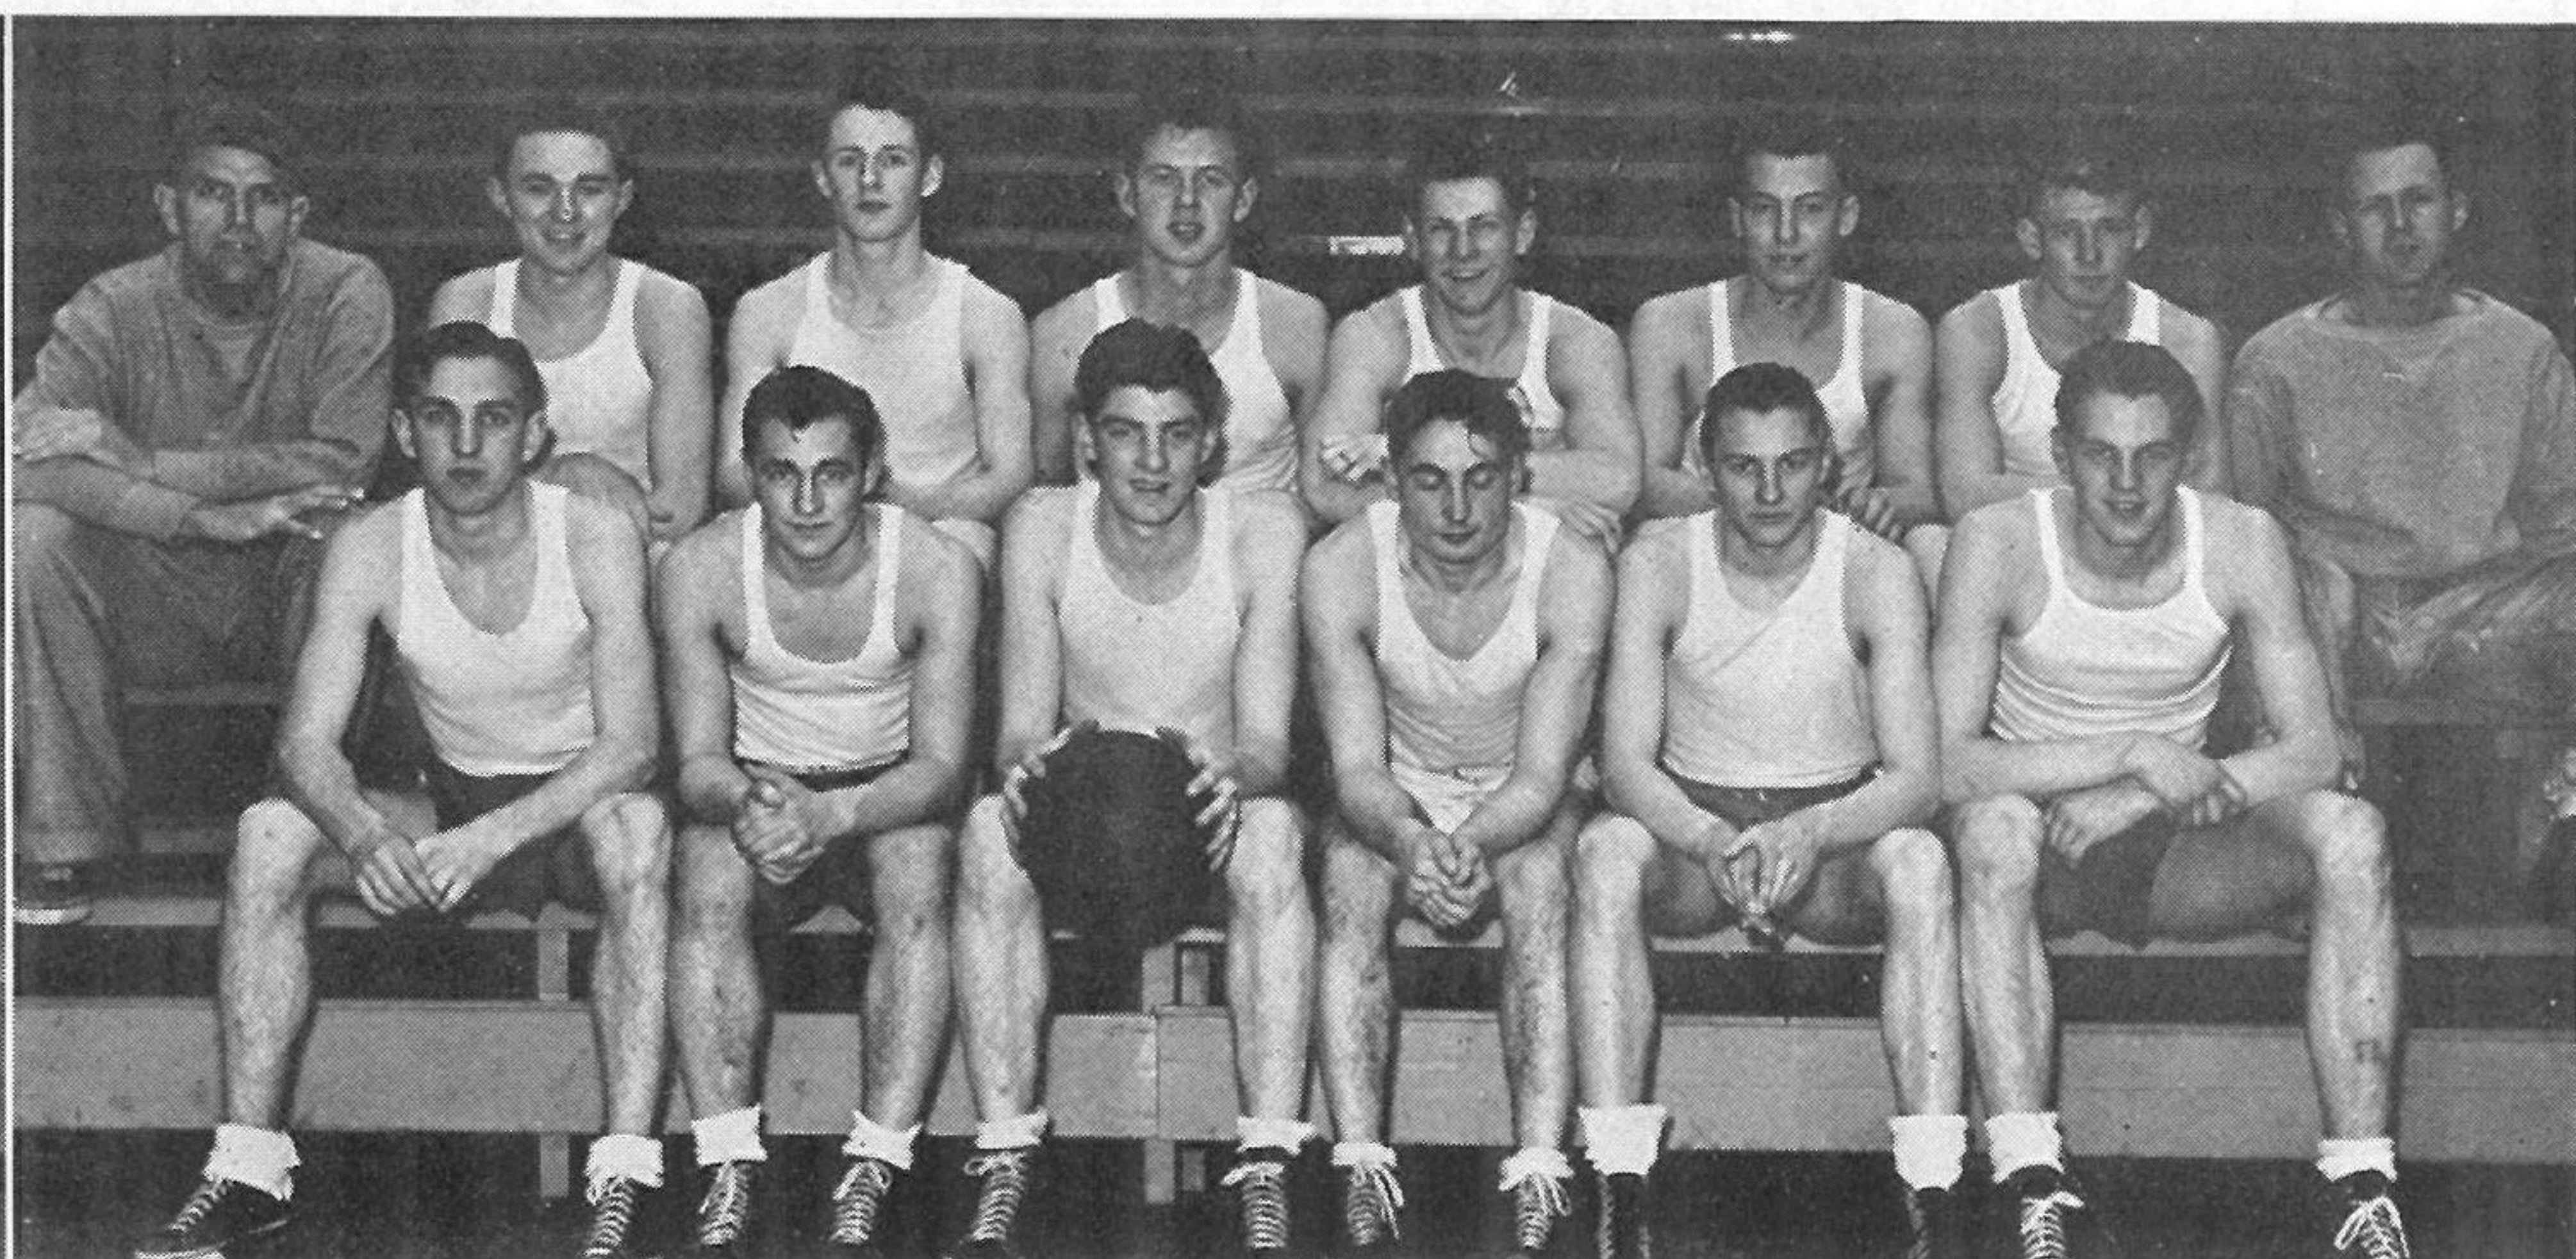

Letters were awarded to the ten regulars: Capt. Ralph Bishop, Bob Egge, Jack Gannon, Walt Kastner, Ed Loverich, Bob McKinstry, Hunt Paterson, Henry Rosenberg, Chuck Wagner and Ross Werner. Brick Plamondon served as senior manager.

Tubby Graves' freshmen enjoyed one of the finest seasons on record, winning 17 games in 18 starts. They lost to the varsity reserves, but defeated the Victoria Dominoes, Canadian national champs.

TENNIS

TORNEY

Sweeping through six collegiate opponents, Washington's championship varsity tennis team topped the 1935 season by placing Pal Rosenberg and Ken Clegg one-two in the singles, and Bob Briggs and Jim Hill second in the doubles at the Northern Division conference meet at Pullman, May 25.

Netmen who aided in the Huskies' win over Oregon State, Oregon, Washington State, Whitman, Idaho, and CPS were Pal Rosenberg, Ken Clegg, Bob Briggs, Barney Grevstad, Bob Deering, and Jim Hill.

The 1935 freshman racket-wielders, "the best in the history of the University," according to Coach Jack Torney, turned in victories over fifteen opponents without registering a defeat. Numeral winners were Bill Crapo, Dave Johnstone, Ed Murphy, Bob Knappenberger, Bob Cahen, George Gray, and Dick Bergholz.

BASEBALL, 1935

By NORMAN FALAHEE

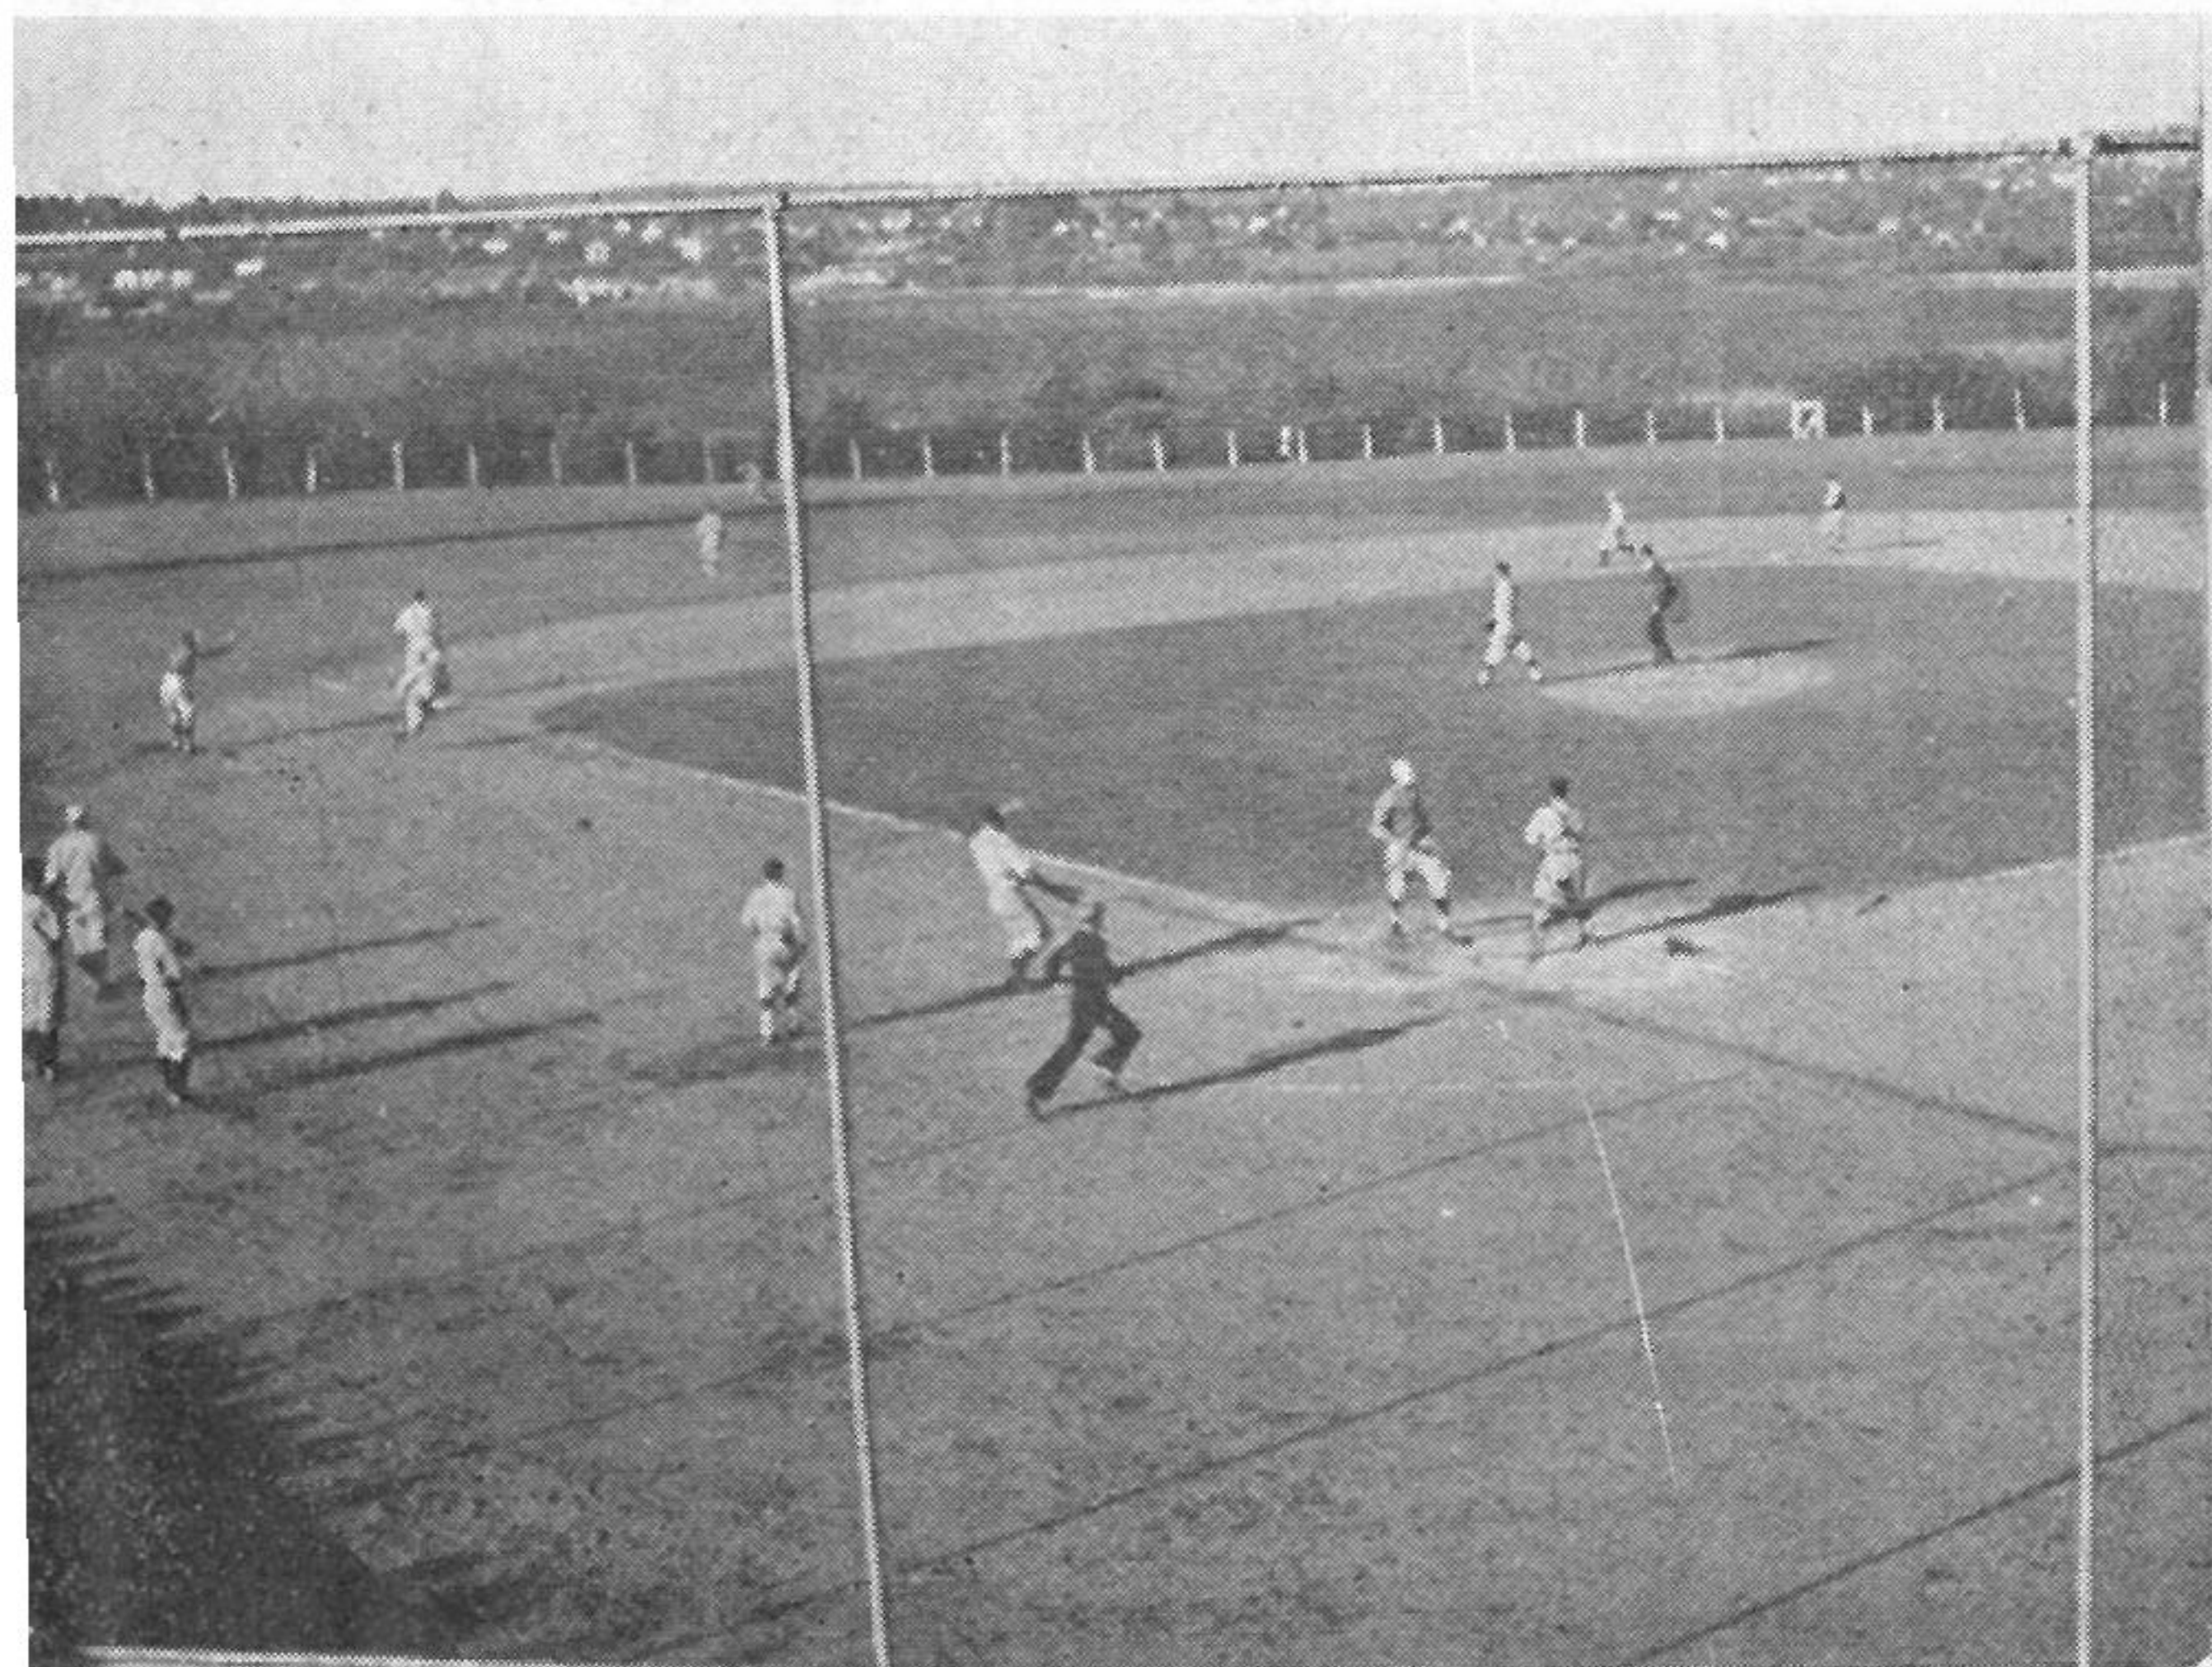

A brilliant start—a disastrous slump—then a breathless five-victory finish that missed out by an eyelash, characterized Washington's 1935 second-place baseball nine.

Proving once again that it is entirely possible for a college baseball team to win the Northwest championship with only one outstanding pitcher, Oregon took the pennant for the second straight year. Of the eleven Webfoot victories that enabled the Eugene club to finish first, Don McFadden, a right-handed pitcher, accounted for eight.

Just this lack of a really effective hurler hurt Coach Tubby Graves' Husky squad. Graves had two or three creditable moundsmen, but none of the trio were as formidable as Oregon's ace. As it was, Washington made a thrilling comeback after losing five games in a row in the middle of the season.

Washington started out by looking like sure pennant winners, taking both games from Washington State here, then drubbing Idaho twice on Graves Field. The Purple and Gold batsmen lost their power on their first road trip, however, losing four games to Oregon and Oregon State. Back on their own field again for the last time, the Huskies split two-game series with Oregon and OSC. Their last swing of the circuit resulted in double victories over Washington State and Idaho.

With practically the same team back this year, Graves' team should be a potent factor in the championship race. Willie Hewson, Len Rich, Gil Leiendecker, Paul Marlowe, Dick Cook, and Ed Loverich led the hitters, while Jack Daly, Rudy Enquist and Bernard Kohls were the trio of mound aces.

TRACK, 1935

By CHUCK STEWART

Besides winning every 1935 conference meet in which they engaged, the Huskies placed third in the Northwest meet and split a brace of outside meets, beating Stanford and losing to UCLA.

In view of the Indians' later record, the win over Stanford was the high spot of the Washington schedule. The meet was held indoors and featured the shattering of four pavilion records. Johnny Mottram of Stanford hurled the javelin to a new record of 210 feet, 2½ inches; Vic Palmason turned in a 1:58 performance in the half; Hubert Smith, another Stanford man, high-jumped 6 feet, 4½ inches; and the Washington relay team hung up a new mark of 3:25.2 over the mile distance.

The final score was: Washington 68; Stanford 63.

On April 20 the Huskies scored a win over Oregon State College with Bruce Humber carrying off high scoring honors. The Washington sophomore won both sprint races, his best mark being 9.7 in the hundred.

Washington journeyed south for their second non-conference meet on May 4. UCLA took that one with the Huskies on the short end of the 68-63 score this time. The relay decided the meet with the 1934 intercollegiate relay champs led by Captain Jimmie Luvalle proving too strong for the Huskies.

Humber wins
against UCLA.

1. Click Clark helps Vic Palmason get ready for the half-mile while Scotty McDonald notes with approval. 2. A frosh timber-topper, Art Morgan, takes a high one. 3. The relay in the conference meet. 4. Bill Banks of WSC flashes to victory in the 220 low hurdles in the conference meet. 5. Ex-track captain Dan Braken watches over the trackmen between events. 6. Two speedburners, Killien and Humber, pose for their pictures. 7. The third lap of the tough conference mile.

COACH HEC
EDMUNDSON

Eb Sellers pulled the iron man act in that meet when he ran both the mile and two-mile. Sellers is the boy who set the two-mile record of 9:27.3 back in 1929, a mark which still stands. Out of competition since that year, Eb came back to finish his college career in a blaze of glory with an undefeated record in his favorite event to show for his last year.

The next team to bow down before the squad of underclassmen comprising the bulwark of the Husky aggregation were the highly touted Webfeet of Oregon. The score:  $76\frac{1}{2}$ - $54\frac{1}{2}$ . This meet marked the first defeat for Washington's Bruce Humber. Bud Shoemaker gathered ten points for the Webfeet with brilliant marks of 9.6 and 20.8 in the hundred and 220 respectively. In the latter event Humber was less than an eye-winker behind the Oregon speedster.

Washington's last conference meet brought another impressive win—this time over Washington State with a score of  $76\frac{1}{3}$ - $54\frac{2}{3}$ .

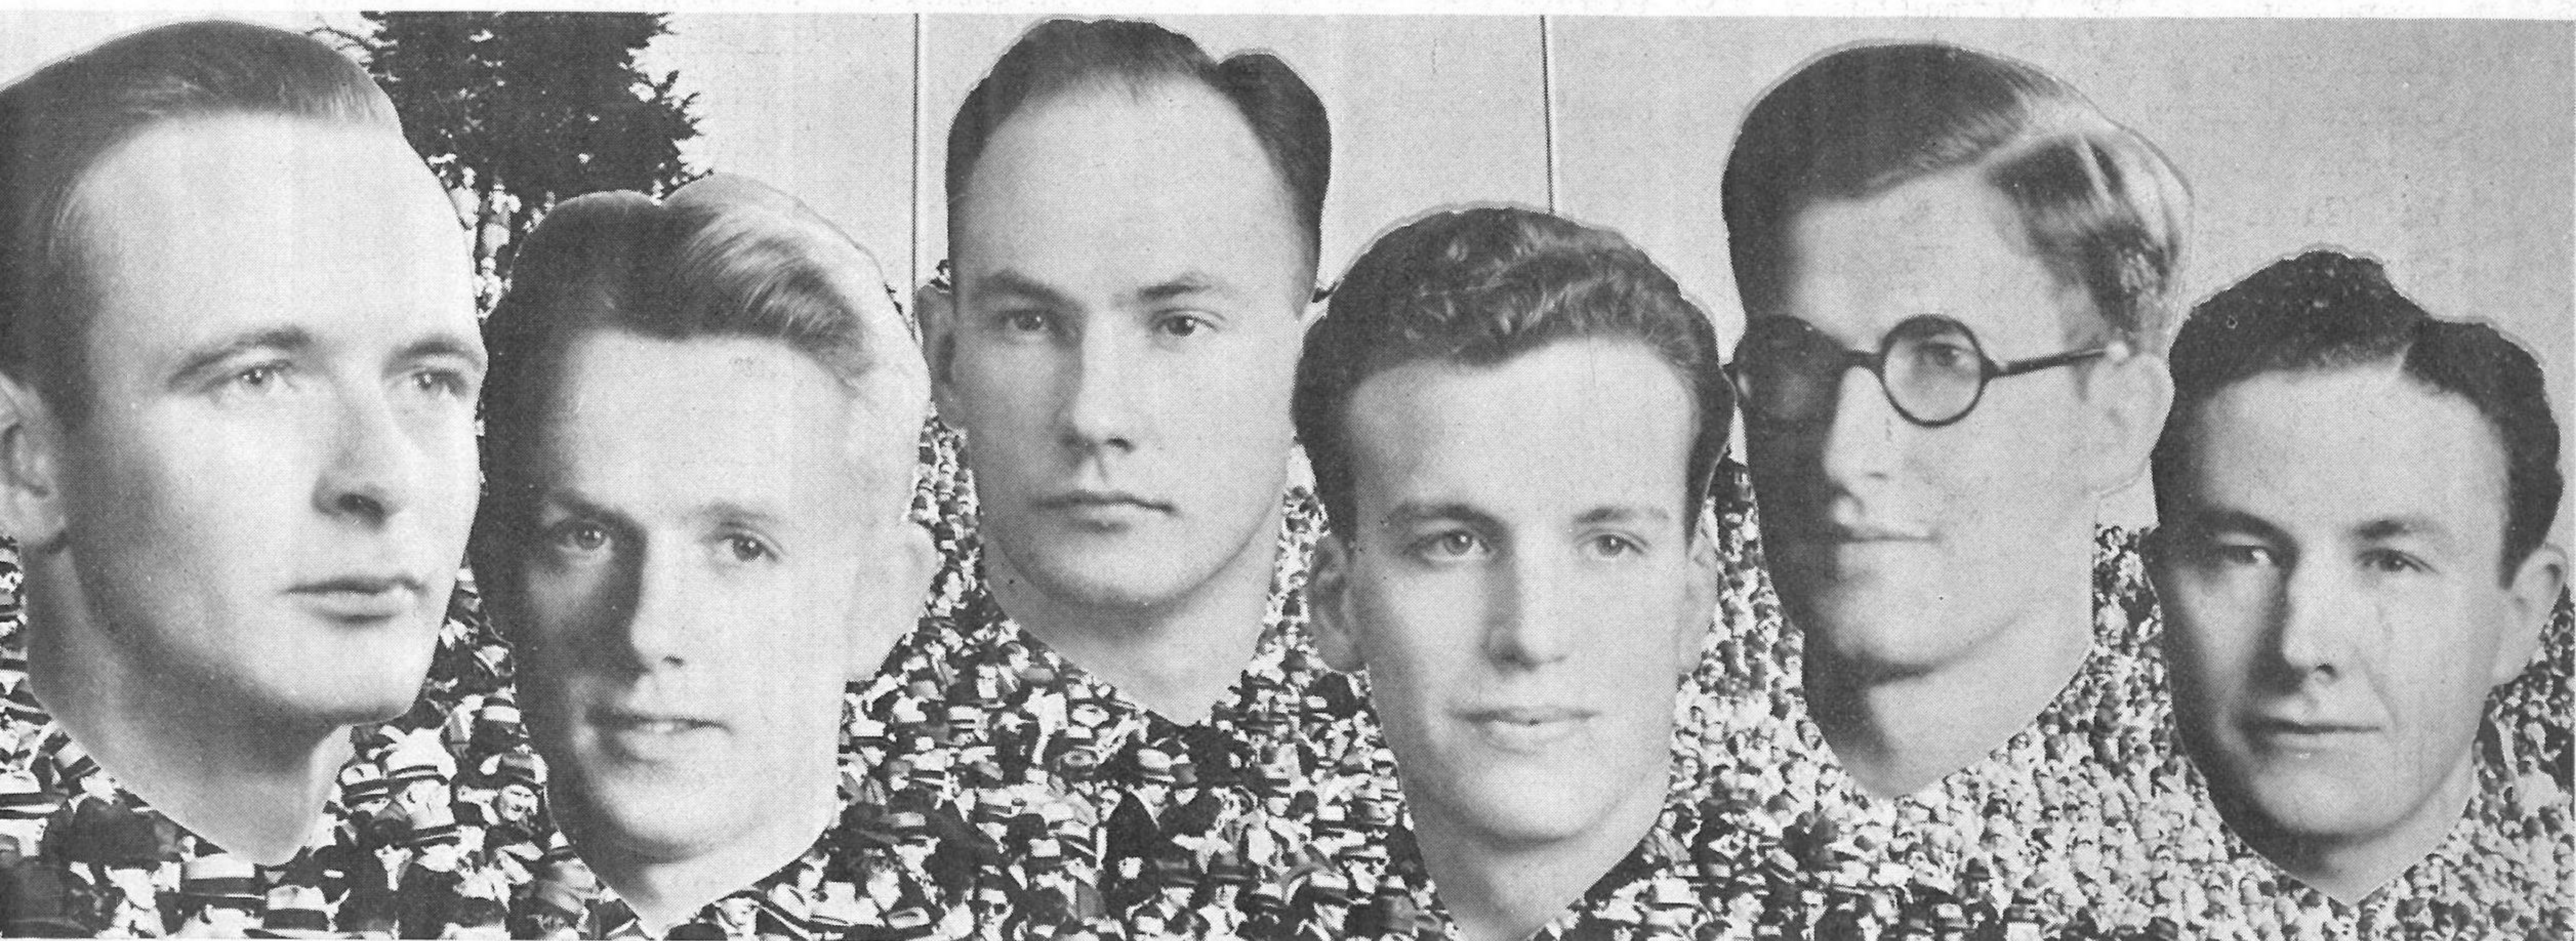

The Northwest conference meet was a heart-breaker for the Huskies. One upset after another was scored as WSC and Oregon men outdid themselves in avenging Husky defeats. WSC won the final event, the relay, to give them a two-point margin over Oregon. The score: WSC  $50\frac{3}{4}$ , Oregon  $48\frac{3}{4}$ , Washington  $42\frac{1}{2}$ .

Bill Benke of WSC was individual star with firsts in the broad jump and low hurdles besides running anchor on the winning relay team. His mark of 23.2 in the lows tied the record of Washington's Steve Anderson, set in 1929.

Shoemaker and Humber again put on a stirring duel in the sprints with the Oregon flash again nosing out the Husky. The times were significant: 9.5 in the hundred and 21.2 in the 220.

Mick Metcalf was 1935 senior manager and was succeeded by Bill Behrens for 1936.

The 21 men who won track letters were Bruce Humber and Ken Killien, sprints; Frank Plumb and Jim Drury, 440 and relay; Roger Samples and Vic Palmason, 880 and relay; Jimmie Angle, mile and relay; Ariel Edmiston, mile, and Elbert Sellers and Walt Lunsford, 2-mile; Bert Anshutz, low hurdles, high jump; Harry Pruzan and Jack Lipscombe, low hurdles; Bob Swisher, high hurdles, high jump; Gordy Congdon, high hurdles; John Gable, broad jump; Walt Rohrscheib and Jess Miller, javelin; Fred Grichuhin and John Buckley, weights; and Boyd Childs, pole vault.

In Memoriam

HERBERT LEE GOVE

The tragic death of Herbert Lee Gove on February 23, in an automobile accident, brought to an end one of the most promising athletic careers the University has known and deprived his countless friends of an inspiring personality.

Gove, although only a freshman, had won his Minor "W" as a regular on the varsity hockey team and was looked to as a future "great" on the baseball diamond. He attended Queen Anne High School in Seattle where he achieved the distinction of being named on the all-city football and baseball teams.

It is to the memory of Herb, a true sportsman and a fine athlete, that the Minor Sports section of the 1936 Tye is dedicated.—THE EDITORS.

SWIMMING

Swamping two opponents by a wide margin, the University of Washington swimming team placed themselves as contenders for Pacific Coast honors.

Coach Jack Torney's varsity mermen are Bernie Dickson, captain; Gene Caddey, Franz Hoskins, Lucian Harvey, Pat Johnson, Bill Branigin, Knox Marshall, Ed Bruce, Jim Carpenter, Toy Nelson, Horace McClure, Jack Medica, Bill Wehman, Gilbert Baker, Harry Newlands and Gus Ericksen.

Frosh swimmers are George Personette, captain, who set a new Northwest record of 23.7 seconds in the 50-yard free-style event, Charles Airey, Bill Wilcox, James Randles, Haakon Magnussen, and William Langevin.

RIFLE TEAM

For the third time in the last five years, Washington's rifle team walked off with top honors in national collegiate competition. The Huskies also recaptured the William Randolph Hearst trophy, wresting the award from 538 teams throughout the nation.

Members of the championship squad were Art LeBeau, Victor Koozin, Ward Lynn, Ray Striker, and Tony Lloyd. Koozin scored 198 points out of a possible 200 for the highest mark of any senior competitor in the national meet.

Other members of Capt. George Daughtry's squad of marksmen included Joe Miles, Frank Lovegren, Howard Garvin, Glen Butterfield and Clinton Haring.

GOLF

Although they drove and putted their way to the 1935 dual meet title of the Northwest, University of Washington golfers bowed to Oregon in the Northwest conference meet at Eugene. Huskies who made the Eugene invasion were Paul Murphy, Sherman Elworthy, Buzz Hansen, and Bill Richards.

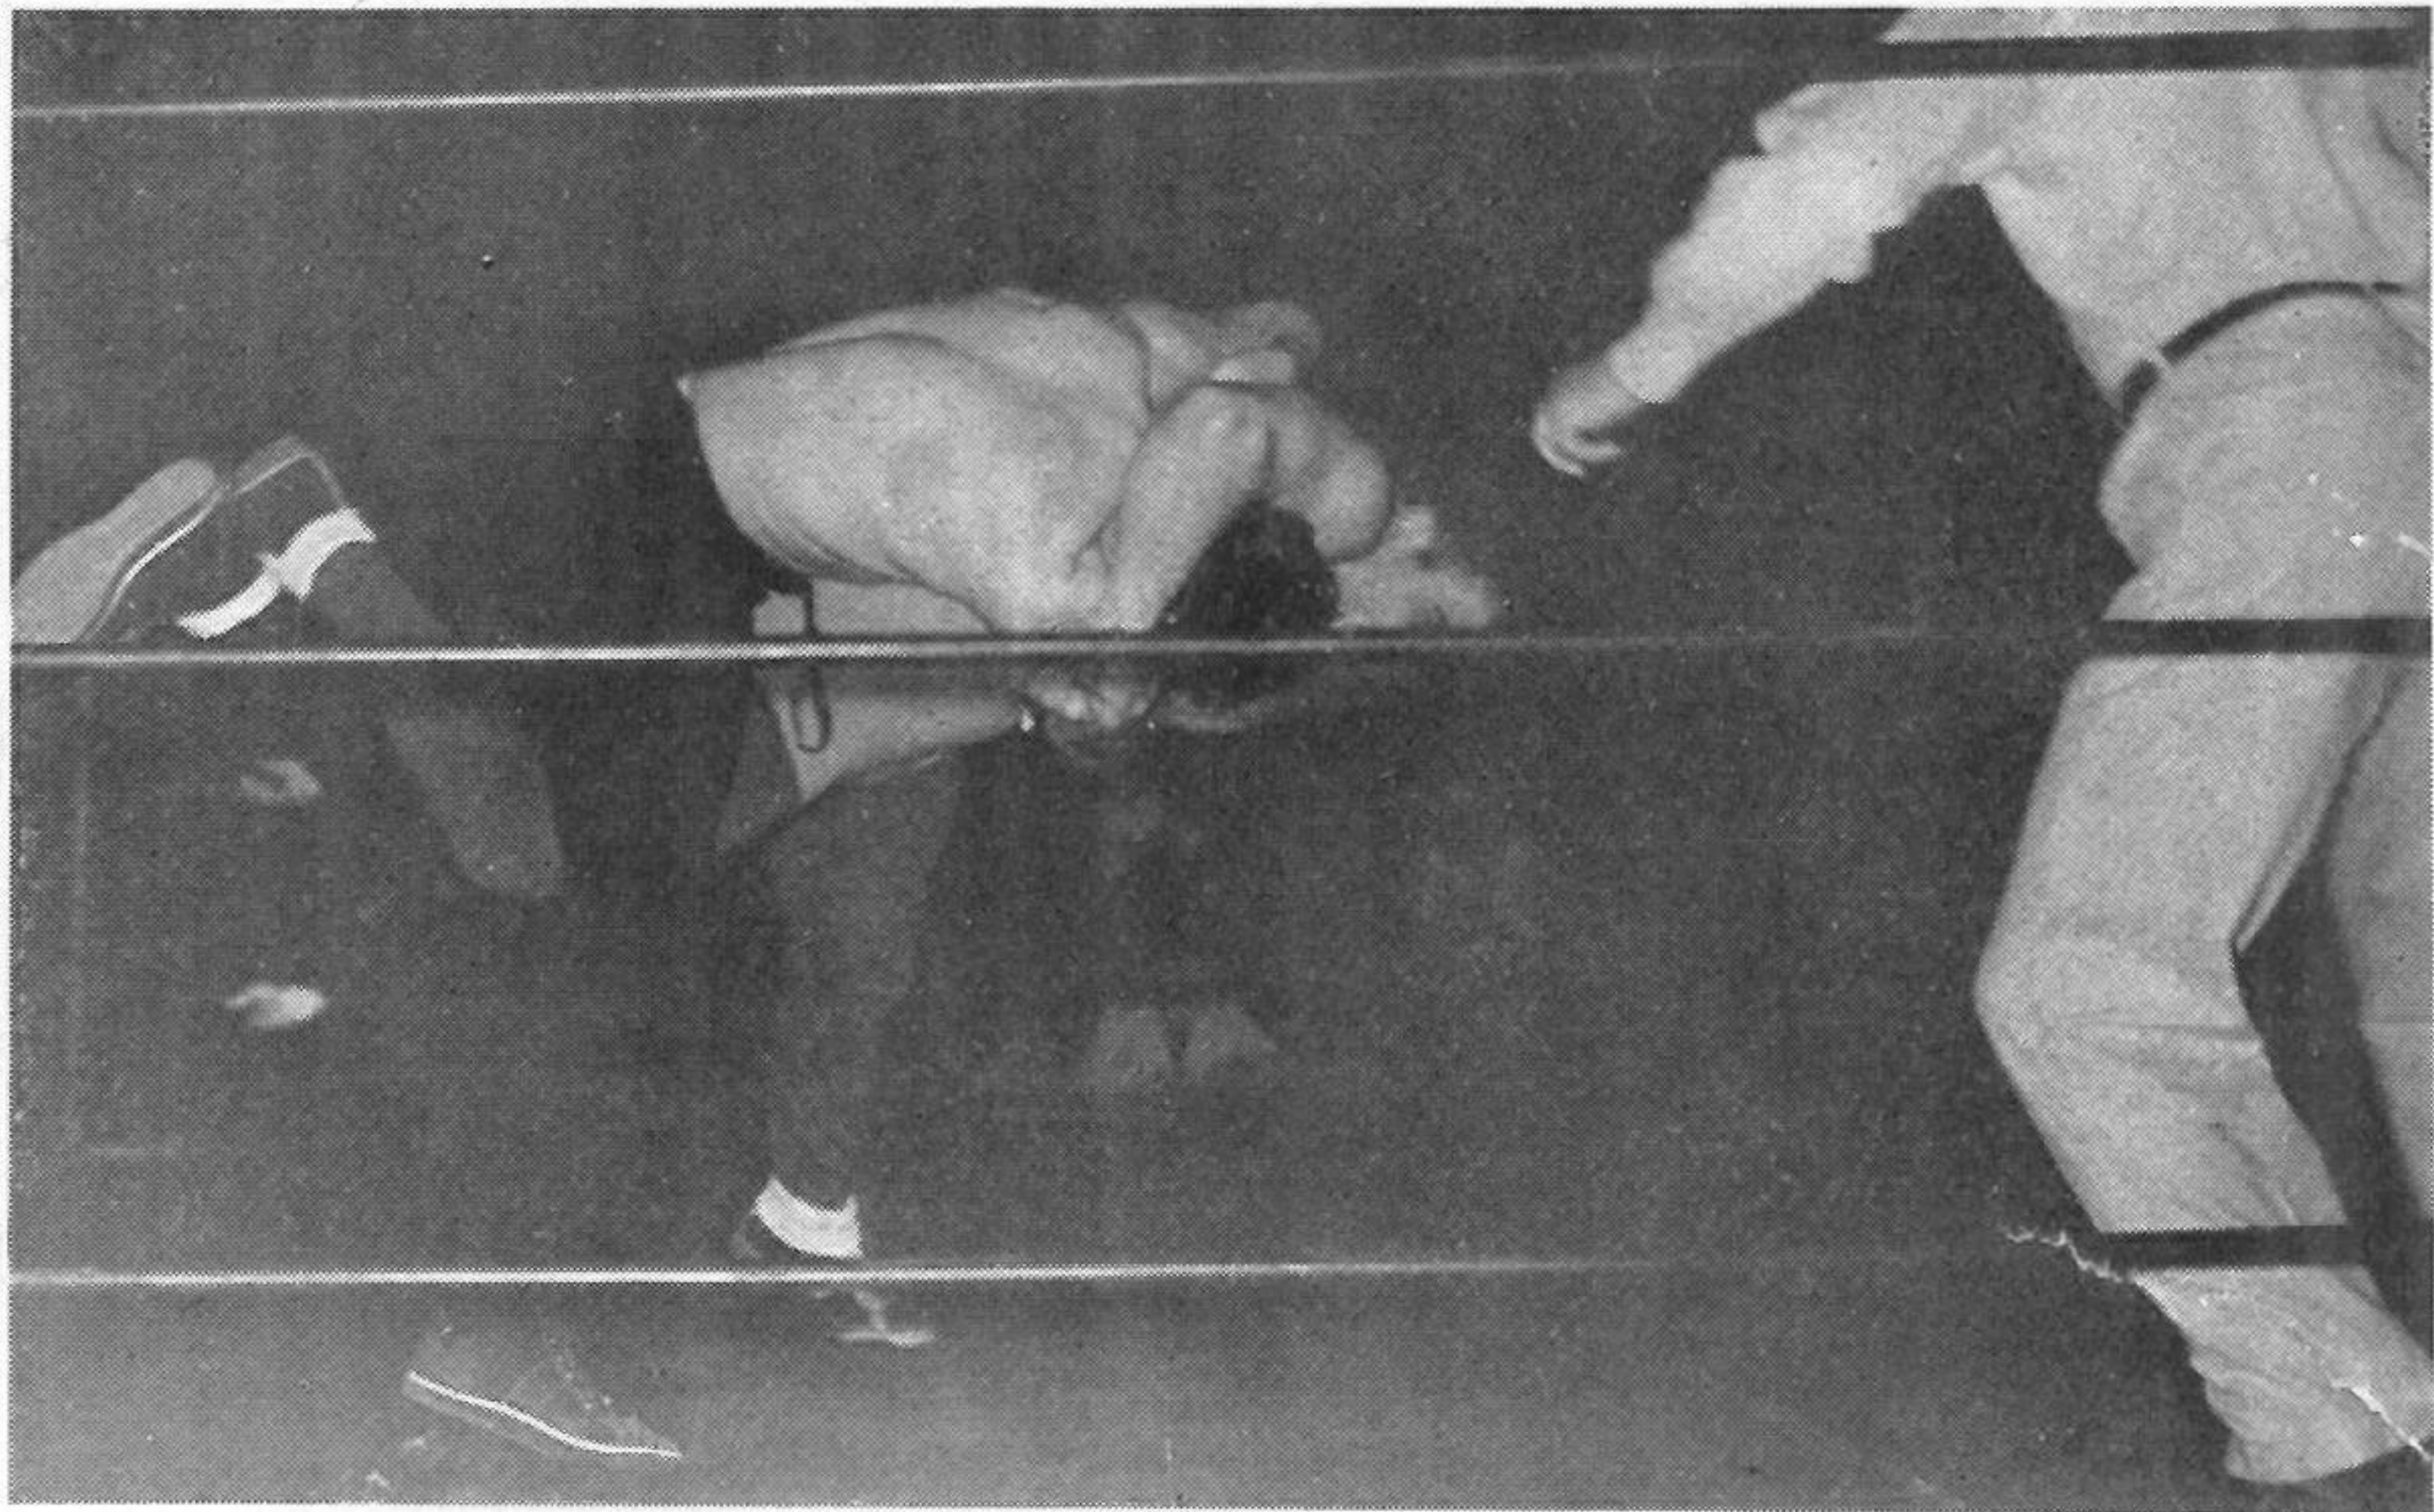

In dual meets, Washington was unbeaten in eight intercollegiate matches although tied once and beaten once by Seattle city clubs.

WRESTLING

University of Washington wrestlers showed championship form this year by defeating two opponents in convincing style.

Coach Len Steven's grapplers were Sammy Hokari, 121 pounds; George Terada, 126 pounds; Tom Koeneman, 138 pounds; Jack Langdon, 149 pounds; Chuck Allen, 161 pounds; Louis Dewey, 179 pounds; Stan Rich, 194 pounds, and Art Means, unlimited.

FENCING

Led by Captain Jack Dawley, Washington fencers, coached by Coach Augie Aurenheimer, swamped Reed College 8 to 1 in the opening match of the 1935 season. The season as a whole was uneventful. Bill Greenwood established himself as an Olympic Games contender by sweeping all three divisions in the Northwest Open Fencing tourney and copping the Putnam trophy for University fencers for the third consecutive year.

Fencing letter winners were: Captain Jack Dawley, Seth Richards, Bill Greenwood, and Fred Velikanje.

SKIING

Sweeping a majority of first places, Husky skiers won the 1936 Pacific Coast Intercollegiate Ski championship. Five Washington ski aces, including Bob Lamson, Fred Thieme, John Woodward, Bob Higman, and Mart Chamberlain, made the trip to Yosemite National Park.

The University of Washington copped 353.38 for first place, followed by the University of California, with Nevada and Reed College training closely.

In dual meets, the Huskies swamped Reed College 200 to 142 at Mt. Rainier, and the University of British Columbia 200 to 152 at Mt. Baker. Other members of the Washington 10-man squad were Max Krom, Bob Hill, Jack Doctor, Bill Millington, and Vauney Robinson.

CROSS COUNTRY

Besides winning dual meets, the University of Washington's cross country team won the championship trophy at this year's meet between the University of Oregon, University of Idaho, Portland University, and Reed College.

Dave Maginnis, Sandy McLaren, Bill Maggleson, Jim Angle, Vic Palmason, and Everett Wolford made up the team and Hec Edmondson and Walt Lunsford were coaches.

ICE HOCKEY

Ending their first year of intercollegiate hockey, the University of Washington puckmen won two games, tied one and lost two.

Coach Don Mackenzie's skaters started out the year with a brilliant 8 to 3 win against the University of British Columbia and closed the season with a 4 to 3 victory over the same college.

For the first time in Washington hockey history the local ice was invaded by the University of Southern California. In the three-game series played with the Trojans, the Huskies tied one game, 4 to 4, and lost two, 5 to 3 and 6 to 4.

Husky hockeymen were Harold Smith, John Carter, Roy Holland, Jack Litsey, Herb Gove, Jim Panton, Doug Mavor, Ed Gault, Joe Denne, Bill Haas, Paul Vaschenko, Bill Houston, and Mickey Reid, goalie.

FOOTBALL

By a single touchdown, Sigma Nu won the intramural football championship when they defeated Sigma Pi. Phi Kappa Sigma placed third and Tillicums, fourth. Playing for the Sigma Nus were Ted Foley, Dan English, Jim Neander, Art Means, John Hounsell, Jerry Lurderman, Bob Milligan, Cavi Hossman, Chan Thomas, Lee Jacobi, and Rollin Neibauer.

GOLF

The Delta Kappa Epsilon golf team of Joe Rawlins and Archie Taft won the intramural golf championship for the Dekes by defeating Paul Risener and Bob Butterfield, Phi Kappa Sigma. Theta Chi and Zeta Psi tied for third place.

TRACK

Taking three firsts, Phi Gamma Delta ran off with the intramural track crown. Outstanding for the winners was Pete Dix who won both the shot put and the 80-yard high hurdles and ran anchor on the relay team. Members of the Fiji team were Pete Dix, Rhodes Moller, Kermit Wasmuth, and Roger Evans.

TENNIS

Intramural tennis honors were divided by Alpha Delta Phi and Tau Kappa Epsilon. Larry Carr and Bill Hussey played for the Alpha Deltas and Ed Nelson and Winston Goss for the Tekes.

WRESTLING

The Dark Horses captured the intramural wrestling crown closely pressed by Phi Delta Theta. Individual honors were won by the following groan and grunters: Mark Mayfield, 115 pounds; Kawahara Hitoshi, 125 pounds; Tom Koeneman, 135 pounds; Pat Johnson, 145 pounds; Paul Sceva, 155 pounds; Charles Allen, 165 pounds; Charles Arwood, 175 pounds; Douglas Drager, unlimited.

BASKETBALL

Led by Roy Williamson and Cliff Brady, the Shooting Stars won the all-University basketball championship from a field of fifty competing teams. Beta Theta Pi and Kappa Sigma were runners-up. Players making the all-star team which was picked by the Daily and the Intramural department were Harry Lockhart and Cliff Brady, forwards; George Ziegenfuss and Roy Williamson, guards, and Dick Voelker, center.

BASEBALL

Slamming out a 5 to 4 victory over the strong Chi Psi nine, Alpha Sigma Phi captured the intramural baseball pennant. Making up the Alpha Sig team were: Barney Bakken, Babe Brooks, Howard Klieneder, Greg Gilkey, Bob Walters, Ted Clarke, Ralph Merklin, Hyland King, and Bob Kizer.

SWIMMING

Setting new records in all six events, the Dark Horses easily won the swimming title. George Personette, Al DuBois, Gene Caddey, Don Johnson, and Franz Hoskins swam for the winners. Runners-up were the Fijis and the Chi Psis.

VOLLEYBALL

Beta Theta Pi volleyballers won the intramural championship by beating S. C. A. 3. Finish Club and the Filipino Club were runners-up. Bud McIntosh, Jim Greely, Bill Shannon, Bob Cole, John Beatty, Clarion Haney, and Dick Warren volleyed for the champs.

SOCCKER

Soccer was introduced into the intramural program for the first time this year. Compass and Chart kicked their way to the championship followed by the Finish Club, Alpha Tau Omega, and Sigma Nu.

FENCING

Fencing was won by Alpha Delta Phi with Jim Greenwood and Boyd Huff out-foiling Harvey Wiltamuth and Jack Denton of the S. A. E.

FOUL SHOOTING

One hundred and thirty men competed in the 1935 intramural foul-shooting contest. Shooting 191 shots out of a possible 250, the Zeta Beta Taus tied the record made by the Betas in 1934.

HORSESHOES

Independents dominated the finals of the spring horseshoe tournament. Ring-tossers of Compass and Chart carried off first honors with Wesley Club second, and the Filipino Club third.

CROSS COUNTRY

Cross country was the opening event of the 1935 intramural calendar. For the third successive time the Finish Club won the championship. Tillicums and Delta Upsilon placed second and third respectively.

GARHART TROPHY

The Garhart Trophy, given to the fraternity massing the greatest number of points in intramural competition, was awarded to Alpha Sigma Phi. Phi Gamma Delta closely pressed the Alpha Sigs for the cup followed by Sigma Nu, Compass and Chart and Beta Theta Pi.

PING-PONG

The intramural ping-pong championship was won by Chi Psi when they took three straight games from Wesley Club in the finals. Bill Crapo, Jack Ryan, and Bob Newport paddled for the winners.

BELSHAW

Through the efforts of "Bill" Belshaw, the University of Washington has assumed an intramural sports program that gives 3,000 men a chance to indulge in athletics during their college life.

National senior women's honorary founded in 1918 at Swarthmore College. Tolo chapter chartered in 1925. Its purpose is to further service, scholarship, and leadership on university campi throughout the United States.

Fourteen coeds from organized houses were chosen to model at Mortar Board's annual fashion show held this year at the Wilsonian on October 25. Janet Riggs directed the event.

Tolo, annually sponsored by Mortar Board, was held on January 24 at the Olympic Hotel. Two orchestras, those of Dick Jurgens and Jules Buffano, helped the dance make the highest profit in its history.

Proceeds from both the fashion show and Tolo were turned into the women students' revolving loan fund, controlled by the dean of women.

BACHELORS' CLUB

The Bachelors' Club was founded at the University of Washington in 1934 to promote interfraternity friendship and good fellowship, and to be used as a medium of cooperation between fraternities and the administration. Members are chosen from upperclassmen active in national fraternities at Washington on a basis of character, interest, and campus achievement.

This year, through correspondence with other colleges, the Bachelors did much to aid in the revision of rushing rules. Their program also included ushering at the President's receptions.

Alpha Chis still hold to the tradition that they are the "kind of girls men marry" with thirteen sweet-heart pins in the house.

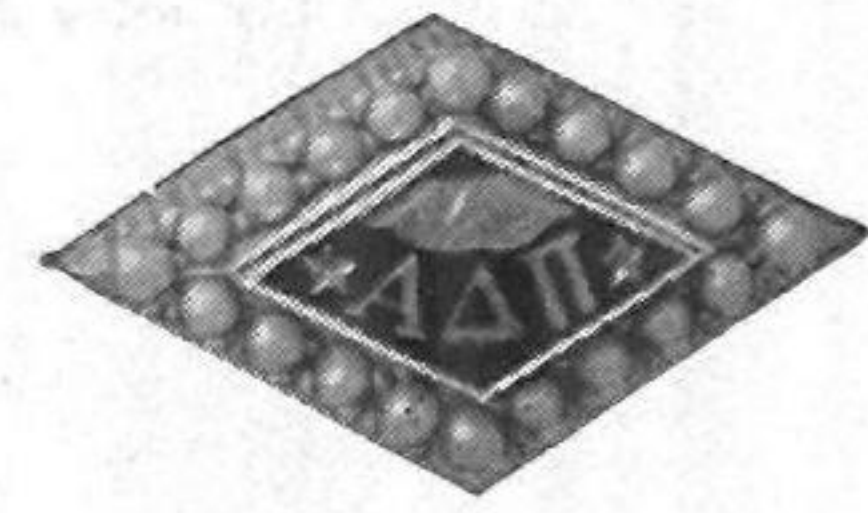

Chief Smearer of the Slimy Salve upon Defeated Candidates is Dorothy Sutherland. Busy Alpha Chis are Mira Moll, assistant chairman of Junior Prom; Marylu Podas, high Columns sales girl for the house; Millicent Doncaster, AWS Executive Council; Doris McIlroy, Daily feature writer and member of Theta Sigma Phi; and Virginia Fett, Daily office manager.

The heart interests of the A. D. Pis are as diversified as their campus activities. Although they "Like a guy what takes his time," the women in the white brick house set a busy pace on the campus in their many lines of endeavor. Marjorie Hess, of Totem Club; Marian Foster, Junior class secretary and fiction writer for "Town Crier"; Betty Strehlau, assistant copy editor of Daily and campus sales manager of Columns; Peggy Stiley, Junior rep on the Board of Control; and Tillie Ann Hallock of Orchesis, who is a Sig Ep sweetheart, are A. D. Pis who have won fame for their accomplishments.

The Alpha Gams are still trying to explain that the rattletap Ford parked in front of their house really belongs to a Deke. Mary Bannick, campus politician, is fast becoming Committeewoman No. 1. Aileen Willis, past Panhellenic president, Frances Boyer and Betty Bendix of Totem Club, and Barbara McHardie, secretary of the Frosh class, are setting the pace in activities.

The cream-colored house with the big front yard has not produced any croquet majors because the nasty old balls always roll down the terrace, but they have distinguished themselves along other lines. Brown-eyed Celia Scofield was chairman of the University Horse Show; talented Doris Berry is a pianist composer; and Dian Manzer stays up nights in her job as Panhellenic scholarship chairman.

Out of the biggest pledge class in years, Harriet Adair (By Haines' gal) and Jackie Kalushe stepped up with jobs of treasurer of the Frosh class, and YWCA Freshman council president. The Alpha Phi trio of Bunny Stokes, Evelyn Thurston and Betty Steiner is still the most popular one on the campus. Bernice Nolting, Standards chairman, finally won her crusade for women's nights out.

As they say at the colonial house on 45th, "Let's go out and look at the fishpond!" Gals wearing the golden anchor who have distinguished themselves by their many friends are Helen Nichols, voted the most outstanding junior girl in "W" Key last year, and "Sitch" Calkins, AWS Executive Chairman, both Mortar Board members. Other prominent Delta Gammas are Vivian Fosse of Totem Club; Claire Wernecke, welcomed back from Berkeley; Alice Ogden and Jean Wingate, "W" Key members; Bea Wade, society editor of the Daily; and Patsy Jackson, vice-president of the frosh class. Tiny Gracie Dolan is better known as "Sugar" Cain's honey.

Gamma Phi won the unusual honor of having three Mortar Board members in one house through the achievements of Ann Hutchinson, AWS prexy; Lee Nicholson, Tyee editor; and Janet Riggs, last year's Junior Queen. Gamma Phis are also proud of Pat Strickler, who hails from Manila and is Senior class secretary; rosy-cheeked Virginia Kellogg, "W" Key member; and Phyllis Klinker, without whom no dance committee would be complete.

Since the Kappas have come to a parting of the ways with their past love, the Psi Us, they have begun to revive their old affiliations as the "Sweethearts of Sigma Chi."

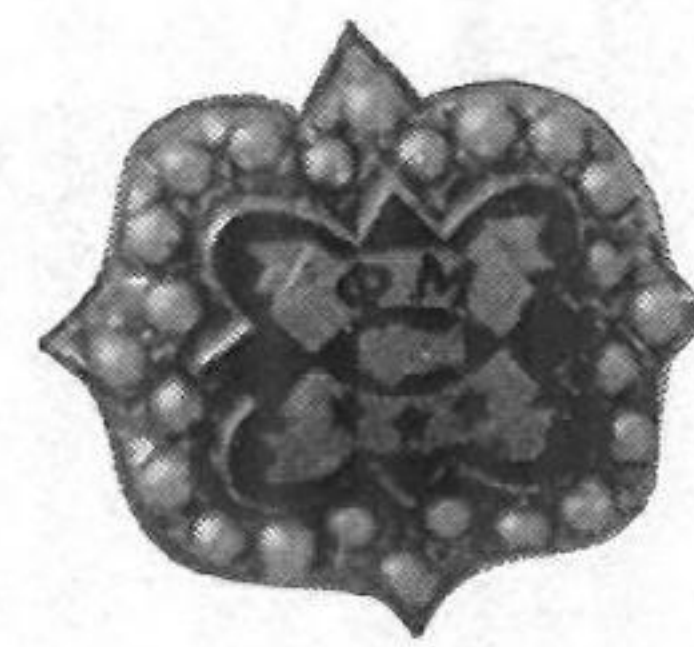

Wearers of the key who have popularized themselves by their activities are dainty Valerie Ellis, whose acting ability attracted the attention of Hollywood; Peggy Brownell, president of last year's Junior Class, member of Mortar Board, and YWCA president; and Mary Scammell, AWS secretary.

The "Rhythmettes" as Marjorie Johnson, Gail Busby and Jane Ryan call themselves, form the Zeta Tau Alpha trio which lulls the sisters to sleep every night on the sleeping porch. Freshmen in the house have been making a good start in campus activities, as Mildred Aamodt is in the Daily business office; Mary Jo Gemmer and Gertrude Stenslid, who migrated from the frozen north of St. Petersburg, Alaska, are both Phalanx members; and Dorothy Miles is in YWCA.

"Let's spend an evening at home" is the theme song of the Alpha Deltas, who have even formed a Bachelors' Club so the women will know they prefer a good book and pipe to a heavy date. But sitting in on week-end nights didn't win Hank Greeley his many friends, or his jobs as Oval Club secretary, Senior football manager, a student director of the bookstore and house president. Alpha Delt's other rushee-impressers are Walter Bates, crew captain; Ken Killien, two-year track letterman; Bob Deering, Big "W" in tennis; Dick Lawrence, member of the national journalism honorary; and John Killien, sophomore coxwain.

Alpha Sigs' prize athlete is Big Ed Loverich, whose mighty hulk was a great comfort to "Hec" Edmundson on the maple court. Rusty McCollum, tap artist of the Varsity Ball, is the life of the party at exchange dinners with his Fred Astaire style of dancing. Allan Blair won fame when his composition "Dancing at the Varsity Ball" was chosen as theme song for the All-U formal. The opening of the baseball season saw Roger Dawes, catcher; Len Rich, second base; and Ed Loverich, center fielder, warming up for the series.

The men behind the red brick wall were amazed fall quarter when By Haines forgot football long enough to develop a serious heart interest with a freshman in the Alpha Phi house. Fred Gadke and Walt Rohrscheib, football lettermen, also played for the honor of A. T. O. Don Hoisington finally settled down, after four years in school, to being graduate representative on the Board of Control.

"On to Poughkeepsie" is the Beta battle-cry with seven crew lettermen in the house. Led by Bob Hawes, the men in the vine-covered mansion are still the twinkletoes of the campus.

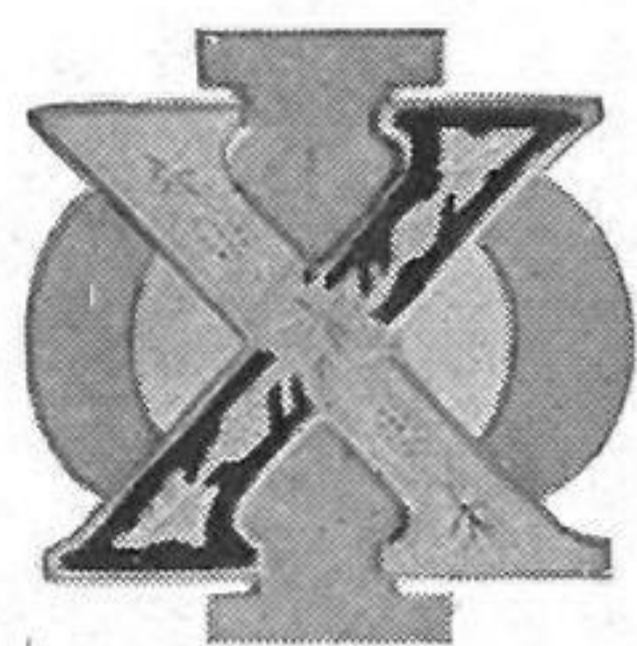

Track man Art Morgan's specialty (besides slaying the women) is carving clever wooden dance programs. With two good orchestras in the house, Ed Hunt's and Watson Smith's, the Betas draw straws to see which one plays for house dances.

Chi Phis are versatile in a dizzying number of ways, ranging from athletics to scholarship. Homer Tipton can play halfback, fullback, quarterback or wayback; and star study man, Phil Magnusson, . . . twice winner of the President's medal, has maintained a straight A average and in his junior year is a member of Tau Beta Pi, Sigma Xi, and Zeta Mu Tau. Other industrious Chi Phis are Bud Lunn, busy rally chairman, Bobby Walker, half pint forward who scored 37 points on the champion frosh football team, and Henry Hallgrimson, super- varsity guard.

Tucked away in the corner of fraternity row, the Chi Psis have earned the reputation of being girl-shy, but it is said that they have their moments. The "lawdige" boys star when it comes to football with Jimmy Cain and the Bonds, Chuck and Rink, earning a national reputation on the gridiron. Chuck is known for his interest in fairy tales (namely, Cinderella). The house politician is Jack "Schnozz" Knappenberger, ASUW vice-president. The shining light of the pledge class is Gene Brown, who walked away with the junior football managership.

After breaking down the Alpha Delt's front door in a free-for-all scrap fall quarter, the Phi Delt's wiped their grudge slate clean.

Bill Milne, house clown and playboy, has a passion for crooning into mikes. The mighty fame of such athletes as Jack Medica, Dutch Schoch, Bruce Humber and Willie Hewson has been known to send many a rushee into a spin.

Bob Alexander made Yell King history when he gave femininity a break at football cheering with their purple and gold cuffs, pom poms and gold rain-jackets for the yell leaders.

Phi Psi playboys Bill Harvey and Stan Taylor have dedicated themselves to showing lettermen George Grey, tennis; Lewis Parker, baseball; and Merle Miller, football and track, their way around town.

Men in the 17th Avenue house are kept awake by the round-the-world static of varsity high-jump man Bill Vandermay's short wave radio station. Two Bobs, Edwards and White, bend their talents in the same direction. Both belong to Oval Club and are Husky crew men; White was '35 crew captain and Edwards '36 senior crew manager. Wade Sheehan denies the rumor that he is not a Sigma Chi, although he is seen constantly at the Kappa House.

Bob Egge and Chuck Wagner, Hec Edmundson's stars, wake up with the sound of a referee's whistle in their ears. Wink Brooks, Pigott medal winner, is a member of Oval Club, along with Les Hollenbeck, lightweight crew captain.

It is said that Ariel Edmiston, two-miler, perfected his style running up the back stairs of the Sigma Chi house. Zeph Lane, frosh prexy, has been fluttering many a feminine heart.

Sig Eps brag about a "nuggett" pledge class which includes seven former high school student body presidents. No. 1 Dance Director of the campus is Del Muller who climaxed his career with the Varsity Ball chairmanship. Pal Rosenberg's lanky frame carried him to his fourth tennis title and a position on the varsity basketball team. The Botzers, Bill and Al, go in for discs and dials as Bill announces for KOMO and Al exercises his tonsils at the campus station. Classic-featured Van Hillman took his eyes off his frosh heart throb long enough to win an intramural boxing crown.

Tekes favorite pastime is playing tricks on the Alpha Gams but Clair Van Donaldson has a special reason for his interest. Although he is a reputed knot expert, the Alpha Gam house president has taught him the ropes. Half the house hails from Grays Harbor and the other half spends its summer vacation working in Alaska. Latest Phi Bete is Kenneth Leach but Bill Bevis is running him a close second with his straight "A" record.

Lewis and Clark Hall cooperate to form a distinctive unit. Great interest in sports and music is shown in that Arloah Dreisbach and Barbara Fassett are both in the university choir, and many other members engage in intramural athletics. Swimming and tennis are popular sports because the halls are so close to the gym. Mary Ann Wickersham, one of the prominent members, is social chairman for Lewis and Clark association.

Prominent in all fields of activity are members of Beta and Kappa of Phrateres. Yvonne Pendergrast, Kappa, is prominent in AWS and worked on the guest nights, as did Eileen Williams. Bessie Kosher was on committees for the Junior Prom, Engineers' Informal, and elections. Sylvia Weinstein, also a Kappa, is a member of Pi Mu Epsilon, mathematics honorary. Helen Hayden, associate member of Beta, was president of Phrateres last year and is a member of Mortar Board and Totem Club.

The Indefinables of True Education

To knowledge of the Classics, the Arts, the Sciences and the Economics, we believe that most Washington Graduates are endowed with that indefinable knowledge of "what's what" so valuable to social progress. We delight, in this purely Washington organization, in creating styles bearing the "Marjone" label that appeal to smart moderns of true discrimination.

MORE PEOPLE SERVE
WONDER BREAD
THAN ANY OTHER

It has the extra energy that every child and every grown-up needs

Remember this—the Wonder Bakers spend more money for extra fine ingredients than any other bakers and Wonder Bread is the most popular bread in the whole history of bread making. Only ONE bread can be BEST. You have it when you have Wonder Bread. Laboratory tests and popular demand prove this day after day.

★ Your TYEE

AMONG THE FINER THINGS OF LIFE . . .

Teeming with school spirit and tradition . . . pictures so perfect they seem alive . . . set in unusual artistic arrangements of borders, type and theme. Old friends, good times, a library of memories in fine book form . . . that is what Western offers every yearbook staff . . . perfect engravings of course . . . and what is even more important . . . the extremely helpful advice and suggestions of college people who have published annuals themselves, who know in advance what the very newest ideas and designs will be. Why not have this wonderful service for your annual each year. Many school leaders insist on Western engravings . . . available for over thirty years.

★CRESCENT BAKING POWDER

★Two-Unit Leavener

YOUNG MODERNS and experienced matrons prefer
"Crescent" because doughs and batters may be mixed any time to bake at once or hours later. One unit awaits oven heat—a fine raise is certain.

Schools of Dentistry and Pharmacy

DENTISTRY:

A four-year course of instruction leading to the degree of Doctor of Dental Medicine (D. M. D.) is offered students who present not less than one year of liberal arts credits including not less than one year in each of the following subjects: General Chemistry, Biology, English and one-half year in Organic Chemistry. The regular pre-medical course is recommended. Beginning 1937, requirements for admission will be advanced to two years of liberal arts credit.

PHARMACY:

The course of training is four years, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science (B. S.) in Pharmacy. Students who present liberal arts credits in Chemistry, Physics, Biology and English may receive advanced standing.

DENTAL and MEDICAL ASSISTANTS and HYGIENISTS:

The training covers one and two year courses.

Style

begins with an idea!

The idea behind all apparel styles for University men is just this . . . be sure they're keyed to the campus tempo. Washington men learned long ago that Martin & Eckmann have the right idea—and that every student may depend on this store for right style in everything he wears!
